Security Council Moves To Avert Middle East War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—At the urgent request of the Western Big Three powers the United Nations Security Council is meeting Monday morning in an effort to stop bloodshed on the Israel-Jordan frontier.

The United States, Britain and France made their demand for the emergency meeting late today.

William Borber, Danish president of the Council for October, immediately set the meeting for 10:30 a.m. Monday.

The move came as Arab countries built up frontier military strength, called for Arab League war council and other top-level meetings, and shoot-on-sight orders were issued by Jordan.

Representatives of the Western Big Three drafted identical letters at a meeting in the British delegation offices in New York this afternoon.

They called for the Council to consider "the matter of tension between Israel and neighboring Arab states, with particular reference to recent acts of violence and to compliance with, and enforcement of, the general armistice agreements."

They said the meeting was necessary to prevent threats to security in the area and proposed that the Council call on Gen. Vagn Bennike, Danish head of the U.N. truce observation commission, to fly here and make a personal report to the Council on the situation.

The move was taken after agreement on the step by the Western Big Three foreign ministers meeting in London.

The British had already called in the Israeli ambassador in London and rebuked Israel in an expression of "horror" for attacks on three Jordan villages which Jordan officials said had resulted in 66 killed and nine wounded at the village of Kibya.

McCarthy To Cite Witness For Contempt

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—A contempt citation will be sought against a witness who reportedly cried "There but for the grace of God go I" when he learned Julius Rosenberg was to be executed, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), said today.

McCarthy said his Senate permanent investigations subcommittee would move against the unidentified witness because he refused to say if he knew Rosenberg, the atom spy, or if he had been a member of an alleged Rosenberg spy ring at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

The Senate group held another closed hearing today on Red activities in the sensitive Signal Corps installation.

Before it adjourned until next Thursday Robert L. Jones, administrative assistant to Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich), a subcommittee member, said:

"As a result of testimony . . . it is highly indicative that the Rosenberg spy ring may still be operating a conspiracy transmitting vital radar and electronics secrets to the Soviet Union, because the perjured testimony given us in so many instances certainly in my opinion is a flat admission of guilt . . . .

"The evidence brought out here should have been brought out 10 years ago. I feel it is just another shining example of the terrible negligence in security matters, typifying the Truman administration."

At the same time, Harold Rainville, administrative assistant to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill), another subcommittee member, released a statement which said in part:

"Without confirmation of actual

Sparks Slates Public Hearing On Road Needs

The second statewide public hearing on highway needs will be held in Alexandria on Nov. 20 under the sponsorship of the highway committee of the legislative council, State Sen. James D. Sparks, committee chairman has announced.

Sparks said the objective of the hearing, like the first which was held in New Orleans last month, is to obtain a cross section of opinions and recommendations from interested individuals and groups on what is needed to provide Louisiana with an adequate system of highways and streets in the cities, parishes and state.

The legislative council's highway committee is supervising a comprehensive survey conducted by the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, D. C. to determine what is needed to bring the state, parish and municipal roads up to modern day standards in view of the tremendous increase in population and motor vehicles. At the same time another survey is being conducted by the L. S. U. College of Commerce which will provide recommendations on how to finance the overall state program. The surveys are expected to be completed late in 1954.

The state department of highways and U. S. bureau of public roads are cooperating with the legislative council in financing the non profit surveys.

Sparks said that at the Alexandria meeting particular emphasis will be placed on the highway problem relating to the parishes and small towns.

Invitations have been extended to numerous statewide and regional highway users organizations and allied groups, and any other interested individual or group is in-

CSC Expansion Program Unfolds

More than 70,000 additional tons of nitrogen - bearing ammonia and 15 million additional gallons of methanol p.. year will begin to flow tomorrow to American agriculture and industry from the new Sterlington, La., facilities of Commercial Solvents Corporation.

U. S. Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, who recently returned from a worldwide trip for the Senate Approriations Committee, and J. Albert Woods, president of Commercial Solvents, will be the principal speakers at ceremonies marking the opening of these units.

The new CSC facilities, costing in excess of $20 million, are additions to the company's existing ammonia and methanol plants. They will double CSC's production of these two basic chemicals.

In an interview last night Woods stated that the new ammonia plant is the first of the chemical industry's privately financed post-war nitrogen expansion programs to be completed and in production. These facilities, he said, will aid materially in helping to reach the national goal of a 70 per cent increase in nitrogen production by 1956.

The addition of these new facilities at Sterlington, makes Commercial Solvents one of the world's largest producers of methanol, with an annual output of 30 million gallons. The new production will be formulated by industry into a wide variety of end uses, such as automotive anti - freeze, resins, waxes, pharmaceuticals, dyestuffs, and chemical intermediates. It will also be used in the production of formaldehyde and pentaerythritol to meet the needs of the growing plastics and plywood adhesive industries, Woods said.

Nitrogen products will be sold primarily in the southeastern states from Texas to the Atlantic seaboard. Methanol will be distributed nationally.

250,000 Greet Ike In New Orleans

City In Best Holiday Mood; Gayety Reigns

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17—UP—Fun-loving New Orleans celebrated an out-of-season Mardi Gras Saturday, roaring a brief welcome and farewell to the first President to visit here since the early 1930s.

Then the thousands of sweltering visitors swarmed into the old French Quarter for a night of pageantry and fun.

Some of the celebrants started a little early on this last day of the Louisiana Purchase 150th anniversary.

Two good friends in a French Quarter tavern couldn't settle a lengthy dispute over the former owners of the Louisiana Territory.

MISSION, Tex., Oct. 17—UP—President Eisenhower and 20 guests dined with Gov. and Mrs. Allan Shivers on a "Texas meal" of blackeyed peas and barbecued steak Saturday night.

The dinner was held in Sharyland, the Shivers' sumptuous, 23-room mansion two miles east of Mission. The President will be the Shivers' housé guest until Monday morning, when he leaves to dedicate Falcon Dam.

The President, flashing his famous grin and giving his characteristic two-handed wave, greeted 100,000 people in his journey from Harlingen Air Force Base through nine towns to Sharyland.

Tired of the argument, one called police:

"Man down here gonna assassinate the President," he whispered into the telephone.

Harried police, already working extra shifts, took the two to jail. Both missed the parade and the first visit to New Orleans by a President since the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was here during the depression.

Night clubs and bars opened early and prepared for "the big swingout" as thirsty thousands of entertainment-hungry visitors stopped between acts of the gigantic pageant unfolding here.

It was also a day of great importance for the French descendants of early pioneers in this historic area.

French ambassador Henri Bonnet was almost mobbed by a huge crowd of happy, cheering people shouting greetings to him in his native tongue.

2 Brothers Killed In Auto Wreck

JONESBORO, Oct. 17 (Special)—Funeral services for two brothers who were fatally injured in an auto accident near Columbia Friday morning, have been scheduled for 2 p.m., Sunday at the United Pentecostal church in Jonesboro.

They are Felton Butler, 23, who died around 4 a. m. Saturday in a Columbia clinic, about 24 hours after his brother Garland Butler, 20, had died of accident injuries received when the automobile in which the two were riding failed to make a curve, left the highway and rolled over.

Rev. Aaron, pastor of the Pentecostal Church will officiate at services, and burial will be in Transport Cemetery at Dodson. Southern Funeral Home of Jonesboro is in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include the father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. N. Butler of Jonesboro; one brother, Elzie Butler, who is stationed with the armed forces in Germany; six sisters, Mrs. Bill Weeks, Jonesboro; Mrs.Ozie Len Morgan, Ringgold, La.; Mrs. Alvine Carroll, and Mrs. Lela Mae Craton, Pickfall, La.; Mrs. Etoile Franklin, Columbia; Miss Jessie Lee Butler, Jonesboro, and several nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers will be members of a national guard unit, which will also conduct graveside military rites.

Hear Talk On Importance Of Foreign Trade

President Leads Giant Parade On Canal Street

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17—UP— President Eisenhower told a mammoth "Mardi Gras" throng Saturday that foreign trade such as flows both ways through this festive port is vital to keep the economy healthy throughout the Western world.

Such trade sustains the United States' friends abroad, the President said. And if those friends ever become hostile, he warned, they will shut off vital exports and place "the American production line at the mercy of those who hope for our destruction."

Mr. Eisenhower flew here from Kansas City, detouring in his Midwest and Southwest tour, to make his first deep South speech since his election. And seldom has a traveling President found a bigger or more colorful reception. He arrived at the height of the 150th anniversary of the Louisiana purchase.

Police estimated the crowd in historic Jackson Square where the President spoke at 250,000. Some women and a few blue-uniformed cadets fainted in the 84-degree summery heat.

Mr. Eisenhower played a prominent role in the pageantry. He led an unprecedented off-season Mardi-Gras parade down broad Canal Street and into the square in the heart of the French Quarter.

With French Ambassador Henri Bonnet, Mr. Eisenhower re-enacted the signing of the Louisiana purchase papers giving the young Unit-

Union Charges Contractor In Contract Breach

A suit asking $95,161.60 in damages has been filed against a West Monroe plumbing contractor by plumbers Local 659 (AFL).

The plumbers, represented by the law firm Jones and Blackwell, charge that Kenneth Aswell, the contractor, violated an agreement with the union whereby he agreed to hire union plumbers.

The suit was filed late Friday. The union, in addition to asking damages, petitioned the court to issue an injunction prohibiting Aswell from continuing operation without complying to terms of the contract.

According to the plaintiff, Aswell signed a contract in July agreeing to employ union workers. The union's suit contends that he has ignored the contract.

The Aswell Plumbing Co., according to the union suit, is guilty of a contract breach.

Four Members Of Family Killed In Traffic Accident

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 17 (AP)—Four members of one family were killed and a fifth seriously injured in an automobile wreck four miles south of Oberlin today.

State trooper Cullen Goleman identified the dead as Mrs. Verlise Chapman, 34; Theresa Jean Meaux, 14, Mrs. Chapman's daughter by a former marriage; Gerline Mae Chapman, 13, and Rodney Lee Chapman, 10.

The father, Harbey Chapman, 36, was taken to a Lake Charles hospital where attendants described his condition as serious.

Capt. Jerome Hass and Glen Jarnigan, who investigated the accident, said the Chapman vehicle went out of control and smashed into a tree when it was struck by another car attempting to pass. The driver of the other car was not hurt.

Wild Disorders Attend Red Talks To Chinese POWs

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Oct. 18 (AP) — Kicks, curses, scuffling and a general uproar erupted for the third straight day Saturday when 430 anti-Communist Chinese prisoners confronted Red explainers seeking to woo them back home.

Even Allied and Communist observers were drawn into the impassioned brawling, as it swirled around one dazed and bewildered Chinese.

The prisoner underwent a three-hour quizzing by Communists in an "explanation" tent. Allied observers protestingly called it brainwashing.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, chief of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, personally intervened in the case and dramatically whisked the prisoner away in his own car for segregation.

A brief respite was promised today with no "explanations" scheduled to take place among the 22,400 Chinese and North Korean prisoners who have rejected repatriation. Before the explanations began Thursday the Repatriation Commission said sessions would not be held on Sunday unless found necessary.

Only 9 of the 430 Chinese chose Saturday to return to Communist China. That made a total of 19 returned of 950 Chinese prisoners interviewed in three days. North Korean prisoners have flatly refused to appear before Red interviewers.

Early today the Communist radio in Peiping blasted the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission for "failure to take effective measures to break down the reign of terror of agents in the POW compounds."

The broadcast, heard in Tokyo, claimed the NNRC, headed by India, "has created difficulties for itself in carrying out its responsibilities and arrangements for the explantation work."

The Reds claim South Korean and Chinese Nationalist "agents" are causing all the anti-Communist trouble among the prisoners.

Mild Weather In Weekend Outlook

Engineer Report Shows Big Ouachita Tonnage

The Ouachita River Valley Association, which is charged with the responsibility of securing sufficient increased barge commerce on the Ouachita River in order to guarantee the maintenance of the present locks and dams, has expressed its gratitude over the September report of the Army Engineers showing the tonnage which moved on the Ouachita River.

According to the engineers' preliminary report, a total of 20,777 tons of commerce moved over the total length of the Ouachita River in September, detailed as follows: Methanol, 5,225; logs, 4,500, salt cake, 518; machinery, 477; fish, 47; sand and gravel, 9,100; fuel (government) 650 and pipe, 260.

H. K. Thatcher, executive vice-president of the association states that this is the best month of shipping on the Ouachita River since the river was re-opened for through traffic in 1950. He states that if this rate of shipping can be maintained over a considerable period of time, the people will be in a position to demand the construction if the authorized modern 9-foot channel. According to Mr. Thatcher, one of the great difficulties if increasing shipping on the Ouachita at the present time is the inadequacy of the 6½ foot channel which will not permit the proper interchange of heavy loaded barges with the commercial barge lines operating on the Mississippi River

NRLB Suspends Red-Ridden Union

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—In an unprecedented action, the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) today cancelled the bargaining rights of a union local because of admittedly false statements one of its officers made to the FBI about his Communist activity.

The case involves Local 214 of the Fur and Leatherworkers Union, which was expelled from the CIO four years ago for Left Wing tendencies, and the Am-O-Krome Co., of Cincinnati, a leather tanning concern.

The union officer is Tevis Bruce Schooler, recording-financial secretary-treasurer of the local, which represented 125 Am-O-Krome employes. Schooler, the NLRB said in a statement, pleaded guilty in federal district court last spring to a charge of having made false statements to FBI agents when he disclaimed Communist ties.

Thereupon the NLRB, which up to this point had not entered the case, asked Local 214 to show cause why its certification by the board should not be withdrawn. Schooler had signed a Taft-Hartley non-Communist oath in 1950. All union officers must sign the oath

Jes' Ramblin'

We never before realized that the innocent little pigeons of the air were concerned or in any way interested in gambling paraphernalia, but in the World Saturday we read of "35 Slot Machines Seized by State Police" and in the midst of the exciting description of the raid we read, "Then he hastened to the home of the Kulckes. He stays out of the house and rides on the back of the car." The next paragraph told of a suit filed by Mayor Alton Denux of Marksville!

Of course the explanation is that the printer mixed up the gambling story and Jes' Ramblin.' Readers must not get the impression that even the birds overhead are entangled in the meshes of the law when gambling devices are concerned.

First Funeral Home To Open In West Monroe

A location has been secured for the establishment of a funeral home in Monroe, according to an announcement last night. It will be the only funeral home domiciled in West Monroe.

The Kilpatrick Funeral Home, of Farmerville, Ruston and Bernice, announced that a building has been purchased at 1502 Cypress Street and that remodeling will start Monday. The funeral home will be in full operation next month, according to Kilpatrick spokesmen.

Three partners in the Kilpatrick organization, K. D. Kilpatrick, Tex R. Kilpatrick and B. R. Patton, closed a deal yesterday for the location. Tex R. Kilpatrick will be the local manager of the funeral home, which will employ "six or eight" people.

In a statement issued here yesterday the Kilpatricks and Patton commended the "splendid cooperation and assistance" of the West Monroe Businessmen's Association in the new venture.

Kilpatrick's operation in West Monroe will bring emergency ambulance service west of the river. "In addition we will have complete funeral service," according to Tex Kilpatrick.

The site selected for the funeral is the Herchel Gentry home, at at 1502 Cypress Street. Shady Wall, West Monroe real estate man, negotiated the procurement.

An effort to promote the establishment of a funeral home in West Monroe has been underway for several years in the West Monroe Businessmen's Association. "We have been considering it for a long time, too," K. D. Kilpatrick said.

He said the Kilpatrick interests planned to promote the establishment of a hospital in West Monroe, where there is none at the present time.

In connection with the funeral operation, Kilpatrick will expand a program of funeral insurance in this area.

Italian Premier Hurls Threat In Trieste Dispute

ROME, Oct. 17—UP— Premier Giuseppe Pella announced Saturday he would resign and collapse his pro-western government if the United States and Britain fail to fulfill their promise to turn over the Allied controlled Zone A of Trieste to Italy.

Pella told the Italian Senate he had called in the British, American and French Ambassadors Thursday night and warned them he would drag down his government if they back down.

Pella said that Italy had taken precautionary measures of defense along the border near Trieste. He said Italy would reject any decision to give the other half of the free territory—Zone B— to the Yugoslavs and refuse to attend any international conference on the disputed territory until Italians controlled Zone A.

38 Bus Passengers Injured By Train

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 17 (AP) —A slowly moving railroad diesel engine struck a trolly bus crowded with homeward-bound shoppers late today, injuring more than 38 bus passengers.

The engine plowed into the bus almost directly in the center of its left side, spinning it around until it leaned against the side of the train.

W. R. Worthington, engineer of the Frisco diesel, said the northbound bus halted at the crossing and then moved into the path of the train.

Secretary Of Navy Denounces Reds

WACO, Tex., Oct. 17 — UP — Secretary of Navy Robert B. Anderson and Baylor President W. R. White were principal speakers Saturday at the university's conference on American ideals.

Anderson, whose home is Vernon, Tex., discussed the U. S. Constitution. He said it changed the concept of authority from "we the barons" to "we, the people."

Dr. White spoke at a luncheon and said "the fifth amendment was never meant to provide immunity for people guilty of sedition." He said he considered membership in the Communist Party an act of sedition.

Federal Judges Give It Status In Mississippi

GOP 'Black And Tan' Faction Wins In Court

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 17 (AP) — Mississippi's "Black and Tan" Republican faction was granted the right to register under the GOP banner as an official Republican party, a federal court ruled today.

A three-judge court granted an injunction directing Secretary of State Heber Ladner to register the faction under the name "Republican Party of Mississippi."

The Negro-dominated Black and Tans, long the Republican party in this Democratic Deep South state, were denied permission to register under the party symbol during the last presidential campaign.

A 1950 Mississippi statute, designed to permit a states rights group to register as Democrats, was interpreted by the state Supreme Court as providing that exclusive right for use of the party name belonged to the first bonafide group applying to the secretary of state for certification.

The "Lily White" group, taking advantage of the ruling, claimed the party banner by being first to register as the "Mississippi Republican party." The Lily Whites are composed mostly of white members.

Perry Howard of Jackson and Washington, Negro attorney who heads the Black and Tans, brought suit attacking the constitutionality of the statute.

The three judges, Judge Richard Rives of the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, district judge Sidney Mize of Gulfport and district Judge Daniel Thomas of Mobile, ruled the statute a violation of part of the 14th amendment.

Defendants in the suit were Ladner and several members of the Lily Whites including Mrs. Paul Gammill, J. E. Hoskins, J. A. White and George L. Sheldon.

In Washington, Howard said he had been advised the decision was a vindication for his group's position but his only comment was, "God Bless America and a fair judiciary system."

The Republican national chairman, Leonard Hall, was out of the city and there was no official comment from the national committee.

Benson Should Quit Cabinet, Says Senator

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Sen. Young (R-ND) said today that Secretary of Agriculture Benson ought to quit the Cabinet because "he has lost the confidence of the farmers."

Young, one of the authors of the present parity price support law, previously had been critical of Benson for failing to give a full measure of backing to crop price props. But recently the North Dakota Senator said he believed the secreatry was gaining ground with the farmers.

However, Young said in a telephone interview he interprets the election of a Democrat in Wisconsin's traditionally Republican 9th Congressional District as a symbol of widespread farmer discontent.

Any serious defection among the farmers would be certain to threaten Republican control of Congress in next year's elections and both parties have been watching agricultural developments closely.

"I doubt very much that Secretary Benson can regain the confidence the farmers have lost in him because of their uncertainty over his policies," Young said. "It isn't that they have any lack of respect for the secretary or challenge his integrity—it's just a difference of views."

President Eisenhower, who took Benson along on his current farm-state tour, has given no indication of dissatisfaction with the secretary.

ed States 900,000 square miles of what is now the nation's heartland at 4 cents an acre.

The President then mounted a reviewing stand to watch the rest of the ceremonies and the parade featuring the mystic carnival clubs of Rex and Comus. There, in front of the St. Louis cathedral and the aging Cabildo, the administration building of the Spaniards when they ruled the storied city, the President spoke.

Mr. Eisenhower appealed strongly to the huge import-export interests of the port and to the numerous Latin American, British and French dignitaries.

The President did not touch on the controversial civil rights and tidelands resources issues.

He praised the daring of the newborn nation in entering on the gamble of the Louisiana purchase.

However, "that daring—so typically American—has been justified in rare measure," the President said. "It has been justified to an extent which staggers the mind, to an extent which, mathematically, is almost incalculable."

He said that the original cost of the land, some $23 million is matched 30 times over by the value of a single corn crop in Iowa, a part of the purchase. During the first four months of this year, he added, more than $250 million in exports passed through New Orleans, a sum 11 times the cost of the territory.

". . . Here we see dramatically highlighted one of the critical facts on our national life—our dependence on foreign trade," Mr. Eisenhower said.

"The passage of a century and a half has decisively underscored the need of that day (of the Louisiana purchase). . . through such ports on this gulf, two oceans and the Great Lakes, come almost all the tungsten used in our tool steel—almost all of the nickel in practically all of the chromite used in stainless steel."

To insure its foreign trade this country must strengthen its friends in the world at large "not only to fortify their own economies—not only to be independent of direct financial aid from wealthier nations—but to buy from us what we must sell to the world," the President said.

"By making it possible for our friends to sell their products to us, we thus at once help them to be strong and enable them to earn the dollars by which they can, in turn, help our economy to be healthy and progressive."

Mr. Eisenhower then cited figures that more than 12 per cent of United States-produced barley, almost 50 per cent of its wheat, and almost 60 per cent of its rice is paid for in foreign markets. He said the foreign market is strong also for non-agricultural products such as refrigerators and machine tools.

before their union can be certified as a bargaining agent by the board.

The union's answer to the show-cause order, the board said, "has not shown why the board should not fine Local 214 ... was not in compliance with" the Taft-Hartley Act's oath requirement. The board unanimously ordered the certification cancelled. This means the local now has no legal bargaining rights.

It was the first time the board ever cancelled bargaining rights on the basis of false statements by a union officer to the FBI.

Schooler was convicted in the Southern District of Ohio, on an indictment charging that he lied when he told the FBI he had never been a member of the Communist party and had never knowingly attended a party meeting.

A spokesman for the NLRB said the Justice Department is studying the affidavits of more than 500 union officers. So far a half-a-dozen indictments have been returned.

The little town of Grayson will have a pleasurable experience this week. One of their very own young women, now known as Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor of Southside and other churches in Monroe and Fairbanks, will return to direct a one-week revival.

This energetic and consecrated woman, possesses both qualities in equal amount and is an inspiration to all who know her, will conduct what she prayerfully desires will prove the best attended and most successful revival she has yet held.

Reverend Lea deserves unusual success in her calling for she is untiring in her ministering to humanity that needs a helping hand. We are sure she will have a revival series that will make a record for a little Caldwell parish community.

Christmas 1953 is sixty - eight days distant. Very few persons have paid much attention yet to the approach of this the greatest day of the year. But this does not hold true of the dynamic Optimist club of Monroe.

This club has found in years past that sales of Christmas trees have been a fruitful source of cash raised for the club's civic projects, such as the Twin City oratorical contest and the Little Baseball League.

The club already has tickets printed that sell for a dollar each and which can be purchased and when the trees arrive, this down payment will be accepted on the price of a tree. Seems like a good project and one that should be supported.

Johnnie P. Portis, 39, Negro, Lake Providence, and Enos C. Blanchard, 47, Detroit, Michigan, were arrested for speeding while two others, Travis Brown, 43, Negro, Downsville, and Titus Malone, 33, Oak Grove, were charged with having no chauffeur's license.

Other violations were:

Violating drivers license restriction: Alice S. Joyce, 31, Negro, Lake Providence.

Improper lights: Joseph N. Womack, 23, Oak Grove; and A. J. Evans, 31, Oak Grove.

Disregarding officers tickets: Ablone Taylor, 40, Negro, Monroe.

Oversize load: P. K. Carter, 30, Negro, Tallulah; and Joseph Dunbar, 35, Negro, Tallulah.

Two-Party System Already In South, President Says

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17 (AP)—In an impromptu speech in a hangar at Moisat Airport just before leaving the city for a weekend in Texas, President Eisenhower said it looks to him as if the two-party system already has arrived in the South.

And it's the South itself that needs a two-party system, the President declared —"not a bunch of politicians, not a bunch of Democrats or anybody else."

Eisenhower, who cracked the traditionally democratic South in last year's election, made his remarks to some 1,500 Republicans who waited three hours and 40 minutes for his appearance. The President scoffed at the often expressed view that "you can't have a two-party system in the South."

"It looks to me," he said, "like there is one here."

The President said Republicans necessarily have a tough row to hoe in the South "because everybody that has been in a political organization, that has been in political life, for years and years has been Democratic."

But the very fact Republicans are electing members of their party to office in the South means, he said, that the party has come of age.

Unless there is competition between parties, Eisenhower went on, free government can perish.

ton said that the United States planned "at the minimum" a strong protest after studying a report by the Amreican-led U.N. Armistice commission that 400 Israeli soldiers used artillery, grenades and small arms to destroy completely 41 dwellings and the school building before withdrawing to their side of the border.

State Department officials called it the most serious breach to date of the 1949 Arab-Israeli armistice agreements.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli Foreign Office said Jordan was to blame for setting off the latest series of forays. Israeli newspapers said the Israeli raid on Kibya was a reprisal for the killing earlier this week of a woman and two children on the Jewish side of the border.

Israel's ambassador to Washington, Abba Eban, who is also head of its U.N. delegation, left Washington by plane to confer with the big power representatives here late today and to prepare for the Security Council meeting.

West Monroe Man Injured In Wreck

A West Monroe man, Louie Edward Kelly, of 1102 Crosley Street received lacerations of the face, when he apparently lost control of a 1952 Ford pickup truck, while traveling south on Thomas Ave., early Saturday morning.

Kelly is reported to have been thrown out of the car window. A Mulhearn ambulance carried Kelley to the Charity Hospital where he received treatment for his injuries.

pleased ambassador's voice: "Merci, Merci."

For the first time in history, the famed Mardi Gras Krewes of Rex and Comus paraded other than on Mardi Gras Day — and together — to pay tribute to President Eisenhower. Their colorful parade consisted of 17 floats, each representing a state that was part of the original Louisiana Territory.

A blazing sun hit both the paraders and the onlookers.

The temperature in historic old Jackson Square was 84 degrees, and a sea of white handkerchiefs fluttered during the colorful ceremony preceding the President's speech.

Some residents across the square were ordered from their balconies and Secret Service men and police took over the vantage points and kept a keen eye on the heaving sea of humanity.

Several persons, including ROTC cadets in the massed color guard, fainted from the heat and had to be given first aid at shelters.

The President received a tremendous ovation from the crowd as he toured a parade route where persons were often standing 20 deep.

The President and M. Bonnet reenacted the signing of the Louisiana Purchase documents, while Cecil B. DeMille of Hollywood narrated the proceedings.

And when introduced, Mr. Eisenhower paid tribute to the carnival kings, Rex and Comus, for permitting a President of the United States to see their colorful parade and court out of season.

Gov. Robert F. Kennon, in his brief talk, mentioned the British burning of the White House during early American history.

"But when they came down here, they got one of the damnedest lickings of their life," he declared, surveying the square named in honor of Andrew Jackson, hero of the Battle of New Orleans.

The crowd waited until President Eisenhower had left the scene after his talk, then the mass of people spread throughout the Quarter to put the finishing touches on the two-week celebration.

Salt Producer Denies Company 'Planted' Bomb

NEW IBERIA, La., Oct. 17—UP — J. L. Bayless, president of the Jefferson Island Salt Company, Saturday termed as "rather ridiculous" reports that company employes had planted a "booby trap" at the company's salt mine.

"I understand that a container with the name 'Jefferson Island' on it was used as a booby trap," Bayless said. "No one connected with our company would be stupid enough to incriminate himself in that way."

Bayless said when the bomb was discovered, supervisor Mac Theriot detonated it.

Another incident was reported near the plant, which has been beset with labor troubles for months.

Some workers were returning home from the midnight shift early Saturday. "They suddenly felt their cars jump forward," Bayless said. "They thought they had been shot at."

Investigators found that some dynamite had been exploded at the vicinity of an intersection on Highway 25, according to Bayless.

"There's no evidence as to how this explosion was set off," he said. "It is presumed that when cars were seen approaching on the highway, a time fuse was lighted."

Bayless termed the violence "very deplorable" and said he hopes the parties responsible "will be caught and brought to justice."

"We took back some strikers when we had openings for them," he said. "Now we think it unwise to take back any more of the strikers. This is unfortunate because there are some good men among the strikers who are being made to suffer unnecessarily because of violence."

and elsewhere on the inland waterways.

The corps of engineers threatened in 1950 to discontinue the maintenance of the three upper navigation pools by dismantling locks and dams 5, 6 and 8 because of the lack of traffic which was moving through these locks. The Congress has appropriated sufficient money to maintain these three locks until June 30, 1954. Requests for appropriations beyond that point have already been made to bureau of the budget and every effort possible is being made to increase the traffic which operates through these upper three locks in order to maintain their operation. According to Mr. Thatcher, there is a considerable quantity of tonnage that can be placed on the Ouachita River. This must be done in order to maintain the present navigation pools and must be an accomplished fact before the people will be in a position to demand the construction of the modern 9-foot channel which the Congress authorized in 1950.

theft of top secret radar information, we have yet no alternative to feeling that this Communist cell was not just a social affair.

"We must assume the report from Europe is only the first of many more important discoveries if the trail is not too cold and obscured by the delay of five or six years in pursuing it."

Rainville didn't say so, but apparently his reference to "actual theft" referred to a statement by the Army in Washington today. The Army said it has no evidence of microfilmed copies of secret data from Ft. Monmouth having fallen into Communist hands in Germany.

The Army did say there was a free exchange of information with our Allies under wartime lend-lease. This seemed to indicate that if documents were in Communist hands, the Russians probably were given the information during wartime co-operation.

The Army has, however, recently suspended an undisclosed number of employes at the fort for security reasons, pending further investigation.

McCarthy said a previous witness has told the committee that today's witness had uttered the "there but" cry.

There also was testimony in the record, McCarthy said, that today's mute witness knew Rosenberg well and once shared a car pool with him.

Dog Catcher In Close Pursuit Of Soused Simian

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 17—UP—The Shreveport police force, city dog catcher and several volunteers are closing in on a unique fugitive here — a monkey with a hangover.

The simian tippler first appeared Friday at the C. L. Jones furniture store. But he wasn't there for long.

Said Jones, "A man came by and told me to soak a banana in whiskey. He said the monkey would eat it and pass out. I tried it, and that monkey really gobbled it up."

And did the monk pass out? "No siree," said Jones. "He took off like a shot. I guess I didn't soak that banana long enough."

At last report the animal was hiding under a house, sleeping it off.

Disposition Of Pecan Shells Is Asked By Firm

VICKSBURG, Miss., Oct. 17. — The Vicksburg district, corps of engineers, is considering the application of the Natchez Pecan Shelling company, Natchez, Miss., for approval of plans to spoil pecan hulls on the slope of the left bank of the Mississippi River at a point about ¾ mile upstream from the Natchez, Miss., bridge and 360 miles above Head of Passes.

The drawing submitted by the applicant indicates that the pecan hulls will be conveyed by a pipe, which will extend from the pecan hulling plant, located on top of the bluff at Natchez, down the slope of the bluff to a point between the low water elevation and the top bank of the river.

Plans of the proposed work may be seen at the office of the Vicksburg district, Corps of Engineers, Post Office Building, Vicksburg, Miss., or at the office of the applicant, Natchez, Miss.

Judge Discards Fishermen's Suit

According to Warren M. Simon, chief attorney for the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission, Judge L. J. Samuels of the Judicial 24th district court in Gretna, sustained Friday the exception of no cause of action filed on behalf of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission to the suit of the commercial fishermen of Jefferson parish seeking injunction to enjoin the commission from enforcing its order closing Lake Pontchartrain to commercial fishing for shrimp, and dismissed plaintiff's suit.

Judge Samuels also dissolved the restraining order previously issued against the commission. The effect of this is to place in full force and effect the order of the commission closing Lake Pontchartrain.

The History Of This Nation A Shameful Distortion

The history of the United States is a glorious one steeped in the hard work and efforts of a hardy folk who came mostly from England, France, Holland and Germany, in the very beginning to found the original thirteen colonies. From the small beginning, and the early efforts of a valiant people who resisted everything the great British crown could throw at them, this nation has grown to heights never dreamed by the early settlers and colonial peoples.

From this beginning, peoples from all over the world have come to this land to make their homes and live in freedom. The history until recently, was clear and glorious. Every school child took for granted the learning about George Washington, John Adams, the Bill of Rights, the Constitution, the brave Minute Men of Lexington and Concord. They learned about the War Between the States and how valiantly the troops on both sides of the line conducted themselves. They learned about the Spanish-American War, and what child did not revel in the glory of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders?

The basic facts of American history and the principles of the Republic were second nature to the classrooms of the United States. That was until recently. Within the past three decades, there have been some subtle changes made. Certain groups are bound and determined to show American history in a light which did not exist and in a light not becoming to the American nation. The history books are being changed, subtle phrases are inserted which change the entire meaning of a section of the story.

There have been attempts to make even Abe Lincoln a "one worlder" and George Washington, it is hinted, was not only not truthful, some educators depict him as an outright liar, and worse, a whip brandishing slave owner and minion of the British empire until his pecuniary interests were effected by that Empire, forcing his separation. In other words, there are those who have tried to convince the young American people that the Revolutionary War was fought not by patriotic fervor, but by the "money class" which saw that it could "better profit by a separation from the British crown."

There are others who picture the homespun Americans as outright Communist revolutionaries, revolting against the oppression of the "money leaders of England", only to be betrayed by the "moneyed class in the colonies". Some prefer to picture the early United States as a Socialist state, which it was not, and others refer to it as merely a "cooperative".

The motion picture industry is another factor in this heinous perversion of the history of this nation. For instance, there is the picture entitled, "Man From the Alamo". The history of Texas is glorious and steeped in the blood of her early pioneers who settled what was then the territory of Mexico. Every Texas school boy knows about the Mexican government's interference with the American colonizers. Finally, the colonizers revolted, demanded their independence from Mexico and with that, the Mexican government ordered them put to the sword.

The record is clear in the story of bravery against a cruel Mexican army and the final battle at the Alamo. The Mexican War was clearly a battle between the Mexicans and the Americans. Not so, Hollywood style. There are only two Mexicans in the entire picture. They are "misunderstood" and as a matter of Hollywood fact, the Mexicans were not even involved! Rather, Americans, dressed as Mexicans, caused all the trouble.

Why this deliberate perversion of history? Why are untrue facts presented about the history of this nation, facts which attempt to make the United States history a sordid affair. Why pervert the facts?

On the other hand, the bloody and fearful Bolshevik revolution in Russia, is given a martyrdom not deserved by any means. It is shown how the Soviet Sailors, Soldiers and Workers "revolted" and took the Russian nation and its unfortunate and suffering people in a "bloodless coup". The opposite is the truth. The blood flowed in Russia that October day in 1917 and it has never stopped.

There is a deliberate attempt to discredit the founders of this nation and to show them in a bad light.

Americans, in many classrooms and schools, the teaching of American history is no longer a required subject. As the teaching of God and the bible has been lost in the classrooms in recent years, so has the teaching of the history of this great nation.

Citizens, this miserable state of affairs has gone far enough. It would be advisable for all Americans to check the schoolbooks of the children attending class and to see what they are being taught. Already, there are outraged cries from some teachers and instructors upon opening their new textbooks. The time has come to stop this deliberate sabotage of the American past. It is part of you, the American people.

You and your children will suffer in this perversion of the history of your nation.

It must be stopped.

What About The Hydrogen Weapon?

In the recent days and weeks, there has been much discussion about the fearful hydrogen weapon. Politicians on both sides have used the weapon as a discussion and have played politics with it to the best extent of their ability.

Democrats have denounced the administration for not releasing all the facts while the Republicans have countered with the idea that perhaps the facts are too dangerous to release. The American people have grown sluggish as far as waking up to the dangers to this continent, it is true, but they are in the main, ready to know the worst, and it might as well be presented to them especially as the Communists are known to have penetrated the Signal Corps and discovered the operations of the radar net which was supposed to have protected this nation in the event of enemy attack.

Thanks to the McCarthy committee which many people have denounced, the Communists in the signal corps are now being routed out.

Recently, a motion picture of the hydrogen weapon was demonstrated to a select few. It was so "secret" that the government agencies in charge of security examined even the relatives of those about to see the picture. The fact that the Soviets already know more about the hydrogen weapon than do the American people, negates the necessity for all this absurd secrecy, but any huge government must present some kind of show of force, if only to make the entire affair "official".

The picture demonstrated the fearful power of the weapon which actually can be made as huge and destructive as one desires to make it. In an explosion test, the "H-Bomb" as it is called, was set up on a small island in the Pacific Ocean. The viewers were sent some 57 miles away to watch the "fireworks". The bomb went off; the island was blown off the face of the Earth and where the island once was, there is now a depression of some 167 feet in the bed of the ocean floor and the green Pacific covers the first man-made Krakatoa explosion.

In order to fire the fearful thing, the hydrogen involved must be "cooled" to a temperature of some -423 degrees Fahrenheit which is fairly "cool", the absolute zero being -459 degrees. The "trick" is to keep it cool, and also in the manufacture of the liquid hydrogen. This has already been "solved" and it is understood that the United States can "mass produce" this wretched "world destroyer" which is really "cheaper than the A-Bomb".

It is nice to know that the potential destroyer of this planet is so economical in cost. It is also understood that the Russians as yet are not supposed to have the weapon, at least, they are not supposed to have it "in production". They were not supposed to have a lot of things, but they are smarter and possessed of a greater espionage service than the American officials gave them credit for being and having.

The American people, among others, have a direct stake in this affair, why not tell them about it? Why keep it secret when the results are known by the Soviets or they would not be rushing their production of the weapon. It is certain that the human race is speeding toward an immediate and fiery end as was even depicted in the Old Testament unless something is done to stop the use of these terrible things.

There is a fond hope that the Soviets will not use them as they will expect retaliation. Unfortunately, if the Soviets know the American means of retaliation and destroy them, how can the retaliation be a fact? There is where the Communist espionage is concerned and there is where the danger lies. Unless some methods are devised to either keep these world destroyers from being employed in the last and worst form of power politics, war, fiery destruction will indeed be at hand.

Why keep it under wraps? Why not tell the people so that preparations could be made in time to save at least some of them. Ignorance never helps in a situation like this. However, this playing of politics where nature is involved, is also venal thing to do. Among the worst of the group involved is Estes Kefauver, the Senator from Tennessee.

Bring out the worst.

If the American people cannot take it, it is time they began to learn.

George E. Sokolsky And Mary Caveatt The Morning World Is Proud

Several weeks ago, through a friend in Baton Rouge, this newspaper received word about a "moot" law case to be tried by the law students at LSU later this fall. The aspects of the case were brought out; as a result, LSU officials were said to be "hurt." They claimed, it is understood, that the case was not presented to the people of this area in the "true light."

It is worthy to note that George E. Sokolsky, one of this nation's foremost news writers and radio analysts, in last Thursday's World, has also seen fit to denounce the "case" and in much more of a forceful manner than the Morning World. The case, as was brought out, was clearly designed as a "rigged one" against the Congressional Committees which are at work snatching out the Communists in all fields of their endeavor.

Thanks, Mr. Sokolsky for helping in this effort.

News From The World Of Books

There has been published in the last few months, a book on U. S. "Holidays". Included is "United Nations Day," Christmas, New Years, and others.

Not included is the Fourth of July!

Has the Fourth of July, the nation's birthday been forgotten? How conveniently for some sources who are in the book publishing business to forget the Fourth of July. Another effort to discredit the history of this great nation, and to foist an alien belief that the "United Nations Day" should be celebrated while the Fourth of July should not.

How much more will the American people take?

The Dangers In Guatemala Another Guiana?

The little nation in Central America which is Guatemala, is presently under the influence of the Communist Imperial design. So far has this terrible influence been spread, that it now presents a direct threat to the security of this nation.

The President, and many of his ministers while not outright Communists, take their orders from that cabal and are assisted by them. The government is almost totally influenced by Marxism and the Communists are given credit for what is happening in land reform and other aspects.

Actually, Guatemala is one of the first outright pro-Communist nations in the Americas. The influence of the Russian philosophy has penetrated the depths of the people and has cost the Guatemalan nation much friendship with Americans who formerly did business in that nation. The major American sufferer is the United Fruit Company which is presently beholding the loss of its farm and plantations. The land reform is the major factor in this deal.

There are several reasons why the Communists want Guatemala and are feverishly working to that aim. The first is its excellent location which in the case of war, would be an ideal setup. It is but two hours flying time from the Panama Canal and only a thousand miles from New Orleans by air. Then, its geographical location as headquarters for the Latin-American Communist movement can hardly be surpassed. It would also completely bisect any Pan-American highway designed to bring raw materials out of South America by land, and it is perhaps designed as a major propaganda weapon against the "Yanqui imperialist" in the Latin-Americas.

The dangers in the Communist control of this little nation are great and almost awe inspiring. In the first place, until the Guiana situation arose, only Guatemala existed as the first Communist threat in this hemisphere. In the second place, Guatemala is an independent and supposedly sovereign nation. No British or American governor can throw out the Communists and any attempt to do so will be propagandized by the Marxists as "more American imperialism."

The necessity for the removal of this threat to the Western hemisphere is certain. As long as the Communists can control any American nation, the hemispherical defense setup will be jeopardized. It is understood that Communist trainers are training and equipping the army of Guatemala and that it is being armed by Soviet weapons to some extent. Worse, should the Communists occupy or control the little nation, it would be an excellent base for Soviet submarines in both the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean Sea and the Pacific Ocean. It could readily be used as a land "aircraft carrier" in the Western world.

There is an anti-Communist movement in Guatemala which has as yet, not been too effective, although it has been responsible for the death of several high Communist officials. There is also an anti-Communist element in the army, although how long it will be permitted to remain is a question in many minds. Another question in a similar vein is how it has remained so far.

The security of this hemisphere depends on cooperation among the peoples of the Americas. The citizens of the United States must stop taking for granted the allies and friends to the South. Guatemala is an example of this unfortunate attitude taken by not only the people, but the United States government and foreign service.

The Soviets may have established a firm base in Guatemala. This is a direct threat to the security of this nation and all the free peoples of the Western hemisphere. Something will have to be done to correct the situation before it grows more dangerous. There is no room for a torpedo in the side of the hemispherical ship of state. The Guatemalan government is such a weapon in Russian hands.

The situation is a bad one.

Deportation Of A Friend

Carville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The Star, our patients' magazine received some clippings from the clipping bureau. Among the clippings we found your editorial about me. I thought, "What a beautiful, wonderful thing to write about a person he does not know at all (except perhaps what he reads about her.)" I am Joey, and Mr. Stein, our editor told me about your editorial, and that is how I came to read it. Both Mr. Stein and I think it is such a fine and fighting editorial! I thought when Mr. Franz of the Shreveport Journal died, I lost my "best" editor —He used to write such glowing and hard-to-beat things about me, and I thought of him, in my heart, as one of my dearest friends; he was that—. I never met Mr. Franz personally, but because of what he did for me, I made a special warm place in my heart for him. God does provide for us. When he died, I could not help it — I cried as if I lost one of my very own, for I realized I lost a true friend. And now there is you. I do not know you, nor do I know your name, but please know this: I am deeply grateful for what you wrote, and I shall never forget it. You wrote such a beautiful editorial and it has meant so much during these trying days. Today, at 2:00 this afternoon, the hearing for the appeal will take place in Washington. I hope and pray that all things will turn out well. Mr. Kleinpeter is supposed to go to Washington, but I am not sure if he was able to (he needed quite an amount for the trip and expenses incurred by the hearing—the Baton Rouge Legal Aid Association are helping to finance expenses, but did not have enough, it seems in the coffers) — however, I hope that something more encouraging will come up. We shall let you know what gives.

Is it possible to get a few clips (tear sheets they are called, I believe) of that editorial (August 15) and send to us here? If there is any charge we shall pay for the tear sheets.

We have a very dear friend who lives there — Mr. Sam Rubin — He is a good friend! If you need any information that you wish to print, please feel free to call on him. He is very gracious and kind.

Thank you again for what you said in the editorial. It is not easy to say what one really and truly feels inside, but you have my heart's gratitude. Thank you.

JOEY GUERRERO.

(Editor's Note: The editorial entitled "Thanks" gave a life history of Mrs. Guerrero including her invaluable service in the Philippines during World War II and how at the risk of her own life saved the lives of many Americans. She is a citizen of the Philippines and wishes to stay in America. Her wish has not been granted and she is up for deportation.)

Underpaid Teachers

Albemarle, N. C.

Editor, Morning World:

According to the best information, we are short in America in primary and high school teachers, around 150,000 to 200,000. This fact alone makes it impossible for the teachers to do their best work for our children. They cannot give individual attention, or be able to study the children's problems, because of the great amount of work required. The problem is how to get more teachers. In the first place let me state emphatically that our teachers are the most under-paid workers in America today. They should receive from $100.00 to $150.00 more per month, beginning immediately.

The schools of higher education should advise the college students of the great opportunity that they will have if they take up the profession of teaching in making the world a better place in which to live. They should be told, and the fact emphasized, that teachers, next to the parents, home, and church do more to shape the life of children than any other people.

Teaching in public schools must put the emphasis on the American history wrought by our forefathers, and left to us as a heritage to carry on.

About two years ago a poll, taken in high schools in some of the largest cities, showed the students knew practically nothing about the Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights, or our Constitution.

How About The Other Kids?

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Granted the city school system is overcrowded as are all schools in our territory this year. In years past the city schools have always seen fit to accommodate children from the area closely adjacent to the city limits of Monroe. This year, however, with a kindergarten class of over 90 at Sherrouse School it was decided that this couldn't be done and to ease the situation they would have to eliminate all children who lived outside the city limits. This was done and everyone concerned accepted it as inevitable until—it was learned that actually only 10 children were dropped and that Edgewater Gardens children were accepted. Now, the people of Edgewater Gardens are very fine folks, but to our knowledge pay no more city taxes than anyone else outside city limits.

We want to see the children from Edgewater educated, as is their due, but how about the other kids?

This question has been brought to the attention of the superintendent of city schools and the city school board without getting a satisfactory answer. Oh, we got answers, but they were pretty lame Will someone tell us why! why! why?

Richland Parish Election

Rayville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As a personal letter to you concerning the election Tuesday, October 20, 1953, pertaining to voting alcoholic beverages out of Ward 2, Richland Parish, let me say:

"I definitely feel that we are being given an opportunity in coming out to the polls on Tuesday to take a definite stand for right and our God. Some folks may say that a law will not do away with the great problems that alcohol creates in our midst, but I sincerely believe this is a positive and definite forward step in solving the problems at hand. Have you ever thought of this problem in a personal way? For after all, God looks to me only, concerning my behavior and actions, so in view of this fact, let me say: at the time that I am called upon to give an account of my actions here on the earth, God will want to know what I did while on earth to remove alcoholic beverages from my own community. Well then, if I can tell my Creator that I did vote to do away with alcoholic beverages, I firmly believe God will know that I, at least stood up for the right and did what I could. So, friends, let's take our stand for the right, and in so doing we will be taking another step to make our community a better place in which to rear our children and live."

"Cattlemen"

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have been reading with very much interest the letters published in the peoples forum, also heard and seen on TV, the arguments put up against the stock law in Louisiana.

Nearly, or I might say all, the objectors cry crocodile tears about the poor tenant farmers milk cows or his few head of beef cattle.

If you wish to see who the law will really hurt, go to the auction sales in Monroe, Bastrop, Tallulah, or any neighboring town and see just who buys the majority of the feeder stock.

You will find the great majority bought by a few men who style themselves "cattlemen." And the majority of these "cattlemen" own very little, if any, land.

They buy a young steer in the spring turn him loose on the public until fall. If he is hit by an automobile and the driver is, we might say caught, or sued it turns out the driver ha to pay for a full blooded steer worth five times what he cost the so-called "cattleman" besides paying for the damage caused his automobile, and maybe serious injury to some occupant of the vehicle.

I have no doubt that the law would work a hardship on a few people but the opponents answer that question themselves when they claim only a few people are in favor of the law.

They only have to check a little to find that the urban population of Louisiana has greatly increased in the past generation and now exceeds the rural by a very good margin. Also I do not think that the farmer who has the real beef and dairy cattle would allow them to roam the highways, law or no law.

They also speak of the automobile driver as a speed demon quoting speeds of 60 miles per hour, and stating that you cannot control a vehicle at that speed.

The speed limit in this state is 60 miles and the people who set it are more competent judges of a cars stability than some of the critics.

They also bring up the fact that we have drunken drivers. That I will admit. But pick up the newspaper any day and you will see where the ones caught, even if there has been no accident, pay a stiff fine and lose their drivers license for a year.

Whoever heard of a cow or horse, or for that matter, a hog being arrested for causing a wreck? No, the poor guy, and he generally has no more than the tenant farmer these opponents are bleeding for, has to pay the cows' owner for the cow.

I happen to be one of the city dudes that wants the stock law. I buy an auto license, pay drivers license, pay gasoline taxs. All this is supposed to enable me to drive anywhere in the state at a speed governed by the state. But if I do so I am taking a chance on being killed by an animal (according to their plea) owned by a man who doesn't even pay taxes on the land he farms. Is that justice?

As for fencing in the highways to protect free range. We are planting new pine forests to try to keep some of the largest industries in the state in production. And did you know one pine rooter hog will destroy in a week more seedlings than one man can plant in a day?

Well this is so long you probably won't print it, but I had to get it off my chest. Here's to the passage of an adequate stock law.

Incidentally, it is claimed the law is wanted by a small group. It might be interesting to know more than half the parishes have already passed a stock law.

'Are Amendments Too Easy In Louisiana Constitution?'

Baton Rouge, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As I was reading the Monroe News-Star of October 6, I came across an article that caught my eye. It was entitled "Are Amendments Too Easy In Louisiana Constitution?" by Lorimer E. Storey.

My answer to that question would be, yes. However, I answer in the affirmative not because the amending process is easy, but because of the abuse into which the amending process has developed.

The effectiveness of the amending process depends upon the ability of the voter to understand what changes in basic law is proposed by an amendment. In Louisiana, understanding an amendment is a Herculea task. When considering an amendment for example, the elector may encounter something similar to the following:

"The maximum number of mills of special annual ad valorem maintenance taxes for giving additional support for the current operation of public schools heretofore authorized by Section 10 of Article X of this Constitution, which shall be hereafter allowable shall in no case exceed eight mills and this maximum millage shall be reduced in the proportion that any increase in State School support, over and above the sum of six million dollars ($6,000,000.00), bears to the aggregate of special school ad valorem taxes levied in all parishes in 1930, which was six million four hundred thousand dollars ($6,400,000.00), that is, the maximum number of mills shall be reduced by one mill for each increase in annual state support amounting to eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000.00), or one - eighth of the aggregate of said special taxes in the manner as is illustrated in the following tabulation, which shows the relationship between the maximum number of mills of special taxes allowable for school maintenance and the increase in state support for the common schools, viz . . ." or, something as self-explanatory as, "for the proposed amendment to Section 21 of Article X of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana."

Then, if he survives all that, he finds himself contemplating on important issues such as whether or not Caddo Parish should sell its jail site, or, the date which New Orleans should hold their municipal and parochial elections, as actually occurred with Act 331 of 1936.

Mr. Storey also referred to the statutory material in the present constitution, and that is certainly not to be overlooked. The statutes and provisions of previous constitutions amount to more than 354 pages of material. Therefore, one most possess a knowledge of these to understand the constitution. Consider Article XIV, Section 23.1, which authorizes a two mill tax for sewerage, water and drainage in New Orleans. The use and expenditure of the proceeds of the tax are to be governed by the provisions of Act 6 of the Extra Session of 1899 "and all laws" amendatory thereof. This act has been amended by Acts 85 of 1902, 69 of 1904, 38 of 1910, 189 of 1924, 229 of 1936, 230 of 1936, 140 of 1940, 101 of 1952, 15 of 1944. This creates confusion, and each new amendment that is added to the constitution (an over - all average of eight per year) merely intensifies this confusion.

Observing the difficulties of translating proposed amendments into comprehensible language and the difficulties that arise once they have been incorporated into the constitution, one may ask this question, "why is there a need for such frequent amending?" I find three reasons:

(1) The Louisiana Constitution is not flexible. It does not contain the basic principles of framework and policy, but specific data that cannot be changed without amending the constitution.

(2) The second reason become rather apparent when one attempts reading the constitution. One attempting such an adventure will find himself lost in vast detail, confusing terminology, references to other legal documents, the dispersion of subject matter, inconsistencies, errors, informal amending procedures, duplication of material, contradictions and omissions. It is so confusing that in many instances the legislators themselves do not know what the constitution provides for. So, to avoid a conflict, they seek an amendment.

(3) In many cases it is easier to ratify the constitution than it is to get a measure passed by the ADDRESSES UNDERWRITERS—In an address Friday before the Life Underwriters, Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, dean of men at Northeast Louisiana State college, stressed the importance of college attendance and listed various ways in which students benefit by a college education.

Dr. Holloway Is Speaker For Underwriters

Monroe Life Underwriters presented Dr. Ernest Holloway, dean of men of N. L. S. C., as guest speaker at Neville High School Friday in connection with the national program, "How America is Changing." The week's theme is, "Today 55 per cent more students are in college than in 1940."

Dr. Holloway urged that students go to the college of their choice but above all go to college. In recognizing other outstanding institutions of the state, he brought out the fact that N. L. S. C. is "on the ball." Three main points were developed by the speaker showing students advantages of going to college.

Dr. Holloway said:

"1. Even though much we read is not retained by the mind, at least we learn where to get the information when we need it.

"2. Some of the finest associations are made in college with members of the faculty, student body, fraternities and sororities. These associations mean much in later life. Should one run for public office, these associates would be his staunchest supporters.

"3. College will teach you how to think." Emphasis here was placed on the natural law of self-preservation. Dr. Holloway showed how by straight thinking one would be a blessing to his parents and a pride to his community.

Introduction of the speaker was made by C. D. Blaylock, chairman of public relations committee of life underwriters. Other members of the committee who represented the underwriters were: R. P. McKay, J. Arthur Smith and Charles J. Cascio. Supt. Van Odom and Principal Paul Neal, of the city school system lent their support to the program in the interest of education.

The assembly was adjourned after a lively pep meeting by Neville Tigers.

Homecoming Top Event This Week At Northeastern

Homecoming holds the most important place on Northeast State's calendar of activities. The event will be celebrated Saturday, with the football game between the Northeast Indians and Arkansas A. and M. climaxing a feature-packed program.

Ceremonies will get underway with a parade starting at 1:30 p. m. at the Crosley School in West Monroe. The procession, comprising the college band, marching squad, floats and decorated cars, will wind its way through the business sections of the Twin Cities, then continue to the Northeast campus.

Brown auditorium will be the scene of a pep rally scheduled to open at 4 p. m., with President Lewis C. Slater, alumni, and student leaders participating in the program.

Open house in the newly - furnished Home Economics Cottage will provide informal entertainment for alumni and friends of the college. The coffee hour is planned from 5 to 7 p. m.

Also on the afternoon schedule is a weiner roast along the bayou bank near the president's home. This fun and food combination is timed from 5:30 to 6:15 p. m.

Alumni will then go to their meeting in the social room at 6:30 p. m., Alumni President James Pascal Norris announced. Business matters, including the adoption of a constitution, are on the agenda.

Continuing a tradition of Homecoming will be the big bonfire on the baseball diamond at the college, then the group will move to Brown Stadium for pre-game activities which will start at 7:45. The colorful features will include the crowning of the queen amidst the pomp and ceremony which characterize such recognition of royalty. Queen Betty Gambrell of Sicily Island and her court will reign over the evening's events.

During the half-time period the marching band and Gold Jackets, pep squad, will take over to present a variety show designed to combine beauty and originality in music and formations.

Completing the evening's festivities will be a dance in the college gymnasium where former students and friends of Northeast [illegible] special guests.

legislature. Only about 11 percent of the amendments submitted to the voters for ratification have failed to pass.

In the last paragraph of Mr. Storey's article, he asks, "Would the model constitution plan (the constitution model drafted by the Louisiana Law Institute) serve Louisiana's needs better than the plan in the present constitution?" My answer is yes.

The Louisiana Law Institute has worked for four years to prepare a draft that would solve the problems now presented by the present constitution. They have worked toward drafting a model that is relatively brief and understandable. Its length is less than one-fifth of that of our present constitution. The use of incorporating other legal documents has been completely eliminated with one exception, that of an unfavorable remark concerning Tulane University. To eliminate the necessity of amending the constitution, so frequently, which is an extremely good argument for constitutional revision in Louisiana, the Institute has restricted the constitution to matters of governmental framework and basic governmental policy.

Are amendments too easily added to the Louisiana Constitution? Yes, for it has rendered the constitution unintelligible and confusing due to its abusive use.

Would the model constitution serve Louisiana's needs better? Yes, because it eliminates confusion and is restricted, as a constitution should, to basic structure and policy, which, in turn, abolishes the need for frequent amending.

Union Membership

Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Editor, Morning World:

Mr. Pegler, in a column denouncing President Eisenhower for sending a speaker to the American Federation of Labor Convention, made the curious statement that out of the figure of approximately 16 million union members it would probably be over - stating the true figure by 50 per cent to say that eight million of them were voluntary members.

The facts are quite otherwise. Since the Taft - Hartley Law was passed, no one can be compelled to be a union member in order to get a job in a particular plant or industry. If he stays a member, it is because he wants to. Furthermore, ever since the Wagner Labor Relations Law was passed back in 1936, and continuing in the Taft-Hartley Law, there is set up a system of National Labor Board Elections by which workers can choose in a secret ballot whether or not they want to belong to a union, and to which union. Usually, the main contest is between two unions, but the workers also have a chance to vote for no union. The vote for no union is seldom more than five per cent of the total, and usually nearer to two per cent.

During the war there was a great growth of union membership although the War Labor Board specifically denied the new unions the right to get a closed shop, so that union membership was completely voluntary. Yet the workers joined the unions to the tune of several million new members.

Mr. Pegler's absurd estimate, therefore, is directly contrary to the facts, and made solely to belittle organied labor.

Friends Of The Birds

Santa Barbara, Calif.

Editor, Morning World:

"Handsome is as handsome does" was not spoken of the cat. The cat is the Prince of the Sneak Attack. This is often unknown to cat owners, because they are asleep or busy while the cat, invading other people's premises, crouches hidden, and springs unerringly with lightning speed; the victims being mostly helpless baby birds, or parent birds engrossed in gathering insects and feeding their young. At dawn and dusk there are distressing alarm calls or tragic cries of birds, due to cats prowling or attacking, so that bird lovers know the work of cats.

Lulled by the occasional pleasure of stroking a cat (a piece of fur or a velvet kitty might satisfy the stroking impulse), and unmindful of the slaughter by cats of the song-insectivorous birds, man's best protection against insects (for example: one Flicker for a meal will take 5,000 ants or 1,000 chinch bugs; one tiny Warbler disposes of 3,500 aphis in 40 minutes) cat owners pose as benefactors of society in permitting their cats to go into the gardens of neighbors, who do not have rats but do have flowers and birds, which they don't want cats to destroy. It is scarcely a matter for pride to admit having rats, but even where rats are made the excuse for keeping cats, the cats usually aren't even kept where the rats are but allowed to roam where birds are. The truth is that cats prefer birds to rats, and cat lovers put first the cat's interest to run at large killing birds, although it means costly poison sprays that are undermining the health of people.

"Balance of Nature" and "God's Will" do not fit the cat any more than they would fit man-made forest fires, for the cat is an imported animal, with no natural enemies here; while our native song-insectivorous birds are ground or near-ground nesting and feeding, easy cat prey. The imported English Sparrow and Starling survive because they build nests where cats can't get them and the babies do not come out till they can fly.

feet of natural gas, the principal raw material used in making these chemicals, will now be required each year. It will be drawn, Woods said, from Louisiana and Texas sources.

Ammonia produced in the new unit will be processed into approximately 75,000 tons of ammonium nitrate fertilizer and 30,000 tons of nitrogen solutions, both for use in crop fertilization.

The new facilities enable Commercial Solvents to produce nitrogen in its three most useful forms: anhydrous ammonia and solid nitrate for direct application, and solutions for mixed fertilizers.

A unique new process which eliminates many of the expensive facilities and process steps hitherto required is being used for the first time in making ammonium nitrate fertilizer. It is housed in separate buildings three miles from the Sterlington plant. Called the "Stengel process" after its inventor, Leonard A. Stengel of Commercial Solvents' Research Division, the new methods eliminated the conventional, prilling towers, coolers and driers.

"We do not believe this is the end of our expansion in this area," Woods said. "Petrochemistry, the development of useful industrial and agricultural products from natural gas and oil, is the technique we are using.

"Today petrochemistry supplies close to 25 per cent of our national chemical needs. Its growth rate gives promise that by 1965 it may account for at least 50 per cent.

"Commercial Solvents' plans for the future are dependent upon the raw materials, climatic conditions and employee availability which are offered as natural advantages of northern Louisiana."

Sheriff Seeking Court Order To Destroy 'Slots'

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 17—UP—Sheriff Chester Wooton of Plaquemines parish, who defied state police and made away with slot machines the troopers were trying to destroy, has appealed for a court order authorizing him to smash the six gambling devices.

A petition filed by Sheriff Wooton in Plaquemines district court contends he was "uncertain" of his legal authority to destroy the slots.

Wooton disarmed a state trooper during the state police raids Wednesday night and created a tense situation which bordered on a violent outbreak. He later explained the disarming as a "joke."

The owners of the club where the machines were confiscated, Mato Farac and Irving Hingle, have been ordered to show cause at 10 a.m. Wednesday why the slots should not be destroyed.

Attorneys for the two contend the law allowing summary destruction of slots has been repealed.

SENATORS CHOOSE GREEN

Sneak Preview Of CSC Opening On KNOE-TV At 5:30

A "sneak preview" of the opening of Commercial Solvents Corporation's new $20,000,000 chemical plant expansion at Sterlington, La., will be aired by KNOE-TV today at 5:30 p.m. More than 100 people from the Twin City area are scheduled to appear.

To mark the formal opening of the new CSC facilities, the television station has prepared a special half-hour program entitled, "And So We Grow." According to Paul Goldman, station manager, the program will dramatize the industrial, agricultural and civic growth of Monroe, as well as Louisiana and the entire south.

"And So We Grow" has been two months in the making. It will feature an unusual technique which makes the audience feel it is on the scene at the very second the action is taking place, Goldman said.

Appearing on the program will be J. Albert Woods, president of Commercial Solvents, James A. Noe, owner of KNOE-TV, and other CSC officials.

Pete MacCausland is directing, with Mac Ward, Dallas Wales and Morry Twomey taking prominent parts.

Oil Pipe Line To Carry Water For City's Industries

EL DORADO, Kan., Oct. 17—UP—A pipeline normally used for carrying petroleum products is being converted to water hauling to permit El Dorado's two main industries—oil refineries — to continue operations during the current drouth and water shortage.

Under arrangements made by the city of El Dorado, the city of Wichita, Kaneb Pipe Line Co., and tribution water system here.

Both the Skelly Oil Co. and the El Dorado Refining Co. refineries faced a shutdown because of water shortages before the pipeline was converted.

Other refineries, potential users of petroleum products from the line, who cooperated were Anderson-Prichard Oil Corp., Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc., Derby Oil Co., Vickers Petroleum Co., and the National Cooperative Refinery Assn.

State Veterinarian Urged Destruction Of Rare Smuggled Herd

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 17 (AP)—The state veterinarian today called for slaughter or return to Mexico of 67 head of Charolais cattle smuggled across the border this summer.

Dr. F.B. Wheeler said the herd, a rare French breed held in quarantine near Lafayette, constitutes a threat to the Louisiana cattle industry and the nation's cattle as a whole, because of the danger of infection.

A. E. Broussard, Lafayette cattleman, had pleaded innocent to federal charges of smuggling the Charolais across the border. The U.S. Bureau of Animal Industry twice refused entry permits for the herd.

Wheeler complained that " a number of Lafayette civic and other organizations," have urged the cattle be allowed to remain in Louisiana because no disease has been detected yet.

Contending it takes some cattle diseases five years to manifest themselves, the veterinarian held it "would be foolish to jeopardize the Louisiana livestock industry, valued at 195 million dollars to keep 67 head of Charolais cattle whose grossly inflated value has been set at $1,080,000."

Wheeler said the herd was smuggled in from a section of Mexico where hoof and mouth disease and the Texas tick fever are prevalent.

Other countries, he said, have had "sad" experience with importing "insufficiently screened cattle."

Fair Ends Successful 6 - Day Run

School children from throughout the northeast area h ld the spotlight yesterday at the Ouachita Valley Fair, as the big agricultural and entertainment exposition would up a highly successful six-day run.

With admission to the fair grounds free from 10 a. m. through 6 p. m., and prices on most rides reduced, youngsters swarmed the midway and exhibit buildings.

Carnival activities continued until late Saturday night. Most of the livestock and other exhibits were kept on display throughout the closing day.

Most of the cattle and hogs were scheduled to be moved from the livestock buildings sometime Sunday.

Deaths

RONNIE RESTON

RAYVILLE, La., Oct. 17 (Special) — Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at Robertson Baptist Church, Dunn, for nine-year-old Ronnie Reston, who died of a gunshot wound Friday afternoon.

Services will be conducted by Dr. H. R. Herrington.

Interment will be in Dunn Cemetery, under the direction of Catron-Gay Funeral Home, Delhi.

The body will lie in state at the Lovelle Stansberry residence in Rayville, until 1:30 p. m. Sunday, when it will be taken to the church for services.

The youth is survived by his mother, Mrs. Hazel Reston; one sister, Betty, and one brother, Stanley, all of Rayville, and nine aunts and uncles.

Pallbearers will include Austin Harrell, Lovelle Stansberry, Douglas McKay, Kenneth Restor, Richard Robertson, and Junior Smith.

Ronnie was a third grade student at Rayville Elementary School, where he ranked high scholastically.

BERNON COCKRELL

BASTROP, Oct. 17 (Special)—Funeral services will be held 2 p.m. Sunday for Bernon Cockrell, 26, Route One, Bastrop, who was fatally injured in a paper mill accident here Friday.

Services will be conducted at Blackwell and Golden Funeral Chapel at Bastrop, with Rev. J. E. Henkle, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Bastrop, officiating. Burial will be in Carter Cemetery.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. George Jesse Cockrell, Route One, Bastrop, with whom he had resided; one brother, Wesley Cockrell, Route One, Bastrop; two sisters, Miss Sybil Cockrell and Mrs. S. Furlow, both of Bastrop, and a number of other relatives throughout Morehouse Parish.

Pallbearers will be R. B. Lanier, Charley Hayes, Jr., Frank Marshall, Sylvester Moore, Carl Adair, Cassie Robbins, Dan Hataway, C. C. Thurman.

Oscar E. Cloyd Elected To Head Centenary Class

Oscar Edward Cloyd, son of Mrs. Ruby Cloyd, 3300 Lee avenue, Monroe, graduate of this year's class at Ouachita Parish High School, now a freshman in Centenary College, has just been elected president of his class in college. He is a Methodist ministerial student.

When in attendance at Ouachita Parish High, he participated in the well known choir of the same name. He sang tenor. For two years he was on a football team; two years was cheer leader and served as president of both freshman and senior clsses. In his senior year, when the schools of the city acted as officials of the Twin Cities, he served as "Mayor of Monroe," for a single day.

Other activities in which he participated in times past were those of Sunday School teacher at the Louisiana Training Institute; served as active member of Demolay and recently was elected Christian Outreach officer for the M. Y. F.

His diversions comprise hunting and fishing, but his more serious activities are so many and so diversified that he has little time for these.

His personality is pleasing and wherever he goes he makes lasting friendships.

CURTIS R. EMERY

Monroe Woman's Husband Writes Volleyball Book

Curtis Ray Emery, member of the L. S. U. department of health and physical education, is author of a new book published by Macmillans entitled "Modern Volleyball." Mr. Emery was stationed in Selman field, Monroe from 1942-1944. While here he started to work on this book. He is married to the former Miss Gloria Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Ray of Monroe.

The new book contains the first complete coverage of the advanced style of this game, from the fundamental techniques to precision plays, with practical pointers for coaches and players.

Emery is a native of Mountain Grove, Mo. and attended high school in Abilene, Kans. He received his bachelor's degree at Kansas State Teachers' College and in the summers studied in Washburn University in Topeka, Kans. He received his master's degree at Louisiana State University.

During the war, Emery was a physical fitness officer in the air force for three years and a special services officer for a year and a half. He is a member of the following volleyball committees: National AAU committee; Southern AAU, Public Relations committee of the U. S. Volleyball Association, Region Five committee of the U. S. Volleyball association.

In the author's introduction to "Modern Volleyball" he writes of the game in 1895 created by the physical director of the YMCA in Holyoke, Mass. It was later demonstrated at a conference of physical directors held in Springfield, Mass. College. In 1922, the YMCA arranged a national championship at the Brooklyn Central YMCA with 27 teams representing 11 states. The Amateur Athletic Union followed with the first of its national championships in 1927.

Since World War two volleyball has made tremendous strides in parts of the world as a recreational team sport ranking third.

It is estimated that five million persons now participate in the game each year.

A special section of the book is devoted to volleyball for women.

250 Slot Machines Seized By State

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 17—UP—Ten spots were hit in lightning raids here Friday night by state troopers who confiscated about 250 more slot machines in 10 warehouses, barns, night clubs and stores.

In addition, Col. Francis Grevemberg, state police superintendent, said "number" of other slots were spotted and he expected them to be picked up Saturday and destroyed.

Two Quartets To Appear Here Tuesday Night

Two of the nation's leading gospel quartets will appear at the Ouachita Parish High School Tuesday night in a three-hour program of spiritual and gospel music. The program will get under way at 8 o'clock. Doors open at 6:30.

Wally Fowler and his Oak Ridge Quartet from Nashville, Tenn., and the Imperial Quartet, with David Reese, from Fort Worth, Tex., will meet in a battle of song. It is reported that these two groups are classed as a musical bomb shell in some of the nation's largest auditoriums where they are appearing.

The personnel of the Oak Ridge Quartet includes Wally Fowler, the all - night singing man; Carlos Cook, emcee and baritone; Bob Weber, 21-year-old bass; Joe Allred, first tenor, Calvin Newton, second tenor, and Livy "Lightin" Freeman at the piano. They were organized at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and appeared on the NBC portion of the Grand Old Opry for five years.

Wally Fowler and quartet record on their own label and some of their most popular numbers are "Crying in the Chapel," "Hide Me Rock of Ages," "My God Is Real," "I Have but One Goal," "How Many Times," and others.

The Imperial Quartet records for Bibletone and its most requested number is "Shadrach." They have their own interpretation of this Bible story in song of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego that has never been attempted by any other quartet.

The two groups will broadcast over radio station KLIC Tuesday evening at 4:30. The program is being sponsored by the Ouachita Gospel Singing Club.

Frauds Revealed In GI Allotments, Army Announces

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 —UP— The Army disclosed Saturday that illegal dependency allotment claims by GIs' are costing the government an estimated $18 million a year.

It said an Army-wide crackdown is planned. Soldiers who filed false claims and dependents who received them illegally will be prosecuted by proper military and civil courts.

A preliminary six-months investigation, among U. S. troops in Puerto Rico and in limited parts of the continental United States, already has exposed frauds "in excess of $1,000,000" a year, the Army said. Principally, the frauds have been in "Class Q" allotments.

"Even greater sums are expected to be saved as indications of non-entitlement are studied further," the Army asserted.

The Class Q allotment is basically for an enlisted man's dependents for whom the government is unable to provide adequate living quarters. But it also may be issued to secondary dependents, such as parents, rather than direct dependents—wives and children.

The Army said most fraud cases found thus far have been in the secondary class. To qualify, a secondary dependent must be reliant upon the soldier for at least one-half of his support.

The government pays out about $732 million a year in 517,000 Class Q allotments. Some $72 million of this goes to secondary dependents.

"A sampling" of 308 Class Q allotments in the United States showed 70 cases, or 22 per cent, were fraudulent.

If that percentage exists throughout the Army—and officials expect it will be—the annual illegal claims would total about $18 million a year.

The fraud ratio was even higher in Puerto Rico. The Army studied 7,497 allotment claims there and disapproved 2,118, or 39 per cent.

Oil Marketeers To Meet In Alexandria

The Louisiana Oil Marketers association will hold its quarterly directors' meeting at the Hotel Bentley in Alexandria Tuesday, Harry Huber, of Lake Charles, president of LOMA, has announced.

Officers of LOMA besides Huber are August L. Krell, Leesville, 1st vice-president; Curtis Parker, Shreveport, 2nd vice-president; Jesse Boyd, Jr., Glenmora, secretary and R. E. Elliott, New Orleans, treasurer.

Directors are Gus Bouzon, Empire, first congressional district; Alvin B. Crais, LaPlace, second congressional district; Ted Allis, Abbeville, third congressional district; Houston H. Holt, Bossier City, fourth congressional district; J. M. Menefee, Monroe, fifth congressional district; Lawson L. Lard, Denham Springs, sixth congressional district; Miss Mary Ball, Alexandria, eight congressional district; C. D. Brown, director-at-large and Robert K. Butcher, Shreveport, executive director.

GIVES CAR TO OUACHITA HIGH—J. H. "Slim" Scogins, sales manager at McCain-Richards, is shown as he turned over to Tom Wilson, Ouachita parish high school driving instructor, the keys to a 1953 Ford donated to the driver's training program. Looking on as the presentation is made is J. W. Richards, vice-president of the company.

St Matthews Delegates Named For Conference

Delegates to the Louisiana Student's council convention in Baton Rouge have recently been chosen by the St. Matthew's High School faculty and student body. Boys and girls who will represent the school in the sessions of this popular student body gathering scheduled for Tuesday at L. S. U. October 20 are: Miss Yvonne Mansour, senior and president of the St. Matthew's student body; Miss Sue Turner and Salvador Pitarro of the junior class; Dickie Heller; and Philip Lisotta of the senior class.

The students will be leaving by car early Tuesday morning with the Rev. David Dabria of St. Matthew's Church.

It is true homecoming day is already among memories of the past, and is filed away with a no victory score, but rich benefits derived from the Start-Irish encounter are indeed ripe in the minds of all pupil participants. Reactions reflecting a sense of true values in the matter hav been given as follows by students in the school:

Miss Ida Lena Anzelmo had this to say: "I think we should all be proud of the Fighting Irish and of Coach Jay Broussard as well as Coach Sweet" . . . and Miss Connie Ticheli stated: "Although the Irish didn't win they put up a fine fight" . . . Miss Judy Landreaux believes the school has every reason to feel proud of its team, for the boys worked hard, and there is always another time — to win.

Students during the coming week will have the opportunity again to participate in the Forty Hours Devotion to be held in St. Matthew's Church Sunday through Tuesday. Various groups will make the Holy Hour and Father Manfred, OFM of West Monroe, will lead the students in conferences on Monday and Tuesday. The Forty Hours Devotion is an annual observance held in all Catholic Churches over the world in reparation to God for sins committed particularly against the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Following are officers for the ensuing year who figured in installation ceremonies October 16:

Yvonne Mansour, president student body of St. Matthew's High; J. D. Cascio, vice - president student body; Carole Tonore, secretary student body and yearbook editor; Albert Thibeaux, treasurer; Philip Lisotta, Prefect of Sodality; Vita Jean Zagone, president Library club; Eddie Pohlman, Red cross chairman; Ida Lena Anzelmo, president French club; Charles Greene, vice-president French club; Dickie Heller, president senior class; Anna Marie Danna, vice - president senior class; Salvador Pitarro, president junior class; Donald Saucier, vice - president junior class; Veronica Danna, president sophomore class; Frank Brown, vice - president sophomore class; J C.. Zagone, president freshman class; Linda Scalia, vice-president freshman class; Betty Britt, captain of Matthuettes.

Danger Of Fires May Be Lessened

Danger of fires may be lessened if care is used by hunters who go into the woods for the opening of squirrel season October 20, L. D. Young, Jr., director of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission, emphasized today.

Precaution is asked by the commission director of thousands of nimrods who have scheduled camp hunts and shorter visits into timberlands throughout the state. Protracted dry weather conditions have made leaves, branches and undergrowth tinder dry and fires started through carelessness may cause extensive damage to property and wildlife.

Extreme care during the drouth period is especially asked of smokers and campers. Sportsmen are asked to aid other state agencies in reporting and extinguishing blazes wherever possible.

Monroe Woman Is Contest Winner

Mrs. Mattie Edney, 315 North Fifth Street, was notified recently by the Bulb Growers of Holland, Inc., that photographs which she had made of Holland bulbs growing in her garden had been judged worthy of a prize.

The local woman was named as one of the winners out of more than 100 entries in the nation-wide bulb, garden and photo contest. She said that she planted the Holland bulbs in the spring and took care of them as she usually does any fine planting. No sepecial effort was exerted to produce the fine specimens of the colorful flowers, she said.

The letter further said that a prize for her winning photograph would be sent in the near future. Mrs. Edney said that she had no idea what the prize would be, but that she had been informed that the first prize was an all expense paid trip to Holland during the blooming season.

ICC Studies Plea For Mississippi Rail Freight Hike

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 17 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has taken under advisement a request for a 15 per cent boost in intrastate freight rates for all commodities hauled by Mississippi rail carriers.

Assistant Atty. Gen. James Kendall said today the ICC had been asked by rail carriers to overrule a decision by the Mississippi Public Service Commission denying such an increase.

Several months ago, the Public Service Commission held that intrastate rates could not be raised on all commodities to match ICC rate hikes allowed on interstate shipments by rail.

The commission did allow the increase on some commodities, ruling out the others as negative to the economy of Mississippi.

Kendall, accompanied by Chairman Alton Massey of Kosciusko of the Public Service Commission, recently returned from Washington where they argued against the upsetting of the state commission's ruling.

SADDLE REPORTED STOLEN

L. C. McCaskill, 1311 South First Street, reported to city detectives Friday that a $160 saddle had been stolen from his garage. McCaskill said the saddle had been in the garage Thursday, and that he noticed it was missing Friday.

The saddle was brown leather with a yellow quilted seat.

City detectives are investigating the case.

Nation Eyes Bagasse From La. Sugar Mills

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (Special) —Lowly bagasse from Louisiana sugar mills has caught the eye of the nation and could bring a multi-million dollar newsprint industry to the Pelican State, latest studies indicate.

Until recently, the man on the street in the 46 states that grow little, if any, sugar cane, had never heard the word bagasse. When he did hear about it, he probably didn't know what it meant until he read about it.

This is understandable since Louisiana with an estimated 500,000 tons or more annually, and Florida, with about o -fifth of that amount, stand practically alone in this country as growers of sugar cane.

Knowledge concerning bagasse is spreading, however, with the rising cost of increasingly scarce newsprint. Newspaper publishers and industry in general are looking eagerly toward a source that might increase this country's diminishing supply of raw material for newsprint.

Sen. Allen Ellender, recently returned from a tour of the world, took note of the situation, and commented, "My hope is that the department of commerce will do all it can to encourage the commercial processing of this sugar cane waste into newsprint, if this is at all possible."

One company, the Valentine Pulp and Paper Co., has faith that it is possible — and commercially so.

In February, the company was granted a certificate for accelerated tax amortization for construction of a small newsprint mill near Lockport, La., which will utilize bagasse. This mill, costing approximately $2,600,000, will have an estimated yield of 50 tons per day. It will be completed in early 1954.

A special antitrust subcommittee of the house committee on the judiciary of which Congressman Edwin E. Willis is a member, believes that it is possible also.

Fully aware that a shortage of newsprint throughout the world could be dangerous to democracy at a time when it is more vital than ever that news be freely distributed, the subcommittee undertook a study of the newsprint problem, dealing in particular with the possibilities of bagasse as a source.

Working with the subcommittee was the department of commerce and its national bureau of standards as well as other government laboratories.

The study included extensive comparisons of newsprint made from bagasse with standard newsprint and the results were highly encouraging.

Trials include manufacture of newsprint and the results were highly encouraging.

Trials include manufacture of newsprint from bagasse on a pilot scale by various processes at the pilot paper mill of the bureau and exhaustive physical testing of such newsprint in comparison with standard newsprint.

The United States Government Printing Office, as did a panel of newspaper executives, evaluated the printability of newsprint manufactured from bagasse, comparing it with the standard newsprint.

A sample issue of the Congressional Record was printed on the bagasse newsprint.

According to the subcommittee report, just released, tests conducted "indicate that it is technologically feasible to produce out of whole bagasse a newsprint satisfactory in all respects and superior in some for use as newsprint."

Production costs for this paper were said to compare favorably with those for manufacturing standard newsprint paper.

According to statistics, the bagasse production of this country varies from 750,000 to 900,000 tons annually.

Of that amount, approximately 250,000 tons is presently used in production of paper board.

The remainder is burned, either as a fuel, or to dispose of it.

This country's annual production of bagasse is enough to support at least two economic mills producing newsprint from the waste, it is estimated. Louisiana, as the chief producer, would be the logical location for any other bagasse paper mills.

Sugar cane growers of the state, with the introduction of a full-scale bagasse paper industry, would find themselves with a Cinderella product on hand as the wastes took a sudden increase in value.

One ton of newsprint can be produced from two tons of bagasse, researchers say. It is estimated that newsprint valued at from $100 to $150 per ton can be manufactured from bagasse at a cost of less than $50 per ton.

Worldwide interest in sugar cane waste as a possible substitute for woodpulp in the manufacture of newsprint has resulted from the work of the subcommittee and the department of commerce.

Cuba, India, South Africa, Mexico, the Dominican Republic and Argentina are considering the possibilities of bagasse as a source of newsprint.

An immeasurably valuable contribution to bagasse research has been made by the northern and southern laboratories of the bureau of agricultural and industrial chemistry of the department of agriculture, which are located at Peoria, Ill., and New Orleans.

For an estimated 10 years, these small - staffed laboratories have studied the possibilities of bagasse as a newsprint source, according to Robert E. Stevenson, technical advisor to the bureau.

Furthermore, they have been interested in the portions of bagasse that, in some processes, would not be used in newsprint, and have come forth with the suggestion that the pith be used as an absorbent for molasses. Pellets for use as cattle feed would be made from the pith and molasses.

In its consideration of the newsprint problem, the subcommittee also viewed the problem from a worldwide viewpoint.

Hawaii has an estimated 1,000,000 tons of bagasse annually, it was learned. Cuba grew 6,372,000 tons of bagasse in 1951. Puerto Rico's annual production is more than 1,300,000 tons.

Annual production over the world is about 25,000,000 tons. Ninety-five per cent of the total produced is used as feul, according to Arthur G. Keller, professor of chemical engineering at Louisiana State University.

If it were feasible to convert the world's annual production of bagasse into newsprint, the yield would be more han 12,000,000 tons per year, or more than the 10,656,000 tons of newsprint produced in 1952.

F. STRAUSS AND SON'S NEW PLANT— Seen above is an outside view of the F. Strauss and Son's new plant, located adjacent to the mainlines of the Missouri Pacific Railroad. This gigantic establishment, containing many individual departments, represents one of the largest wholesale firms in the southland and is estimated to have cost more than a half of a million dollars. (Photo by John Fogleman, Staff Photographer)

F. Strauss And Son's Big New Home Displayed

This week, F. Strauss and Son held an open house for their customers and suppliers in their new home, located adjacent to the Missouri Pacific mainline on DeSiard road. The cost of this new building is estimated to have exceeded more than a half million dollars. It is 500 feet long and 200 ft. wide and is situated on 17 acres of land and resembles a machine - built mountain. The footage of this building is more than 100,000 square feet.

F. Strauss and Son, distributors of Falstaff and Budweiser beer, Shenley liquor products, produce, frozen foods, along with all staple grocery items, first started in Monroe in 1920 as a very small wholesale establishment. This new plant represents 33 years of service and growth in Monroe. With the expansion of their business, the old plant on Walnut Street became too small and the new location, not only adjacent to the mainline of the M. P. Railroad, but also situated near the main highway arteries, was ideal.

All merchandise of F. Strauss and Son is delivered by its own fleet of 38 trucks. Salesman of this company serve an area of 100 miles radius of Monroe, which includes northern Louisiana, southern Arkansas and into Mississippi at Vicksburg and Natchez.

This plant includes a reception room, four manager offices, credit offices, clerical offices, a large warehouse, an individual garage, freezer and storage room, executive offices, salesman office, a number of ripening rooms and an outside office for local and floor trade. It is equipped with 11,000 feet of cold storage and 70 tons of refrigeration is used in the warehouse and 22 air conditioning units are used in the offices.

In the warehouse is contained stock worth five million dollars and here machinery has been put to its best advantage. Fork lift cars, which lift and move wooden pallets of merchandise, weighing some hundreds of pounds, eliminate all back breaking work. Pitney and Bowles small tractors, pulling three crates of merchandise at one time are also used. Cigarette stamping machines, new reversible lever conveyors, separate loading and receiving zones for the beer, whiskey, and produce and grocery items, along with many other labor saving devices have facilitated much of the work necessary in a wholesale plant of this size.

Also in the warehouse are two large wine vats, containing 30,000 gallons of beverage each, in which wine is placed, and then goes through a bottling process and comes out under the label of Sweetheart wine which is made and distributed by F. Strauss and Son. The bottling equipment is the most fascinating of all. It consists of an unscrambling table, on which the bottles are first placed, then sent along to the fillers, which whirl the bottles onto a rack which carries them to a capping machine and then on to an accumulative table. From there the bottles are placed in cartons, and sent to dealers and bought by consumers.

All of the ripening rooms for bananas and tomatoes are found in the warehouse. Produce from all parts of the United States and some foreign countries is found in roomy storage rooms in the large warehouse. The ripening rooms are regulated at certain temperatures, and the fruit is kept moist and fresh.

A clever device, enabling the most efficient and prompt of service, is found in the shipping department. It is an electrical recorder attached to a long distance telephone, whereby conversations of salesmen calling their orders into the home office from different areas served by F. Strauss and Son are taken down word for word. The orders can then be filled and shipped out by the Strauss's fleet of trucks. Consequently, an order made on the afternoon of one day, can be filled and delivered in the morning of the next day.

This new plant, so modernly equipped, can assure the same and better services which F. Strauss and Son has given its customers and friends in the past. Monroe can well be proud of the record and progress of this local firm. This new plant, the progress, the service, and the existence of this firm is an example of the growth of American enterprise.

Municipal Zoo Deer To Be Used In Xmas Display

Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby has announced that two of the deer at the municipal zoo in Bernstein Park will be sent to New Orleans during the Christmas season for use in a display in that city.

According to a letter received from George Douglass, superintendent and secretary of the Audubon Park Commission, a program is underway in New Orleans to "put Christ back in Christmas." The purpose of the movement, Douglass explained, is to "get away from the pagan atmosphere which has been creeping into the Christmas spirit and advertising during the past years."

The New Orleans City Park and Audubon Park Commissions plan to stage a live pageant of the crib and stable in which the Christ child was born. Animals at the zoo will be used in the display.

In addition to the manager display an adjacent exhibit will be comprised of a facsimile of Santa Clause. A real sleigh and deer will be used. Stag white-tale deer will be substituted for Santa's reindeer. Each will be kept in a separate pen, with an individual house. The two deer sent from Monroe will become part of this display.

Douglass stated the deer would be needed for the three weeks prior to Christmas day, and that they would be well fed and cared for while in New Orleans. Details for transporting the animals to the southern city have not been completed yet.

Dr. Green Will Conduct Child Study Conference

Dr. John Green of the University of Maryland will be featured at a child study conference sponsored by Northeast State on October 31.

The conference is being offered by the college in response to requests of school personnel throughout this area of the state, according to Dean William M. Smith of the Northeast faculty.

Scheduled from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m in Brown Auditorium, the program is open to persons associated with health and welfare departments, teachers and school administrators, and others who work with girls and boys. Parents are extended a special invitation through this medium to attend the meeting.

Adults who are interested in such organizations as Girl and Boy Scouts and numerous other groups of their age level will find Dr. Green's talks helpful, Dean Smith said. Those who have studied under him or participated in special conferences consider his discussions both inspirational and practical.

Several principals and classroom teachers from the Twin Cities and this area have scheduled classes with Dr. Green at the University of Maryland.

He has become a nationally recognized authority in the field of child study. As a result, Dr. Green travels to all sections of the United States as a representative of the University of Maryland in leading conferences dealing with child problems.

Saturday's program will be devoted to a discussion centering around child study problems which are faced in this area.

Reds Use Poetry To Lure Miners

VIENNA, Oct. 17—UP—Communist propagandists in Hungary have turned to poetry in an attempt to recruit coal miners.

The Budapest newspaper Szabad Ifjusag, received here by mail, carried the following appeal:

"If you want to be the first to see a leaf fallen from a tree one million years ago, or the skeleton of a long lost beast, become a miner."

23-Year-Old Negro Reported Missing

Henry Lewis, 23, Negro of 116 Mangham's Alley, Harrisonburg, La. was reported missing from his home Saturday morning, the Monroe Police department reported.

Elizabeth Savannah, a cousin of Lewis, reported that he had been missing since the first of October. He is described as dark complected, weighing 134 pounds, five feet and two inches tall, and wearing blue dres trousers and a blue and white shirt when last seen.

Optimist Club Plans On Sale Of Yule Trees

Christmas is just around the corner. The Optimist Club members are of this opinion for they are starting their annual Christmas tree sale. By the purchase of a ticket for a dollar, one is entitled to receive a dollar credit on a fine Christmas tree when they arrive.

This project was initiated in past holiday seasons and has proved a great success. The trees come from the west and are most beautiful. They come in carload lots from Colorado and other western points.

Bill Dyer is president of the Optimists and urges the public to buy their tickets early.

The money that is raised will go to the fund that the club maintains for their sponsoring of the Little Bigger Baseball League and oratorical contests that are held in the Twin Cities.

Trees will be placed on the lot across from the Piggly Wiggly super market. Tickets are to be sold by all members of the Optimist club.

PTA Council In Session; Holds Sterlington Meet

Local P.-T. A. associations are finding the calendar crowded with activities during October, membership month. High on the calendar of activities was the Ouachita Parish P.-T. A. Council meeting held at the A. L. Smith School in Sterlington, La., October 14.

Approximately 50 representatives from 11 local P.-T. A. units assembled in the school cafeteria and were welcomed by Mrs. L. H. Brown, unit president and Mr. O. K. Bailey, principal.

Mrs. F. D. Luton, president of the council told the group that councils can be of inestimable value in developing local leadership —A particularly challenging problem to many local associations. Working as a clearing house a council is in a position to call conferences or hold discussions on good P.-T. A. procedures. These conferences are likewise an excellent means of disseminating information not only about P.-T. A. programs, but about community projects within these areas.

Recognizing this function of the council, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, program chairman, attempts to solve these problems through programs based on the area of greatest need among the local associations. Mrs. DeFreese stated that the council program of service falls into three main fields — leadership training, community service, and the extension of the parent - teacher movement. It is the responsibility of the council to provide the three types of training for local leaders by means of schools of instruction, group conferences, round - table discussions, and information classes. The emphasis for the month of October was membership committee work, and budget and finance committee work. This was developed through two workshop groups, led by Mrs. F. D. Luton on membership, and Mrs. Alex Winn, and Mrs. Garland Jones, on budget and finance.

At a short business session Miss Marguerite Norris of Claiborne School and Mr. J. E. Walker of Calhoun School were elected to serve on the executive committee. Mrs. F. D. Luton and Mrs. Garland Jones were elected as delegates to the fifth district P.-T. A. conference to be held October 29, at Bernice, La.

The next regular meeting of the council will be held at Highland School, West Monroe Dec. 9. At the close of the meeting light refreshments were served by the Sterlington P.-T. A.

V. C. Rives, parish superintendent of education, of Tensas parish, will welcome the group when the meeting opens at 9:30 a.m. The open discussion will continue until 12 o'clock.

Bienville Baptist Meeting Is Held; Moderator Named

The Bienville Baptist Association met at the Friendship Baptist Church, on Thursday evening and Friday, Oct. 15-16. Rev. E. D. Giddens, pastor of the Arcadia Baptist Church, acted as moderator, and Emmett Lee, of Arcadia, as song leader, and Mrs. C. O. Walker, Arcadia, pianist.

Rev. Aubrey Short, evangelist, was the main speaker of the Thursday evening meeting. Miss Elizabeth Ann Leo, of Castor, sang, accompanied by Mrs. C. O. Walker. Special music also included a quartet of student nurses from the Baptist Hospital of Alexandria, who are in training at the Northwestern State College. The quartet was composed of Misses Bobby Carol Downs, Louise Miles, Helen Faye Young, and Mrs. Barbara Chesson. Rev. Jimmy P. Crowe of the Baptist Hospital discussed the work there.

Dinner was served on the ground at noon on Thursday to approximately 250 delegates and guests of the Friendship Church by the local members. Much enthusiasm was evidenced in the reports of the various organizations of the churches. At least four of the churches represented boast of a history of more than a hundred years, including the Friendship Church. It was Bienville Parish that gave to America the Southern Baptist Convention, organized at the Mt. Lebanon Church.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Whether or not professional baseball deserves a place the Twin Cities is now being decided, and the decision rests with the baseball fans themselves. Home-ownership has become necessary if Monroe and West Monroe want to preserve the Cotton States League franchise surrendered by Shreveport interests which have operated a farm club here for four years. The fans are being offered a chance to become those new owners through the purchase of stock in the proposed Twin Cities Baseball Corporation. If the fans rally to the drive we'll have baseball come spring. If they hold back, then (sad to say) we don't have the necessary interest to warrant a club in organized baseball.

This is not a charity drive and should not be considered as such. A lot of people apparently are holding back to await a personal invitation to subscribe to stock offered at $25 a share. This is that personal invitation, because most of you won't be approached otherwise for the simple reason that the task is too large for the few spearheading the drive to contact every baseball fan personally. If you are interested, it's simply up to you to come forward.

Should baseball fail, the Twin City fans will have no one but themselves to blame. Too often last summer, attending games at Legion Memorial Stadium, did we hear the grumblings that Shreveport owners were not doing their best by their Monroe farm—that we should own our own club. Now we've got a chance to go to bat for a club that will be strictly our own. But it will take response in the purchase of the necessary stock to give us baseball in 1954.

Anybody who got the idea from a quotation attributed to Clifford Strauss at a baseball meeting last Tuesday that he is going to buy up half the stock himself is all wrong. Mr. Strauss, a trustee for the proposed organization and co-chairman with Saul Adler in the "big sales" division, will personally buy ten shares for $250. He has set as a personal goal the contact of ten other persons who might purchase the same amount.

Mr. Strauss isn't denying he challenged that one thousand prospective small owners would come in with half shares at $12.50 each. His thinking is showing its soundness by the fact that, through a check with trustees yesterday, not a single half share has been subscribed. This drive has been in the making for around three weeks, and the longer it goes it's more evident that Mr. Strauss' original thoughts on the matter are very sound, that one hundred shareholders at $250 each will come nearer swinging the deal.

Some $25 subscriptions have come in. It is the aim to give more fans a voice by offering low-priced shares, and many will come in, but it's going to take big sales in the long run to put it across.

There'll be another baseball meeting Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock at Hotel Virginia. If you are interested, be there. If you want to buy stock, get your check in the mail today through use of the "I Will Back Baseball" stock application published elsewhere in this sports section.

Notre Dame Fights From Behind To Trounce Pitt

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 17—UP—Notre Dame forgot its fancy football Saturday and stuck to brutally powerful line play to score 16 points in the second half and tramp Pittsburgh 23 to 14.

It was the third Irish victory of the season against no defeats. Yet the Panthers, 19 point underdogs, gave the team ranked as the nation's best a thorough going over in the first half and gained a 14 to 7 intermission edge.

But when Notre Dame's Neil Worden, Johnny Lattner, Ralph Guglielmi, Joe Heap and Dick Washington turned on their power, the visitors collapsed.

The turning point came after Pittsburgh stopped an Irish drive in the Panther 35. Lattner's punt was dead on the Pitt 7 and Bobby Epps, the Panther's most potent ground gainer with 55 yards in 13 carries, was nailed in the end zone by Frank Varrichione for a safety.

These two points left Notre Dame five behind, but the control of the play went to the Irish and thereafter Pittsburgh had possession for only 18 plays.

On one of these quarterback Henry Ford fumbled and Don Penza's recovery for the Irish on the Pitt 25 set up Guglielmi's first touchdown, a one-yard plunge.

This marker gave the Irish a two point 16 to 14 lead and they never followed up.

The second team paraded 74 yards on line plays before Washington fumbled in the end zone to miss a touchdown. But the reserves came back then on Washington's 27 yard punt return to set up a nine-yard end run by Guglielmi for the last Irish tally.

Score by periods:

Notre Dame	0	7	9	7—23
Pittsburgh	7	7	0	0—14

Notre Dame scoring: Touchdowns, Worden, Guglielmi 2. Conversions, Mavraides 3. Safeties, Epps (tackled in end zone by Varrichione).

Pittsburgh scoring: Touchdowns, Epps, McCabe. Conversions, Blanda 2.

Campbell Fired As Little Rock Baseball Pilot

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 17 (AP)—The Little Rock Travelers of the Southern Association declined to renew the one-year contract of manager Paul Campbell.

Campbell took the reins of the team last spring and after a promising start, the Travelers drifted to a seventh place tie with Mobile at the season's end.

Gen. Mgr. Ray Winder, in announcing that Campbell would not return, said only that he was disappointed in the team's showing.

No successor has been named.

K-State Uses 4 Long Sprints To Blast Colorado

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 17 (AP)—Kansas State's amazing Wildcats struck with four long - distance touchdown plays today to defeat Colorado 28-14 in their third Big Seven Conference football victory.

Today's success, with 14,000 fans looking on, assured Kansas State of its best season since 1934.

The first time state got the ball, Beryl Switzer romped 80 yards for a score. The others came on these long runs, 65 yards by Corky Taylor, 53 by Bob Dahnke, and 60 by Switzer on an end sweep.

Redskin Fumbles Help Hilltoppers To 2 Touchdowns

BY TED HECKATHORN

Capitalizing on two Northeast fumbles deep in Indian territory early in the first quarter, plus a shaky Tribe pass defense and a 66-yard punt return in the third, the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers rolled to a 28-0 victory last night at Brown Stadium.

The Tribe marched to the Hilltoppers' 30 in the final period, their deepest penetration into enemy territory, racking up four first downs in the process, but were stopped by the sterling defense play of end William Ploumis, a furor on defense all evening for the Kentucky eleven.

Western Kentucky struck for their first TD early in the first quarter, after recovering a Tribe fumble on the latter's 26. On the first play from scrimmage, Kentucky fullback Gene McFadden burst through center into the clear to score. Ray Nutter's kick from placement was good.

A few moments later, the visitors fell on another Indian fumble on the Northeast 26. Quarberback Jerry Nassano, whose passes were deadly all evening, shot a 22-yard aerial to halfback Ray Stevens on the Tribe four, from where McFadden slanted off tackle for the tally. Nutter again converted, and the score remained 14-0 through the second quarter.

In the third quarter, the Hilltoppers drove from their own 20, with passes from Nassamo to Jim Gunn'l, Max Stevens, and McFadden eating up yardage to the Northeast nine. Stevens plunged over from the six, and Nutter kicked his third conversion.

ith three minutes remaining in the period, Northeast's Jimmy Childress punted to the Western Kentucky one, where Stevens, on a beautiful run, scampered 66 yards to the Indians' 32. He was brought down in the clear by Tribe end Ronald Gunter, who was a constant thorn in the Kentucky's offense throughout. A pass from Nassamo to reserve back Jack Johnson was good for 21 yards to the 12, and after a 5-yard penalty set the Indians back to their seven, another pass from Nassamo, this time to Bob Ballieu, was good for the final marker. McFadden kicked the point.

The lineups:

Tech's Bulldogs Down Seminoles By 32-21 Margin

RUSTON, La., Oct. 17 (AP)—James Oliver scored two touchdowns to lead Louisiana Tech to a 32-21 ffotball victory over Florida State University tonight.

Oliver's tallies came on runs of 64 and 28 yards. Gordon Brown scored once on a 24-yard pass play and Gayle Wise scored on a 3-yard plunge for Tech. On the last play of the game, Milford Andrews intercepted an FSU pass and ran 35 yards to score. Charles Anderson made two conversions.

Jim Taylor and Leonard Swantic kept FSU in the game. Taylor made one of his two touchdowns on a 52-yard pass play originating with Swantic, who made one touchdown on a 6-yard run. Bill Graham made three conversions.

La. Tech	7	0	19	6	—32
FSU	0	0	7	14	—21

La. Tech scoring: Touchdowns, Brown, Oliver 2, Wise, Andrews. Conversions: Anderson 2.

Virginia Tech Falls To William And Mary

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 17—(AP)—William and Mary's Indian's cashed in on drives of 57 and 80 yards this hot October afternoon to defeat Virginia Tech's Gobblers 13-7.

Fullback Bill Bowman, crashed through the line for both William and Mary touchdowns. The 201-pound senior spun off right tackle for the final four yards in the second period and twisted through guard in the third from a yard out.

Score by quarters:

Virginia Tech	0	0	0	7—7
William and Mary	0	7	6	0—13

VPI scoring: Touchdown, Williams. Conversion, Beard.

W & M scoring: Touchdown, Bowman 2. Conversion, T. Martin.

UCLA Bowl Hopes Fade With Upset By Stanford

By RUSS NEWLAND

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 17 (AP)—Big Bob Garrett, Stanford's bullet-throwing quarterback, passed and kicked the Indians to a 21-20 victory over the UCLA Bruins today in the most spectacular football upset on the west coast this season.

The six-foot, one-inch T-formation skipper from San Marino, Calif., tossed three touchdown passes and kicked every conversion.

Garrett outshone UCLA's fleet tail back, Paul Cameron, who directed the Bruins to their three touchdowns before 45,000 spectators.

In the end, it was the accurate point kicking of the left - footed Garrett that told the tale.

The Bruins, ranked fourth in this week's Associated Press national poll and hitherto undefeated, were strong favorites.

The Bruins, pre-season choice to go to the Rose Bowl, and who may yet make the grade, failed in a last minute attempt to come from behind. The last gasp drive failed when the fighting Stanford Indians throttled Cameron's passing attack and got the ball on downs on the Indian 46.

Stanford froze the ball for the last few seconds.

Stanford scored in the first, third and final quarters. UCLA counted touchdowns in the first three periods.

Score by quarters:

UCLA	6	7	7	0	—20
Stanford	7	0	7	7	—21

UCLA scoring: touchdowns, Stits, Cameron 2, Conversions, P. Dailey 2.

Stanford scoring: touchdowns, Cook, Morley, Napoleon, Conversion, Garrett 3.

Kentucky Springs 32-13 Assault On Maroon Machine

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 17 (AP)—Powerful Ralph Paolone ignited a surprisingly strong Kentucky ground game that produced a 32-13 football victory over previously unbeaten Mississippi State tonight.

Kentucky struck for two touchdowns in each of the first two periods and apparently had the slightly favored State crew out of contention before the Maroons put together a 24 - yard drive and one for 22 yards that stemmed from pass interception for touchdowns.

A strong defense bottled up multi-talented Jackie Parker, the Mississippi State ace, and the all-American candidate was not in the game for either State score.

The tempo of the rugged battle was evident from the outset as fumbles figured heavily in the early going.

Score by quarters:

Miss. State	0	0	6	7	—13
Kentucky	13	13	0	6	—32

Mississippi State scoring: touchdowns — Stanton, Evans. Extra point—Glasgow.

Kentucky scoring: touchdowns—Paolone 2, Zampino, Platt, Hardy. Extra points—Hughes—2.

Gibson Run Gives Oklahoma Aggies Win Over Cougars

HOUSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A 97-yard touchdown run by Halfback Dorsey Gibson with less than three minutes to play gave Oklahoma A. and M. a 14-7 victory over the University of Houston tonight in an important Missouri Valley Conference game.

On the first play after the Aggies had stopped a Houston threat with a pass interception, Gibson broke through right tackle and cut to the sideline, he picked up an escort in End Kenneth McCullough around the 20 and raced untouched until Halfback Sammy Hopson made a desperate lunge on the Houston 10. The lunge knocked Gibson off balance but he stumbled over the goal line.

It was Gibson's second touchdown of the night. He plunged over from the one in the third period to enable the Aggies to pull even at 7-7.

Score by quarters:

Okla. A. and M.	0	0	7	7	—14
Houston	0	7	0	0	— 7

Oklahoma A. and M. scoring touchdowns, Gibson 2. Conversions, Andrew 2.

Houston scoring: touchdowns, Hargrove. Conversions, Howton.

Penn State Plasters 1st Loss On Syracuse

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP) — Jim Garrity picked up a blocked punt in the final minute and raced 24 yards for a touchdown today as Penn State dropped favored Syracuse from the unbeaten ranks 20-14.

Penn State never led until Tackle Dante Defalco stormed through to block Ed Albright's punt deep in Syracuse territory with the clock running out the final minute. Earlier, State, which had trailed through almost three quarters, put together a 55-yard ground offensive to tie the score at 14-14.

Syracuse	7	0	7	0	—14
Penn State	0	0	7	13	—20

Michigan State's Crusher Tramples Indiana, 47 To 18

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 17—UP—Michigan State crushed Indiana 47 to 18 for its 28th straight victory Saturday with an air-ground attack that Indiana could not stop.

The victory kept Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn's Spartans unchallenged atop the Western Conference standings with three wins. It was Indiana's second Big Ten loss.

Eighty-five degree heat kept the overflow crowd in shirtsleeves but failed to wilt the rambling Michigan State Powerhouse as it rolled to seven touchdowns. Three came by ground attacks, three on passes—one a 67-yard scoring gem—and one on a 58-yard pass interception.

The 47 points was Michigan State's biggest score this year, and its best offensive show since the Spartans racked up 62 points against Marquette in 1952.

Indiana scored first late in the first period on a 45-yard drive after Michigan State backed itself into a hole on miscue by halfback Leroy Bolden. Instead of downing an Indiana punt behind his goal, Bolden chose to run and was trapped on his own 2. Michigan State had to punt out and the Hoosiers slammed back 45 yards to score with quarterback Florian Helinski driving the last 12 inches.

Munn's second stringers started the second period and converted a break to score quickly. Indiana halfback Earl Holzbach fumbled a punt and Michitan State tackle Roland Dosch recovered on the Hoosier 17. Halfback Jerry Ellis swung around end to score.

The Spartans scored two more in the second period, then had little trouble scoring two more in each of the final two periods to humble the Hoosiers.

Score by periods:

Michigan State	0	19	14	14	—47
Indiana	6	6	6	0	—18

Michigan State scoring: Touchdowns, Duckett (2), Wells (2), Ellis, Lewis, Lowe. Conversions, Slonac (3), Yewcic, Lekenta.

Indiana scoring: Touchdowns, Helinski (2), Rogers.

Methodists Come From Behind, Nip Rice Owls, 12-7

DALLAS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Frank Eidom sped 92 yards when all seemed lost tonight to set up the touchdown that gave Southern Methodist a 12-7 victory and knocked Rice from the nation's undefeated, untied ranks.

Southern Methodist, battered and weary, had held the thunderous Rice ground game in check on its two with less than three minutes to go. The crowd of 50,000 was filing out of the Cotton Bowl. Jerry Norton, great Methodist back, had rammed for two yards then Eidom, a squatty speedster, took the ball in a try at right tackle. He got past the line, cut to his right and as a Rice man closed in, Dale Moore, another Methodist man, threw a terrific block. Eidom raced to the Rice four before Marshall Crawford knocked him out of bounds. In two tries Moore made two then Duane Nutt circled left end for the score. It was Nutt's second touchdown.

Score by quarters:

Rice	0	0	7	0	— 7
Southern Methodist	0	6	0	6	—12

Rice scoring: touchdown, Johnson. Conversion, Costa.

Southern Methodist scoring: Ring: touchdowns, Nutt 2.

Wildlife Group Plans Jamboree Next Saturday

A special meeting of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation has been called for Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at Hotel Virginia, it was announced yesterday by Floyd Martin, unit president.

Completion of plans for the unit's sponsorship of the Ouachita Valley Jamboree next Saturday night at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds will be tops on the program.

The unit will sponsor duck, hawk, crow, hog, and cow calling on the show if enough entries for that many events are secured.

Presbyterians Rally Late, Shade Davidson

DAVIDSON, N. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Quarterback Harry Hamilton, who earlier had thrown two touchdown passes, sneaked over from a yard out with 2:43 to play today to give Presbyterian a 19-18 victory over Davidson.

Presbyterian	0	7	6	6	—19
Davidson	6	6	0	6	—18

Presbyterian scoring: touchdowns, Hamilton, Avant, Counts. Conversion, Carter.

Davidson scoring: touchdowns, Thacker, Rowland, J. Davis.

Spiders Score Late 20 Points For Win

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 17 (AP)—An aroused band of Richmond Spiders scored 20 points in the fourth quarter today to outlast Washington and Lee, 27-19, in a Southern Conference game before 5,000 fans.

Jackets Explode For 36-6 Victory Over Plainsmen

ATLANTA, Oct. 17 —UP—Georgia Tech turned loose little Leon Hardeman and a pack of circus-catching ends on eager but fumbling Auburn Saturday to score a ringing 36 to 6 victory and go through its 31st game without loss.

A capacity crowd of 39,500 saw Tech explode with its advertised power for the first time this year and go through and above the Auburn defense almost at will.

But Auburn fumbles set up four of the drives—fumbles forced by jarring Tech tackles—and the visitors were denied a score of their own when halfback Bobby Duke lost the ball going into the end zone.

Hardeman, squatty five-foot seven halfback, scored the first Engineers' touchdown in the first period as he skirted right end for 16 yards. He scored again just after the second half on a darting 39-yard gallop.

The Engineers picked up two more scores on sensational pass plays started by quarterbacks Bill Brigman and Wade Mitchell. Tech also scored on a 13-yard field goal by Burton Grant and again on a two-yard touch-down buck by George Humphreys in the closing minutes.

Auburn picked up its lone touchdown in the fourth period against Tech third and fourth - stringers when Joe Davis, a kicking specialist, dashed 13 yards for his first touchdown in college football.

Fob James Jr., Auburn's top running threat, four times bobbled the ball to start Tech scoring marches. Two of the fumbles came just as quarterback Vince Dooley tried to hand off to him.

Score by periods:

Georgia Tech	9	7	14	6	—36
Auburn	0	0	0	6	— 6

Georgia Tech scoring: Touchdowns, Hardeman 2; Sennett, Hensley, Humphreys. Conversions, Mitchell, Turner, Brigman. Field goal, Grant.

Auburn scoring: Touchdown, Davis.

Gators Slaughter Citadel At Will In 60 To 0 Rout

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 17 (AP)—Tommy Haddock, a hard-running senior halfback, hustled over three touchdowns in the second quarter to start the Florida Gators to a 60-0 rout of The Citadel in the Gator Bowl tonight.

Only about 15,000 fans were on hand.

Florida Coach Bob Woodruff tried many combinations in his backfield and all of them picked up yardage with ease against a Citadel team that was losing its fifth straight.

Freshman Jackie Simpson teamed at halfback with Haddock in the second quarter when the Gators broke the game open and he got a touchdown of his own on a 35-yard sprint.

It was probably the last college game for Rick Casares, star fullback for three years, destined for army duty next week, but he had to spend most of it on the bench because of a slight shoulder injury that has severely curtailed his football activity for three weeks.

In addition to Haddock and Simpson, touchdown production was by Malcolm Hammack, Dick Watson, Tommy Ives, Bob Smith and Joe Brodsky.

Score by quarters:

Florida scoring: touchdowns, Hammack, Haddock 3, Simpson, Watson, Ives, Smith, Brodsky. Conversions, Speers, Kelly 2, Casares. Cason, Lance.

Rejected Takes Oakland Sprint, Book Runs 2nd

ALBANY, Calif., Oct. 17 (AP) — Wearing down History Book in the last few strides, Rejected, from the King Ranch of Texas, won the $25,000-added Oakland Handicap at Golden Gate Fields today by a neck before a crowd of 16,943.

Golden Abbey was third, five lengths back, over the mile and a sixteenth race which decided the three-year-old championship of the Albany meeting.

Time for the distance was an excellent 1:42 1-5 and Rejected returned $8.10, $5.20 and $4.90. History Book paid $16.60 and $9, while Golden Abbey, a rank outsider, paid $15 for show.

Gridiron Double Bill Slated At Newellton

NEWELLTON, La., Oct. 17 (Special)—There will be a true "football double header here next Tuesday night when the Baby Trojans from Tallulah meet the Bear Cubs from Newellton at 6 o'clock in the "Battle of the Pee-Wee's." And at 7 o'clock the Tallulah Bees will tangle with the Newellton Bees.

Two weeks ago the Baby Trojans downed the Bear Cubs, 27-18, in a thriller. Then last week the Newellton Bees downed the Tallulah Bees, 13-12, in another thriller played in Tallulah.

L.S.U. Uses Two Backfields To Plunder Georgia

Davis Registers Winning TD For 14-6 Tiger Edge

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 17—UP—Using two backfields with equal devastation to Georgia's line, Louisiana State also kept Zeke Bratkowski's passes weathered - in Sunday to grab a 14 to 6 victory before 21,000 fans.

Halfbacks Chuck Johns, Charley Oakley anl George Brancato and fullback Jerry Marchand combined to take the Georgia line apart in the first period. Marchand cracked across for a touchdown from the one-yard line.

And in the fourth period a pair of hefty freshmen, 221-pound Lou Deutschmann and 203-pound Tommy Davis took over to finish the job for the Tigers. This time it was Davis who parted the Georgia line to score from the one.

Georgia's score came early in the second quarter when for a brief period Bratkowski, the nation's leading passer, got his air attack off the ground. He sparked a 70-yard drive with passes to Carson and Williams and then sneaked across from the two-yard line for Georgia's six points. Cliff Stringfield's two conversion tries for Louisiana State were both good but Sam (Nervous) Mrvos' attempt after the Georgia score was wide.

Statistics showed a respectable 13 out of 23 passes completed for Bratkowski for a total of 140 yards but the Louisiana State defense had his number in the clutches.

Three times the Bayou Bengals intercepted Bratkowski throws to end Georgia threats. One interception was in the end zone, one on the Louisiana State five and one on the Bengal 40.

Two fourth-period fumbles by Louisiana State's overwhelming but over-eager freshman back, Davis, one on the Georgia five and one on the 21, kept the Bengal margin from being greater.

Score by periods:

Georgia	0	6	0	0—	6
Louisiana State	7	0	0	7—	14

Georgia scoring: Touchdowns, Bratkowski.

Louisiana State scoring: Touchdowns, Marchand, Davis; Conversions, Stringfield 2.

Army Plays Like Teams Of Old To Whip Duke, 14-13

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — Magnificent Army, living up to its finest football traditions, stopped mighty Duke an inch from the goal line with a minute and 20 seconds to play today to preserve a 14-13 victory for one of the season's most staggering surprises.

For 58-plus minutes the aroused Black Knights of the Hudson, building back from a cribbing scandal which wrecked its powerful squad three years ago, had outplayed and outscored the nation's seventh ranking eleven.

But it seemed that this hard-earned triumph was sure to be snatched from their grasp by one lightning thrust in the fading seconds.

Jimmy (Red) Smith, a fleet Duke halfback, took the ball deep in his own territory and, on a double reverse, broke through the entire Army team and scampered like a scared deer for the Cadet end zone.

He had gone 73 yards — while Army hearts fell—before he was brought down from behind on a tremendous effort by Bob Mischak, Army end. The two fell on the Army seven.

From there Duke sent its powerized attack into action, an attack which had been good enough to smother four foes this year. Worth Lutz, Duke's hobbled quarterback and a star for the day, struck to the six and Smith went to the four and a half. Then Smith smashed to the one and a half.

With time running out, the ball was handed to Lutz. Lutz drove through the middle with all he had, but Army's line rose up and engulfed him to save the day.

Score by quarters:

Duke	0	7	6	0—	13
Army	7	7	0	0—	14

Duke scoring: touchdowns, Lutz 2. Conversions, Smith.

Army scoring: touchdowns, Bell, Uebel. Conversions, Chesnauskas, 2.

Futurity Taken By Errord King; Favorite Fails

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP) —Joe Gavegnano's Errord King turned in a brilliant performance to win the $75,000 Pimlico Futurity today by nine lengths while Porterhouse, the 2-5 favorite, finished last in the five-horse field.

Second choice in the betting with the crowd of 20,869 fans at $6.20 for $2., Errord King led all the way in the mile and a sixteenth event.

He was clocked in 1:45 1-5, fastest Futurity since Oil Capitol won in 1:44 1-5 in 1949.

War Doings came on for second money, outfinishing Nirgal Lad by six lengths.

George Kell, third baseman for the Boston Red Sox, tied a major league record by playing 157 games at third base in 1950.

LEADS TRAVELERS—Hazel Walker (above), owner, manager, coach, and player of her nationally known professional girls' basketball team, the Arkansas Travelers, leads her aggregation into Sterlington Tuesday night for a meeting with an all-star men's combination. Miss Walker's girls play according to men's rules. Miss Walker eleven times won All-America rating, six times won the national free throw title and won the international free throw crown twice.

Great Girls' Cage Team At Sterlington Tuesday

Sterlington is primed and ready for its greatest basketball promotion, the presentation of the Arkansas Travelers, an all-girl professional team, against the North Louisiana All-Stars, a combination of the best men players in this section, at the A. L. Smith School gymnasium Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The game is being sponsored by the Sterlington Lions Club as a benefit affair with proceeds dedicated toward purchase of an electric clock for the A. L. Smith gym.

Hazel Walker, eleven times an All-America, will lead the nation touring club which she owns into Sterlington for the engagement. Her squad includes some of the finest feminine basketball talent in the country.

The Traveler club will include Frances Garroutte, three - time All-America of Van Buren, Ark.; Bettye Spears, six-foot-two, Philadelphia, Miss.; six-foot Mary Alice Robbins, Oxford, Miss.; Jo Byers, a classy five-foot-eight performer of Nashville, Ark.; Ethel LaNoue, a five-foot-eight trick shot artist from Brooklyn, N. Y.; Martha Evans, a six-footer from Sistersville, W. Va.; and Joyce Cross, the six-foot-one beauty queen of Bradley, Ark.

The North Louisiana All-Stars, drawing on the products of colleges and independent teams of this area, will offer "Spec" Varnado, Southeastern Louisiana; David McKenzie, Nichols Motors; Drexel Burnet Northeast Louisiana; "Bones" Parker, Bastrop; Gene Hardin, Nichols Motors; Bobby Hodnett, Southeastern; and Johnny King, Northeast Louisiana.

Fumbles Boost Keydet Scoring Over Cavaliers

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 17 (AP)—Virginia Military Institute's Keydets converted two fumbles into a pair of quick third quarter touchdowns by the redoubtable Johnny Mapp today to sock favored Virginia 21-6.

It was the third defeat in four starts for Virginia.

Virginia's only score, set up by a pass interception, came in the second quarter on quarterback Rives Bailey's 40-yard pass to halfback Allen Barbee.

The Cavaliers fumbled six times and lost the ball on five occasions.

Score by quarters:

V.M.I	0	0	14	7—	21
Virginia	0	6	0	0—	6

V. M. I. scoring: toudhdowns, Mapp 2, Lavery. Conversions, Jones 3.

Virginia scoring: touchdown, Barbee.

Eli Settles For Tie In Big Red Scramble

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Yale spent a warm afternoon handing Cornell scoring opportunities and then killing those chances with stalwart line play as the Ivy League rivals battled to a scoreless tie before 25,000 homecoming spectators.

Five Eli fumbles were recovered by alert Cornellians, the misplays keeping the unbeaten Yale team in hot water a good portion of the game.

Four times Cornell had the ball within the Eli 10 yard line, including two advances as far as the four, but on each occasion the staunch Yale linemen dug in, three times taking the ball on downs and once by recovering a fumble.

Missouri Tiger Shaken By Iowa State In Upset

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 17 (AP)—Iowa State found a soft center in the Missouri line to rip through in the second half and upset the highly favored Tigers 13-6 today.

Bill Plantan, figuring in all the scoring plays, smartly directed the Cyclones to their first Big Seven Conference football victory of the year before 12,000 homecoming fans.

Iowa State	0	0	7	6—	13

Missouri State scoring: touchdown, Plantan, Lutz. Conversion, Plantan.

Nebraska Downs Miami, 20 To 6

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 17 (AP)—Miami's Hurricanes ran head-on into the pent-up fury of a Nebraska football team that had failed to win in four games and were hurled aside 20-16 today.

Nebraska	7	0	6	7—	20

Minors Ask Louder Voice

DALLAS, Oct. 17 (AP)—A majority vote instead of three-fourths, called necessary by its sponsors if the minor leagues are to have a hand in making the rules of baseball, was injected into a meeting of 22 minor league presidents and representatives of six major league clubs today.

It was the first of seven amendments to the major-minor league rules and National Association (minor leagues), agreement submitted by Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas club of the Texas League, who called the meeting to "save the minors."

Burnett argued that the present three-fourths rule prevented the minors passing any legislation because 26 per cent could control baseball and that the major leagues owned or controlled more than 50 per cent of the minor league clubs.

But, he said, he thought if he could get the sentiment of the group here in favor of it there would be enough major league clubs willing to come along to pass it.

However, he handed down the threat of a revolt if legislation was not accepted by the majors that would "restore minor league baseball to its former state of popularity."

"We'll have to pull away and run our own house," Burnett snapped.

The meeting is not official and what it does will go to the national baseball convention in Atlanta in November as recommendations only. The three-fourths vote would be used there and the major leagues could block any legislation offered by the minors.

An unrestricted draft aimed at ridding baseball of the chain system and a return to control of the broadcasts and telecasts of major league games in minor league territory are other amendments submitted by Burnett.

Only the amendment having to do with the vote ratio was talked about today. Tomorrow all the amendments will be voted upon.

The broadcasting and telecasting problem, considered a big one by Burnett in cutting attendance for minor league baseball, was the theme of Senator Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, president of the Western League, in the principal address today.

The senator has a bill in Congress calling for this restriction on broadcasts and telecasts: They cannot be taken into a minor league city where the club owner objects. There was such a rule in baseball until 1949, he said, but the Justice Department forced baseball to eliminate it in the face of a threat of suit under the anti-trust law. It caused a slump in baseball receipts from 41 million dollars in 1941 to 20 millions in 1953, he said.

Burnett and Bill Veech, former owner of the St. Louis Browns, said they thought an unrestricted draft would do away with objections to the reserve clause of baseball, now in the Supreme Court for decision.

An unrestricted draft would mean that all players could be drafted provided they gave their consent instead of the restriction of the present time which allows only one from a club.

Riley, Rawls Play Final Round For Texas Open Title

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 17 (AP) Fort Worth amateur Polly Riley and Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., professional, today advanced into the finals of the 18th annual Women's Texas Open with identical 3 and 2 victories at River Crest Country Club.

They will meet tomorrow over 36 holes for the championship.

Miss Riley, a co-medalist with Mrs. Babe Zaharias, took a 6-up advantage over Betty MacKinnon, Mt. Pleasant, Tex., professional, after seven holes today. Miss MacKennon, five down through the 11th, staged a mild rally but time ran out on her. Miss Riley shot a 35, two under women's par, going out.

Miss Rawls, who yesterday ousted Mrs. Zaharias from the tournament, grabbed a one-hole lead at the sixth over Betty Jameson, San Antonio, and hung on until the 13th, where Miss Jameson missed an 18-inch putt to go two down. Miss Jameson three-putted the 14th green, her third straight, to lose to Miss Rawls' par five, and they halved the next two holes.

Surprising Texas Aggies Roll Over Christians, 20-7

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 17 (AP) —Texas A. and M.'s amazing Aggies, a team that wasn't supposed to have a thing this season, today showed Texas Christian University at unbeatable football hand: power, passing and savage defense and tacked up a 20-7 victory.

The Aggies beat the Horned Frogs even worse than the scoreboard showed, with only a leaky pass defense in the final quarter responsible for Texas Christian's touchdown.

A crowd of 32,000 watched the southwest conference game.

Two second quarter touchdowns and another in the fourth kept Texas A. and M.'s unbeaten record intact. And it was the passing and running of Don Ellis, the Aggies quick little quarterback, that again gave A. and M. the victory.

Ellis smashed 19 yards for A. and M.'s first touchdown and one for its last tally. In between, Don Kachtik bulled his way 42 yards for a touchdown and Elwood Kettler and Eric Miller booted the extra points.

Score by quarters:

Texas A. and M.	0	14	0	6—	20
Texas Christian	0	0	0	7—	7

Texas A. and M. scoring: touchdowns, Ellis 2, Kachtik. Conversions, Kettler.

T. C. U. scoring: touchdowns, Sanford; Conversion, Sanford.

California Given Big Fight Before San Jose Yields

BERKLEY, Calif., Oct. 17 (AP)—California had to call on its first string backfield today to register a 34-14 non-conference victory over an underdog but inspired San Jose State football team.

The Spartans surprised the heavily-favored Bears with a solid running attack and a hard-charging line to gain a 14-14 half time deadlock.

But the passing and running of triple-threater Paul Larson and the quick thrusts of left half Don Marx wore down San Jose after the intermission with a four-touchdown splurge.

The crowd of 39,000 spectators was brought to its feet shortly after the fourth quarter started when Cal's sophomore quarterback Mike Casey picked off a mid-air fumble by San Jose State on his own goal line and rambled 84 yards before being run out of bounds on the Spartans 16.

Four plays later, left half Johnny Wilson hit right tackles for three yards and the final score.

Score by quarters:

Trojans Plaster 37 To 0 Defeat On Oregon State

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (AP)—Southern California spanked and blanked Oregon State in a Pacific Coast Conference game today 37-0, handing the sophomoric Beavers their fifth straight shutout of the season.

The Trojans scored five touchdowns in the first three quarters and added a safety in the fourth to give them a season record of four victories and the 13-13 tie with Washington a week ago.

The count against the Beavers now stand at 152 points for their opponents, 0 for themselves.

The biggest excitement for the gathering of 34,163 fans came when the score was announced over the loudspeaker from the UCLA-Stanford battle at Palo Alto. Toward the end the fans were afforded almost a play by play from up north while the contest here went virtually ignored.

A giant roar came from the Southern California rooting section when the Stanford 21-20 upset score was announced, for th. defeat means a serious blow to UCLA's Rose Bowl hopes.

Score by quarters:

USC	7	14	14	2—	37

USC scoring: touchdowns, Decker, Koch 2, Nickoloff, Han. Conversions, Tsagalakis 3, Koch 2. Safety: Mason (tackled in end zone by Thompson).

Rutgers Fumbles Net 27-20 Brown Victory

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP)—Brown snapped a three-game losing streak the hard way today, coming from behind to pound out a 27-20 decision over favored but butter - fingered Rutgers.

Four fumbles in the final period chopped the legs from under Rutgers and handed Brown its last touchdown.

Red Raiders Topple Indians For 1st Win

Bad Day For 2 Of Top Outfits

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Here's how the top ten college football teams, as determined by the Associated Press weekly poll, fared this weekend:

1. Notre Dame, defeated Pittsburgh, 23-14.
2. Michigan State defeated Indiana, 47-18.
3. Maryland, defeated North Carolina, 26-0.
4. UCLA, lost to Stanford, 21-20.
5. Michigan, defeated Northwestern, 20-12.
6. Georgia Tech, defeated Auburn, 36-6.
7. Duke, lost to Army, 14-13.
8. Baylor, defeated Vanderbilt, 47-6
9. Illinois, defeated Minnesota, 27-7.
10. West Virginia, defeated George Washington, 27-6, Friday night.

Huskies' Bowl Hopes Boosted With 14-6 Win

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 17 (AP)—Washington produced one long pass and used a pass interception to overcome Oregon, 14-6, on a slippery field today.

The victory kept alive Washington's hopes of winding up in the Rose Bowl. It was Washington's second Pacific Coast Conference victory to go along with a 13-13 tie with Southern California.

Sophomore halfback Bob McNamee scored both of Washington's touchdowns.

Washington	0	7	0	7—	14
Oregon	0	6	0	0—	6

Washington scoring: touchdowns, McNamee 2, conversions, Niles 2.

Oregon Scoring: touchdown, Reed.

Illini Build Big Ten Stock; Smash Minnesota, 27-7

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., Oct. 17 (AP)—Illinois' pair of rambling rockets, J. C. Caroline and Micky Bates, ignited to erase a 7-0 deficit and pace the unbeaten Illini to a 27-7 Big Ten football victory over Minnesota's rugged Gophers today.

The sensational Negro sophomore duo proved their splendid performance against Ohio State last week was no flash in the pan. They cracked the Gophers wide open in the third period.

Bates began a second half Illini outburst which produced 21 points by battering 16 yards for a touchdown. Then, in the fourth period he fought across for his second six-pointer with a 26-yard pass from quarterback Elry Falkenstein.

The other Illinois touchdown came on a 21-yard dart by fullback Stan Wallace as the Gopher defenders were caught concentrating on Caroline and Bates.

Paul Giel was a heroic, but insufficient performer for the Gophers whose only touchdown came the second time they had possession on a one foot smash by quarterback Geno Cappelletti.

Minnesota	7	0	0	0—	7

Minnesota scoring: touchdowns, Cappelletti. Conversion, Cappelletti.

Illinois scoring: touchdowns, Caroline, Bates 2, Wallace. Conversions, Wiman.

Jimmy Patton Sparks Ole Miss In Rout Of Tulane

Mississippi Rolls Over Green Wave For 45 To 14 Win

By JAMES SAGGUS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17 (AP) — Halfback Jimmy Patton shredded Tulane's line on four sparkling touchdown runs to lead Mississippi to a 45-14 football victory over Tulane today.

Patton's dashes came after sophomore quarterback Herman (Eagle) Day provided the spark that broke a 7-7 first quarter tie and enabled the Mississippians to run up a record score in the 60-year-old rivalry of Southeastern Conference teams.

Day, an alert young handoff artist, took over from senior Lea Paslay and showed everything a quarterback needs. He had pinpoint accuracy on long and short passes, unerring run-pass judgment and showed fine defensive work.

After Day set up the tie-breaking score with a fumble recovery and passed 62 yards to halfback Carl Blair for another touchdown, Patton took over. The 170-pound junior scored on a 62-yard pass interception return and runs of 6, 7 and 7 yards.

The game was a battle of lines in the early action before four decisive breaks and Day's performance turned the tide. Breaks set up most of the early scores.

Tulane recovered a Mississippi fumble on the second play of the game and drove 5 yards for the touchdown. Fullback Bobby Saia did the smashes that set up an 11-yard scoring pass from quarterback Pete Clement to Eddie Bravo. Clement converted.

Mississippi bounced back when stellar guard Crawford Mims blocked a punt by Tulane halfback Max McGee on his 17 and end George Harris recovered in the end zone. Paslay converted.

Mississippi roared back with three touchdowns in the second period, two of them on breaks.

Day recovered a fumble by Tulane's Jim Partridge and fullback Bobby McCool ran 16 yards on the first play for the score. Day's conversion was blocked.

Mississippi scored before halftime when Day passed 42 yards to Blair, who took the ball wide open on the 29 and ran the rest of the way. Patton intercepted a Clement pass and ran 62 yards to give his team a 25-7 halftime lead.

In the third, Bobby Childress recovered a fumble by Tulane's Wayne Wall on the Tulane 19 and Patton ran the last six yards on the second play.

Patton scored again on a 20-yard crack through guard, capping a 72-yard drive. In the final quarter, marked by wild play as both teams used substitutions, Tulane scored on a 10-yard dash by Ronnie Quillian and Mississippi on Patton's seven-yard end sweep.

Baylor's Crusher Mauls Vanderbilt To Tune Of 47-6

WACO, Oct. 17 (AP) —Baylor's "Fearsome Foursome" ripped Vanderbilt apart with four devastating first-half touchdown drives today, then let capable subs complete the job of routing helpless Vanderbilt, 47-6.

Quarterback Fran (Cotton) Davidson deftly directed touchdown drives of 65, 78, and 62 yards, with halfbacks Jerry Coody and L. G. (Long Gone) Dupre and fullback Allen Jones scoring on short thrusts—in that order.

Then Davidson helped account for the fourth tally of the first half with a nine-yard toss to end Charles Bristow on the goal line.

The Baylor second team pulled a 56-yard scoring jaunt by sophomore Weldon Holly in the third period.

Substitute quarterback Billy Hooper saw a big hole and galloped outside right tackle for seven yards and Baylor's sixth touchdown he snaked from the two for another tally in the final minute and a half.

J. R. Smith and Mickey Sullivan each converted twice and Tom Anderson once.

Vanderbilt's touchdown came with 21 seconds left on a 28-yard pass from Billy Holmes to Charlie Horton.

Score by quarters:

Baylor	7	19	14	7	—47
Vanderbilt	0	0	0	6	— 6

Baylor scoring: touchdowns, Coody, Dupre, A. Jones, Bristow, Holley, Hooper 2; conversions: J. R. Smith 2, Sullivan 2, Anderson.

Vanderbilt scoring: touchdown, Horton.

Double Main Mat Card Features Midget Pair

A special double-main event has been carded for Tuesday's wrestling program at Kallio's Arena, with Jack "Stinger" Steele vs. Rex Mobley in one half; and two 80-pound midgets, Fuzzy Cupid, Detroit, and Tito Istande, St. Louis, grappling in the 8:15 opener.

Steele, last Tuesday victor in three falls over Don Martin; and Mobley, winner of two straight from Jack Hader, will not only be locked in a victors' duel, but will actually be fighting a return match, since Mobley won a close verdict over the Iowan in the third fall several weeks ago, when he maltreated the referee, who counted him pinned a moment later with the fastest count possible.

Steele had plenty of trouble last week with the burly Martin, before finally bouncing off the ropes to pin his adversary after a rough and tumble battle. Steel had won the first, using his customary illegal hold-breaks and "helpers," and Martin had come back strong to take the second and even the match at one apiece.

Mobley, though he didn't need as many falls to subdue Hader, had a more difficult match, since Hader broke every Mobley hold by hair-tugs and finally lost the first heat through disqualification. The usually clean-wrestling Rex came back in the second to give the villian a dose of his own medicine, and finally won on a rope-rebound head butt that floored Hader for the count.

The midgets, fierce-looking little men, are certain to have a terrific battle in their opener, and perhaps docile referee Bill Barney will finally have two contestants he can control.

Longhorns Catch Razorbacks, Take 16 To 7 Triumph

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 17 (AP)—A brutish Texas line shoved the lightweight Arkansas Razorbacks around most unmercifully this afternoon and the Longhorns opened the defense of their Southwest Conference football championship with a 16-7 victory.

The Texas offense operated in spurts except in the second quarter when the three-platoon Longhorns roared to all their points in the space of six minutes, and in the end it was the eight-man defensive line smearing Arkansas' single wing attack that spelled the difference.

Texas started its first drive—an 81-yard display of split T jabs—late in the first quarter and culminated it with a 30-yard scoring pass from Bunny Andrews to Delano Womack on the Arkansas 10. Womack sidestepped defender Charley Hallum and went over untouched.

The Longhorns increased their advantage two plays later when Dougal Cameron recovered a Razorback fumble at the Arkansas 31 then accounted for most of the distance to the goal with drives of 16 and five yards. George Robinson went wide on a pitch-out for the last five.

A blocked punt gave Texas a safety on Arkansas' next try with the ball.

Score by quarters:

Texas	0	16	0	0	—16
Arkansas	0	0	0	7	— 7

Texas scoring: touchdowns: Womack, Robinson; Conversions, Jones, Branch. Safety, Troillett (punt blocked out of end zone by Younger).

Arkansas scoring: touchdowns, McHan. Conversion, Long.

Wisconsin Gets Range Early To Trounce Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 17 (AP)—Wisconsin's Badgers ran up a three - touchdown margin and wound up playing for time today in a 28-19 victory over Purdue, their co-champion of the Big 10 last year.

Sophomore Jim Miller scored two of the touchdowns that gave Wisconsin its fat advantage before Purdue—winless in four games this season—went to work.

Score by quarters:

Wisconsin	0	14	7	7	—28

Wisconsin scoring: touchdowns, Carl, J. Miller 2, Bratt, Conversions, W. Miller 3, Gingrass.

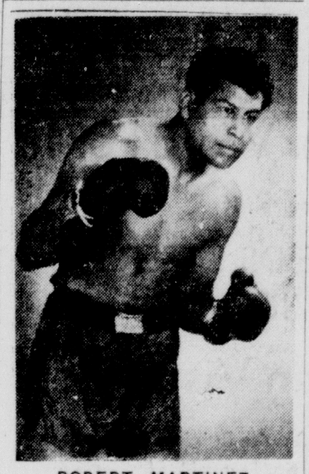
Ray Vs. Martinez Feature On Monday's Boxing Card

NORRIS RAY



ROBERT MARTINEZ

Norris Ray, the Bastrop Bomber, seeks revenge for a prior loss to Amarillo's Robert Martinez in a Texas ring tonight in the feature ten-round attraction at Gus Kallio's Arena.

Martinez, who was soundly beaten in a Bastrop fight recently by Clarence Cook, claimed that he had driven directly from San Antonio to Bastrop, had been behind the wheel 13 hours, and had gone directly into the ring, which may, or may not account for his severe drubbing at Cook's hands. However, those who have seen Harold Cornet's boy in action against top fighters, figure he could have been just an efficient if Martinez had been in bed for 13 hours prior to the bout. Anyway, Martinez has started he will ride a bus to Monroe the day before his fight with Ray and get a good night's rest beforehand.

If Ray tags him with a right, he will also get a good rest afterwards. The Bomber, who has been training hard lately, in view of the fact he has had to go the route to win decisions against bomb-wary opponents in recent bouts, may find an opening to unload his cocked right, or, on the other hand, if Martinez is as good as they claim, those customers who have been coming to boxing matches to see Ray finally get his lumps, may go home happy.

A good semi-final match has been carded, with ever-popular Cline Elledge, of Tallulah, fighting San Antonio's Danny Cardenas, a ring-wise vet, will K. O. Elledge, but fans who have watched the smooth-working Tallulahan win bout after bout, most of which came without advance notice, know that it will take an awfully tough fighter to put Cline away. Bill Williams couldn't do it, in the only bout Elledge has lost here, and Williams is one of the best. The blue-and-gold clad lad from Tallulah has taken some hard ones, and come back fighting. Win or lose, the Elledge semi is sure to be a crowd-pleaser.

Two four round preliminaries complete the card, with lanky Ted Robinson, Natchez, battling Robert Hancock, Tallulah; and John Crow, Monroe vs. Rhodric Savage, Oak Grove, in the 8:15 opener.

Maryland was the only team to hit home runs against West Virginia University's baseball team this year. The Terrapins hit three.

Terps Slam Door On Tar Heels For 26 To 0 Triumph

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 17 (AP) —Mighty Maryland, its split T sputtering before catching fire, swept to four touchdowns in long drives today to upend undefeated North Carolina, 26-0, in a game slowed by numerous penalties.

Before a crowd of 34,000 Maryland rolled 69 yards in the second period with quarterback Bernie Faloney plunging over from the three. Two 15-yard penalties against North Carolina aided the Terps.

Maryland scored again the next time it got the ball, storming 92 yards with reserve quarterback Charles Boxold sneaking over from the one. A 54-yard pass from Boxold to end Bill Walker set up the score on the North Carolina 16.

In the third, Maryland rolled to another touchdown on a 72-yard drive, fullback Ralph Fenton driving over from the one. A 7-yard pass from Boxold to end Russ Dennis produced Maryland's last score early in the fourth period, climaxing an 80-yard march.

Maryland	0	14	6	6	—26

Maryland scoring: touchdowns, Faloney, Boxold, Felton, and Dennis. Conversions, Felton, Bielski.

Navy Runs Wild, Princeton Takes First Loss, 65-6

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP)—A tall, young opportunist from Brooklyn, John Isaac Hopkins, crashed into stardom today as he led a well-drilled Navy football team to a crushing 65-7 victory over previously unbeaten Princeton.

The score was the biggest ever run up by an opposing team against Princeton, which played the first intercollegiate game in 1869. The previous high was 51-14 by Yale in 1931.

Hopkins caught two touchdown passes, intercepted one Princeton toss, recovered a fumble, threw a couple of key blocks and generally made himself a nuisance to the Tigers, who lost for the second time in their last 35 games.

Score bp quarters:

Navy	14	20	18	13	—65
Princeton	0	0	0	7	— 7

Navy scoring: touchdowns, Monahan, Craig, Hopkins 2, Hepworth 2, Beagle, Guest, Knotts, Padberg. Conversions, Thomas, Gattusco, Textor 2, Mackenzie.

Princeton scoring: touchdown, A. Smith. Conversion, Martin.

Grigg Ramrods Oklahoma Past Kansas, 45 To 0

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 17 (AP)—Larry Grigg, Oklahoma's elusive senior halfback, scored one touchdown and pitched two more as he sparked Oklahoma to a 45-0 victory over Kansas in the Sooners' opening defense of their Big Seven Conference football title today.

A shirt-sleeved Dad's Day crowd of 42,500 had no doubt about the outcome after the first quarter as Oklahoma made three touchdowns in the opening stanza, scoring each time it got the ball. Grigg broke away for runs of 35 and 66 yards during that period.

Oklahoma	19	0	7	19	—45

Oklahoma scoring: touchdowns, Grigg, Allison 2, R. Burris, Herndon, Baker, Van Pool. Conversions, Calame 2, Leake.

Pass Gives Columbia Edge Over Harvard

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Dandy Dick Carr, a refugee from Harvard's backyard, threw the winning touchdown pass to Bob Mercier and played a terrific defensive game to lead Columbia to a 6-0 victory over the crimson at Baker Field today.

Columbia	0	6	0	0	—6

Columbia scoring: touchdown, Mercier.

McDonald Passes Michigan To Win Over 'Cats, 20-12

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP)—Duncan McDonald, Michigan's sandy haired passing wizard, passed and kicked the Wolverines to a 20-12 victory over Northwestern today in a thrilling Big Ten football clash.

McDonald staged an outstanding exhibition of spot passing before a crowd of 65,490 excited fans.

The eagle-eyed junior appeared in the waning seconds of the first three periods and accounted for every Michigan point.

Scoring passes to Tony Branoff and John Veselenak in the first half gave Michigan a lead to bolster its fifth place standing in the Associated Press poll.

Two Northwestern touchdowns in the third period brought McDonald back just before the end of the period to pitch a screen pass that halfback Ted Kress carried 49 yards for the score that put Michigan out of danger and locked up its second straight conference victory.

Score by quaters:

Northwestern	0	0	12	0	—12
Michigan	6	7	7	0	—20

Northwestern scoring: touchdowns, Weber, Chandler.

Michigan scoring: touchdowns, Branoff, Veselenak, Kress. Conversions, MacDonald, 2.

Something really Special -in POWER, room, ride, price

WE picture here a car that keeps an order book pages turning quicker than quick.

It is the 1953 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door Sedan—the bargain value that doesn't stay long on our showroom floor.

For this is the best-selling Buick in the land—snapped up by eager buyers who know something really special when they see it.

For your information, we present some SPECIAL facts.

It has a Fireball 8 Engine with the highest power and compression ratio ever placed in a Buick SPECIAL—plus, if you wish, the instant getaway response and utter smoothness of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow.*

It has easy-sitting-room for six adults—as much room as you'll find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

It has a ride unique among automobiles. The Buick Million Dollar Ride. The soft and steady and ever-level ride that comes of coil springs on all four wheels—a full-length torque-tube drive—a massive X-braced frame—a solid and substantial roadweight poised with meticulous balance on broadly spaced wheels.

But what makes the Buick SPECIAL so extra special is the low delivered price it carries.

It is a price just an easy step above the so-called "low-price three"—and a price that gives you more room and power and ride-comfort for your money than you get in any other car, except another Buick.

Benson Approves New Measures To Aid Drouth Belt

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 17—UP—A joint federal-state program for the procurement and distribution of hay to drouth-stricken farmers and ranchers was announced Friday by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson.

The announcement came immediately after governors of 12 states had completed a drouth relief conference and made two specific recommendations to President Eisenhower.

Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, acting as spokesman for the governors, said two resolutions were presented for the President's approval, one dealing with "the emergent problem of the moment" and the other with the long-range issue.

The governors unanimously agreed that the states, to the extent of their ability, should participate in the program for the procurement and distribution of hay for emergency relief.

Secretary Benson then interposed to make an official announcement of the co-operative federal-state program "to expedite the governors' action."

Under the plan, Benson said the federal government would pay one half the cost of transporting hay, or $10 per ton, whichever is smaller. The states would procure and distribute the hay.

"A definite sum of money will be set aside by the federal government," Benson said, "to be use in defraying part of the cost of transporting the hay." The amount of money to be set aside was not specified by the secretary, but he pointed out that allocations to each state will be based on the Agriculture Department's estimate of cattle in that state's drouth area.

If drouth conditions change, the plan provides that the department may set aside additional funds for a state as available funds permit.

For five hours Thursday, the governors threshed out the drouth problem. They wound up preparing the two recommendations which they presented to Mr. Eisenhower at a breakfast at the Hotel Muehlebach Friday morning.

Western railroads announced Thursday night they would extend for 30 days the 50 per cent reduction in freight rates and Southern states governors Friday asked Benson to intercede for them with eastern and southern railroads, hopeful of gaining similar benefits.

Pre-Christmas SALE

GRIFFIN-LOFTIN IS FIRST AGAIN!

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

'Twas three months before Christmas and all over the lot
Were acres and acres of cars to be bought
The boss looked 'em over with a curl of his lip
And lashed the poor lot man with a long blacksnake whip.

"You blankety blank," he said with a sneer
"Are they going to sit here the whole blasted year?
"You'd better get busy or as sure as you're born
"You'll EAT these used cars come next Christmas Morn."

The lot man got up from his knees with a sigh,
"I'll see that they sell, sir, or die in the try."
And so there in October was born the sad tale,
OF WHY GRIFFIN-LOFTIN SO SOON, HELD THEIR PRE-CHRISTMAS SALE.

YOU NEVER SAW SUCH BARGAINS!

A Dame

Exclaimed . . . "You mean a 3-bedroom, 2-tile bath brick home in Marie Place for only $3400 down!" Yep, we've got the goods at 1707 Milton! Not only does this new home have the above mentioned, but also among the 1500 Sq. feet of floor space are: hardwood block floors Coleman central heating; sliding door closets; pine-paneled kitchen with dishwasher & disposal and natural finish doors. Don't dally . . . dial today for a "peep."

Discouraged?

Having trouble raising the down payment on a home? Well, if you're a veteran and eligible for a GI loan . . . here's your answer! We've two new brick homes at 1201 & 1203 Hinkle Drive in West Monroe that are delightful. They both have 3 bedrooms and a tile bath; both have forced - air heating; pine-paneled kitchens with formica cabinet tops; storage room with 40 gallon water heaters and many more exciting features. For a pleasant surprise, ask us the price, If we sell it, we finance it!

We Didn't Shave

The price of this new home on Lexington in Marie Place . . . we whacked it! Among the 1204 Sq. feet of floor space are these exciting features: 3 bedrooms, 2 tile baths; one of the baths has a dressing table in it; hardwood block floors throughout; natural finish woodwork; pine - paneled kitchen with metal cabinets and a built - in breakfast nook with table. The carport is open at both ends making an ideal breezeway. It'll be a pleasure to show you this one today, so call for appointment.

Take One

Short hour to see the most impressive home in Broadmoor! Impressive for many reasons, but to mention a few: it has 3 cavernous bedrooms all with double closets; tile bath with tub, separate shower stall and a dressing table; it's of solid brick with a tremendous Roman brick fireplace in living room; it has central heat, 2-car garage, cozy den and the kitchen's a dream. The home is on a 200x175 corner lot and only $6,000 turns the key. Shown by appointment only!

Bayou Conscious?

Aren't we all? Here's a new brick home distinctively modern in every way and it's on the bayou "to boot"! From the white crushed marble roof to the mahogany paneled living room and den it's true value with these discriminating features; among the 1853 Sq feet are 3 bedrooms all with double sliding door closets; 2 tile baths with colored fixtures; central forced - air heating; an imposing fireplace and chimney; a dining room . . . and a flawless kitchen with breakfast area. It also has a double carport, water softener and lots of storage. Quick action gets this bargain.

For A Treat

Instead of a treatment, give us the privilege of showing you this immaculate home at 1309 College Ave.! You'll think we're kidding when we tell you it's 4 years old . . . for there's not a scratch on it! It's a delightful 2 bedroom home with glistening pecan floors; built - in book shelves on both sides of the fireplace; side screened porch; a unique kitchen with dining area; there's also a separate garage with a roomy storage room that would make an ideal hobby shop. Only $1250 down is all it takes with the balance FHA financed.

The Breeze & I

If you've been looking for a moderate priced home with trees for shade . . . look no further than 209 Circle Drive in West Monroe . . . for this 5-room home has 2 good - sized oak trees that within 2 years will provide all the shade you'll want. The home itself has 2 bedrooms, separate dining room, solid walls with wallpaper, roomy closets in both bedrooms and a 75x245 foot lot. $1250 is all the cash you need.

Screams

Of delight are all we hear everytime we show this new brick home in Broadmoor . . . and for good reasons. It's a 2 bedroom home with central heat, aluminum frame windows, tile bath with shower, Roman brick fireplace and planting box. The kitchen is thrilling! It has more cabinet space than you've seen in ages and the dining area is off the living room. There's also a garage and storage and the price is only $12,500. It's vacant and will show anytime!

Your Wife

Would be "tickled to death" with this distinctive home at 306 Hilton. And for good reasons . . . just to mention a few; it's a 6 room home plus a breezeway . . . with 3 bedrooms, separate living and dining room, roomy bath with tub and shower, and a spacious kitchen with an abundance of cabinet space. The breezeway is on the back of the house for privacy; there's a separate laundry room and an enclosed garage. The home is only 3 years old and in one of Monroe's best neighborhoods. It's your move now.

Nope

It's not high priced, but it is roomy! We're talking about the 5-room home at 2200 Gordon Ave. facing Barkdull-Faulk grammar school. There are 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room, new 30-gallon glass-lined hot water heater, attic insulation and a disappearing stair to attic. What's more . . . it's on a corner lot. The price is only $8500 and will show anytime!

No Soap

Nor scrub brush needed here. It's spotlessly clean and roomy to boot! It's an appealing home at 508 D'Arbonne in the college with 6 rooms. There are 2 bedrooms and a spacious den; separate living and dining room, a captivating kitchen; 2 floor furnaces, attic fan with auto. shutters and a separate garage. It's a one owner home and good value at $11,600.

Elusive

I'll admit they're hard to get your hands on, but if you're quick you'll get the buy of a lifetime! Here's a fashionable home on a well - lnadscaped 105x150 foot lot at 510 Sherrouse. Among the 1871 Sq. feet of floor space are: 5 rooms, 2 baths (one of the baths has a dressing table); spacious kitchen with General Electric dishwasher and breakfast area. There's also a carport with plenty of storage room. No financing worries for it's already financed and $4000 will handle. Call today for appointment!

AWOL Soldier And Custodian Held By Police

An AWOL army private, John H. Grant, originally of Camp McPhearson, Georgia, and a military police officer Peter J. Kowalkowski, of Camp Polk were arrested Friday night, the Monroe city detectives reported Saturday morning.

Grant, who had been AWOL for several months was arrested Friday by the Morehouse Parish sheriff's office.

Upon notification that Grant had been apprehended, the provost marshal at Camp Polk sent Kowalkowski to return the AWOL prisoner back to Camp Polk.

Kowalski took charge of Grant in Bastrop and on the return trip stopped at a Monroe night club. Grant left Kowalkowski at the night spot and attempted to charter a plane at Selman Field where Monroe detectives arrested him, after being notified by Kowalkowski that Grant had escaped.

Grant had been arrested previously by detectives, on Oct. 10 but had been released on orders from the provost marshal in Alexandria.

Riding a new type roll-a-coaster for all ages proved to be fun for Susan Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Stone and Susan Bendel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William L. Bendel, Jr.

Taking a quick spin in the children's motor boats are Betsy Taylor and Tommy Smith. In the background are Susan Stone, Curtis and Ray Smith.

Shooting for a prize at the rifle booth at the Ouachita Valley Fair grounds are Ray Smith and Bobby Taylor. They are children of Dr. and Mrs. D. Rabun Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Taylor.

Right, a midget clown, Johnny Bogonghe, was highly entertaining to Terry and Steve Noland at the afternoon performance of the circus. The two stopped in front of the band stand to view the activities in the ring.

Highlighting the week's activities in the Twin Cities were two circuses and the Ouachita Valley Fair all of which proved to be a lark for the youngsters. Pictured today are children at their best—enjoying the excitement and thrills of a circus and fair.

Music Guild Study Baroque Era

Mrs. Marvin Shipp presided over the October meeting of the Music Guild in the absence of the president, Mrs. Cecil Hill. The meeting was held in the lovely home of Mrs. C. A. Caldwell. Coffee was served with dainty sandwiches, cookies and assorted toasted nuts. Those present to enjoy the affair were, Mrs. C. A. Caldwell, Mrs. Wilbur Bullock, Mrs. Marvin Shipp, Mrs. Robert Wroten, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. R. T. Bliss, Mrs. L. C. Noland, Jr., Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. W. C. Hopkins, Mrs. P. J. Newman, Mrs. Rayburn Wroten, Mrs. C. L. Dillingham and Mrs. James T. Harris, a new member to the club.

The meeting was turned over to Judy Bullock, program chairman who presented the following program on the Baroque influence on music. Mrs. L. C. Noland gave the text, bringing out the thought that the Baroque period followed the Renaissance and was started by the Reformation. Baroque music was in its day and is today most appreciated by the churches. The greatest change was brought about by the popular use of the hymn which was created at this time. Many of our greatest hymns were composed during that era and the music of the Baroque period is becoming increasingly important with modern artists. A piano number, Fuga composed by A. Scarlatti during the Baroque era, was played by Blanche Hopkins. Mrs. P. A. Poag played Gigue by Canaris de Chambonnieres. A vocal solo was given by Mrs. J. N. Coon, Lamente by Purcell. Mrs. Dillingham played Conzoneppa by Buxtehude. The program ended with a lovely vocal solo by Mrs. Newman written by Scarlatti.

Taking a long soak in the tub is an excellent beauty treatment. As a further aid to relaxation, you might listen to soft music on your portable radio, but don't take a chance on bringing your electric radio to the bathroom.

Miss Emy Lou Biedenharn Talks On European Gardens

The Bernard Biedenharn's "Berbet" was the setting for one of the most interesting meetings Monroe Garden Club has had. The meeting was held on the terrace of pink brick with the swimming pool and fountains near by lending a cool, quiet atmosphere.

The setting was ideal for Miss Emy Lou Biedenharn's descriptive tour of the gardens of Europe. Miss Biedenharn recently returned from an extensive tour in England and Europe. She described the king's garden and later told the group about gardens in Scotland, Italy, France, Sweden and other countries. Miss Biedenharn pointed out that she voyaged with royalty who made up a garden cruise, and found that they not only loved plants and flowers, but they knew all the botanical names for them.

The essentials for a lovely garden in Miss Biedenharn's opinion are a feeling for design, balance, proportion and scale.

Mrs. Reynold's garden at 1007 Trenton in West Monroe has been chosen "garden of the month."

Mrs. Tisdale brought to our attention the "Litterbug" campaign that is going on in our state. The slogan is "Don't Be A Litterbug."

All members of the club were asked to participate by never throwing trash on roads and streets.

It was also mentioned that the club has gone on record in support of a livestock law in Louisiana.

Elwyna Wills Says Vows In Afternoon Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Elwyna Wills to Mr. Everette Lee Smith was solemnized at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon, October 11 in the Monroe First Baptist Church. Before the candle-lit altar the couple exchanged their vows with Rev. James T. Horton pronouncing the ceremony. Floor baskets of white gladiolas flanked the chancel rail and garlands of smilax covered the rail and candelabra bases. White candles in tall standards tied with bows of white satin were arranged at intervals along the aisles. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Courtlandt McCoy, aunt of the bride, accompanied by Mrs. Florence Albritton at the organ, sang "Because" and "Thine Alone." At the conclusion of the rites she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Misses Martha Nell Chappell and Sammie Camp, gowned in floor-length orchid net and lace lighted the myriads of white tapers on the altar and the length of the aisles.

To the strains of the processional the bride entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. Robert John Wills, who gave her away. Her gown, designed and made by herself, enhanced her delicate blond beauty. It was a beautiful creation of bridal pink satin overlaid with lace and net, worn with shoulder length lace mitts and a veil of net which draped to her shoulders from a crown of pearls. The graceful, long train fell in folds of satin. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of pink carnations trailing pink and white blossoms of Stephanotis. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Mrs. Don Wills, matron of honor, wore nile green taffeta with a short lace jacket of the same color. Her bouquet was of baby mums in shades harmonizing with her dress.

Miss Caroline Wills, sister of the bride, attended as junior bridesmaid. She was charmingly dressed in nile green net and taffeta and carried a bouquet identical with that of the matron of honor.

The bridesmaids, Misses Lorna Montgomery, Mary Lou Trawick, Mary Ann Griffith, Ione Hill and Syble McKay were gowned in nile green net and lace with oval necklines, fitted bodices and bouffant floor length skirts. They held old fashioned nosegay bouquets of miniature mums in the color tones of their gowns and tied with streamers of ombre shades. The tiny flower girl, Miss Kathleen McCoy, cousin of the bride, wearing a long dress of the hue and style of the bridesmaids, preceded the bride down the aisle, carrying a basket of small varicolored mums. She was met at the altar by the ring bearer, Master Vernon Barriman McCoy, Jr., who bore the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mr. Hobart Woodruff of Columbia attended the groom as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Messrs. Guy Gannaway, Norman Goza, Glenn Hamm, Graydell Warner and W. S. McGuffie.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. R. J. Wills was becomingly gowned in charcoal Matsuma crepe with pink accessories. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Lorena Pettit, chose black crepe with a corsage of pink carnations.

The parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Smith of Willets, Calif., who recently visited the bride's family, and who formerly resided in Columbia, were unable to be present at the wedding. The bride's gifts to her attendants were earrings and the groom presented ties to the gentlemen.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the recreation room of the church. The many-tiered wedding cake amid white candles and flowers, was placed on a table covered with an exquisite crocheted cloth, a gift of a close friend of the bride's mother, Miss Nena Baysinger. At another lace covered table, fruit punch and petit fours were served. Alternating at the punch bowl and guest book were Misses Vena and Nena Baysinger, twin sisters of Joplin, Mo., Mrs. Kay Dunnaway and Mrs. Opal Creasy. Assisting in the courtesies to the many friends present were Mrs. B. R. Farmer of Ruston, Mrs. V. E. Lewis of Alexandria, Misses Mary Sue Coates, Dell Moore, Betty Spurlock, Geraldine Weir, LaRue Pettit, Mrs. L. B. Pettit and Mrs. Joe Lively.

The bride and groom left for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will live while the groom, who is an Airman 2nd class, U. S. Air Force, is stationed at Luke Field. For the trip, Mrs. Smith wore a blue-grey wool ensemble with topper of poodle cloth, small brown hat, brown lizard shoes and bag.

Recent Bride Is Honored At Morning Parties

Mrs. Ben Patterson entertained at a morning coffee last week in honor of Mrs. Charles A. Stringfellow, the former Miss Janice Ann Renner, of Peoria, Ill.

Coffee and assorted cookies were served to the folloing guests between ten and eleven o'clock: Mrs. Claude Acree, Mrs. Don Belcher, Mrs. R. H. Dinkle, Mrs. John J. Dorsey, Jr., Mrs. Richard W. E. The following morning neighbors of Mrs. Patterson gathered in the Patterson home to meet Mrs. Stringfellow. Enjoying the occasion with the recent bride were: Mrs. J. B. Carr, Mrs. Don Carter, Mrs. D. W. Ford, Mrs. William L. Franks, Mrs. Clark Lowery, Mrs. B. A. Patterson, Mrs. E. N. Terrell, Mrs. Edmund Villa.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Posey announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marlene, to Ralph Abraham, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Abraham, 4020 DeSiard. The event will take place at the home of the bride's parents at 3500 Grammont, November 6, 7 p. m. Both are students at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mrs. Roy Cole, Jr. Feted At Parties During Visit

Mrs. Roy Cole, Jr., has been the inspiration for a series of parties during her visit with relatives here. On Saturday morning Mrs. James Frazier and Mrs. Joe Dixon were hostesses at a lovely coffee hour between ten and twelve o'clock in the home of Mrs. Maurice Frazier on the Loop Road.

An artistic arrangement of fruit and fall colored flowers centered the refreshment table. Other arrangements of brown and gold were placed at points throughout the Frazier home.

Gold corsages which matched the floral decorations were worn by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. John Middleton, and Mrs. Roy Cole, Sr.

Guests were received by Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Cole.

Mrs. James Moore and Mrs. William Husted alternated at the coffee service. Mrs. John Duchkar and Mrs. Lawrence Fox served cokes. Trays of sandwiches were passed by Mrs. M. S. Dixon, Jr. and Mrs. Harry Frazier, Jr.

More than ninety guests called during the morning.

Mrs. William Husted entertained Mrs. Cole at an informal luncheon Wednesday at the Country Club.

A dessert bridge in the home of Mrs. James Moore honored Mrs. Cole Friday afternoon.

High score was won by Mrs. W. J. Riley, Jr., with Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Jr., winning the consolation prize.

Enjoying the occasion with the honoree and hostess were: Mrs. Riley; Mrs. Myatt; Mrs. Benton Wakefield; Mrs. David Garrett, Jr.; Mrs. Jack Taylor; Mrs. Dan Moore.

Mrs. O. M. Grisham Hostess To Fort Miro Chapter DAR

Mrs. O. M. Grisham extended the hospitality of her Riverside Drive home to members of Fort Miro Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution for their October meeting. She was assisted by Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Jr., Mrs. Robert A. Baylor, Mrs. C. E. Buckley, Mrs. A. E. Guyton, Miss Marjorie C. Leigh, Mrs. Thomas W. Leigh, Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. M. S. McGuire and Mrs. Herbert Steed.

Miss Frances Flanders, regent, presided over the program and business meeting. Mrs. C. P. Gray, Sr., brought a well documented talk on "Marking of Historic Spots by the D. A. R." Mrs. Gray expressed the thought that "A nation without monuments is a nation without memories: and a land without memories is a people without gratitude."

Mrs. John C. Theus, Jr., speaking on "Suggestions for Local Markers" augmented Mrs. Gray's remarks and offered practical local suggestions. Mrs. Theus presented an inscription for a monument commemorating the land grant made by the Spanish government to the Baron de Bastrop, this tract beginning at the north side of what is now Park Avenue. The proposed site was accepted by the chapter and plans for erecting an appropriate marker in the near future approved.

Others giving reports were Mrs. Floyd Martin, Mrs. John Elton Coon, Mrs. H. Austin Miller and Mrs. C. E. Faulk.

The group reassembled at the Old City cemetery where with appropriate ceremony the D. A. R. marker was placed in memory of Mrs. Galdys Sperry, mother of Mrs. Walter Kellogg and Mr. Burt Sperry; and Mrs. Olive Shambliss Allen, mother of Mrs. H. Austin Miller.

Those in attendance were: Mrs. C. R. Russell, Mrs. J. B. Carlton, Mrs. J. C. Liner, Mrs. Floyd Martin, Mrs. Roland Brown, Mrs. George Hemphill, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Sr., Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Miree Fuller, Mrs. O. C. Roddey, Mrs. Shelby Meek, Mrs. George F. Retzen of Knoxville, Tenn., Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Sr., Mrs. Charles Stewart, Mrs. W. A. Whitfield, Jr., Miss Frances Flanders, Mrs. Duncan Cook, Mrs. Martha Troy, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. Harry Lemert, Mrs. Thomas W. Leigh, Mrs. O. M. Grisham, Mrs. M. S. McGuire, Mrs. Armand McHenry, Jr., Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. T. Ivy McDonald, Mrs. F. A. Jones, Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs. W. E. Leigh, Mrs. A. E. Montgomery, Mrs. David I. Garrett, Miss Eleona Brinsmaid, Mrs. Adelia Baylor, Mrs. J. W. Standley, Sr., Mrs. Bradley Waelder, Mrs. C. E. Buckley, Miss Marjorie C. Leigh, Mrs. H. F. Madison, Jr., Mrs. John Elton Coon, Mrs. John C. Theus, Mrs. H. Austin Miller, Mrs. Ernest Richard, Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. R. L. Junod.

MRS. JOHN A. BENSON is the former Miss Ida Belle Watts of Bastrop. Her marriage to John A. Benson was solemnized in Bastrop October 1st. Mr. Benson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Benson.

Miss Ida Belle Watts And John Benson Pledge Troth

On Thursday evening, October 1, at seven o'clock, Miss Ida Belle Watts, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Watts, of Bastrop, became the bride of John A. Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Benson, also of Bastrop.

The couble ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. James E. Allen, of the Assembly of God Church, under a grilled archway. Garlands of greenery entwined in the candle bases completed the semi-circle of greenery.

Selections of prenuptial music were rendered by Miss Betty Patterson of Monroe, Miss Beth West, also of Monroe sang "If God Left Only You" and "Because."

Ushers were Frank Day and Johnny Murphree of Wilmot, friends of the bridegroom. Ray Norris and Gene Robinson served as groomsmen.

The brides' attendants, Misses Melba Downey and Peggy Hinton wore gowns of green taffeta. Their arm bouquets were made up of large and miniature bronze mums tied with bows of bronze satin ribbon.

The maid of honor, Miss Billy Margaret Weatherly carried an arm bouquet of yellow mums. She was attired in a blue - gray taffeta dress.

The bride, entering on the arm of her brother - in - law, W. C. Smith, from Shreveport, was lovely in a ballerina length dress of Chantilly lace over white taffeta. The shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a petal shaped cap of chantilly lace circled with tiny pearls. A necklace of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, completed the adornment of the bride. Her arm bouquet was made up of white carnations and tube roses. For something old she wore an engraved signet ring of old gold, once belonging to her grandmother. The good luck penny worn in her shoe was also the something borrowed.

The groems' father served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mrs. Earl Ha[illegible]. Floral decorations of fall flow[illegible]re beautifully arranged [illegible] living and dining rooms where the guests were gathered. The brides' table was overlaid with white linen. At one end was placed the three - tiered wedding cake, tipped with a miniature bride and groom. Floral decorations for the table were the bouquets of the bride and attendants. Burning white candles completed the arrangement. Mrs. John Halley Sr., cut the wedding cake, after the bride and groom cut the first piece. Mrs. Fred Maroney of Farmerville, aunt of the groom, served the punch. Friends who assisted in serving were Lila and Nancy Patton, and Dolores McClanahan. Mr. Polly Montgomery presided over the bride's guest book.

Immediately following the reception the couple left for a weeks' honeymoon in Atlanta, Ga., and points of interest in Florida. For travel the bride wore a fall suit of blue with matching accessories.

Mrs. Benson is a graduate of Bastrop High School and attended Northeast State University. Mr. Benson graduated from Wilmot High and also attended Northeast State.

Out - of - town guests, who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith and daughters, Joan and Brenda of Shreveport, Misses Beth West, Dolores McClanahan, Betty Patterson of Monroe, Mrs. Fred Maroney and Mrs. C. E. Stansbury of Farmerville, and Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Rice of Shreveport.

Miss McCormick Weds In Searcy, Ark.

In a ceremony performed October 10 in the home of the bride's parents, Miss Dorothy McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McCormick, of Searcy, Ark., and Pvt. William C. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Harris of Pompano Beach, Fla., were united in marriage.

The impressive double-ring ceremoney was performed by the Rev. W. R. Vestal before an improvised altar flanked by floor baskets of white gladioli, greenery and burning tapers, which were lighted by Miss Thelma Evans and Miss Daphna Knight, who were dressed in navy and wore pink flowers in their hair.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming model of medium blue, sheer wool with black accessories. She wore a white feather hat, a two - strand pearl choker, tiny pearl earrings and carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Maid of honor, Miss Bettye Latner, also wore blue wool and carried a nosegay of pink baby mums.

Dale Ray served Pvt. Harris as best man. The ushers were Eugene McCormick and Bernard McCormick, brothers of the bride.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Robert Glenn of Little Rock, furnished the pre - nuptial music and accompanied Mr. Glenn as he sang "Through the Years" and "Because."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink baby mums and burning tapers in candelabra. Serving at the reception were Miss Betty Gentry, Mrs. Homer Harris Jr., sister-in-law of the groom and Miss Mary Ella Russell.

Miss Reba Russell was in charge of the bride's book.

Following a honeymoon in Florida, the groom will return to Camp Chaffee where he will entrain for overseas duty in the Far East. The bride will be at home with her parents until his return.

Out of town guests were Mrs. R. P. Lee of Monroe, maternal grandmother, Miss Norma Bailey, Griffithville, Ark.; Pvt. and Mrs. Lora Hart, Little Rock, Ark.; Miss Gloria Story and Mrs. Audria Eaves, Hendrix College, Conway, Ark.

Mrs. Martin Honored At Dessert Bridge

Mrs. E. B. Martin was honored at a dessert bridge and stork shower given by Mrs. William Inabnet Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. B. Inabnet on DeSiard Road.

A cradle theme was carried out in the decorations of pink and white. Each table was centered with a pastel cradle filled with pink and white flowers. Individual pink and white stripped ice cream squares were served with pink confectioneries.

Blue tallies featuring a baby picture were drawn from a miniature cradle.

Mrs. Jack Fluck was presented a silver teething ring for high score and Mrs. Alex Winn won the consolation prize.

Mrs. Inabet' gift to the honoree was a baby book.

Enjoying the occasion with the hostess and Mrs. Martin were: Mrs. Darwin Nichols; Mrs. N. L. Mrs. E. A. Porter, Jr.; Mrs. H. M. Rhodes; Mrs. Jack Fluck and Moncrief; Mrs. Dan Moore, Jr.; Mrs. Alex Winn.

Automatic defrost in new refrigerators is a helpful feature to a busy homemaker. But even though the mess of manual defrosting is eliminated, the weekly cleaning of the icebox should not be neglected.

National BPW Week Is Crowded With Activities

On Sunday morning, October 11, the Business and Professional Women's Club members met in the Mirror Room of the Frances Hotel to usher in their National BPW Week with breakfast. The tables displayed a gay autumn breakfast. At the officers' table the central decoration was a large wicker basket from which reached a profusion of brilliant flowers at one side and brightly colored fruits at the other. Down the entire lengths of the tables were placed fern fronds, and, at intervals, grapefruit baskets filled with grapes. Mrs. Madeline Hirsch was in charge of these decorations. The place cards carried out the Halloween idea.

After being seated, Mrs. Ruth Cooley, the president, welcomed the group and then each guest welcomed her neighbor. The club song was sung, followed by the invocation by the president. After the delicious breakfast, Miss Lynda Thompson, Miss Monroe, gave the reading, "God's Creation." Following the reading, there was singing, announcements, and a half hour of fellowship. Mrs. Louise Massey was at the piano and Mrs. Emma Lou Perkins led the singing. At the conclusion of the breakfast, the club attended services at the First Methodist church.

Bosses Banquet

The Virginia Hotel Ballroom made a perfect setting Tuesday evening, October 13, for the bosses' banquet. This is an event which takes place each year during the National BPW Week, members honoring their bosses and friends.

The Indian summer motif was carried out in the decorations. At the head, where the officers and their guests were seated, was an immense pumpkin with a profusion of fruits, grain, and vegetables tumbling out upon richly colored autumn leaves and painted magnolia leaves. Down the entire length of the horseshoe the brilliantly colored fruits and leaves continued, with gay candles shedding their soft beams. Miss Maibel Hood was assisted by Miss Alma Terry, Miss Olive Terry, and Mrs. Pauline Welch in arranging the tables. The programs bore clusters of purple grapes and leaves, with the club emblem at the bottom. During the seating of the members and guests, Mrs. Nell Bennett entertained with several piano selections. Mrs. Cooley, beautifully gowned in a soft blue dinner dress, welcomed the assemblage with a very cleverly worded address, after which a little game of jokes and songs was begun which added to the informality and good fellowship of the occasion. Mrs. Bessie Skinner led in the club collect. Guests and friends were introduced, after which three pupils from Mary Lou Young's school of dance sang and danced. These pupils were Glenda Sue Young, Curtis Rape, and Linda Lavender.

Mrs. Ruth Cooley introduced Mrs. Edna Vaughan, vice-president who presented the speaker of the evening, Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy of Ruston. Her subject was "How Big is an Hour?"

The evening's activities closed with the singing in unison of "God Bless America."

Bride-Elect Honored At Lovely Shower

CHOUDRANT — Miss Irma Lee Banks, whose marriage will be an event of November, was honored at a miscellaneous shower in the class rooms of the Baptist Church between six and eight o'clock Saturday evening.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with yellow chrysanthemums surrounded by yellow tapers.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Kidd Bennett, Mrs. M. E. Kidd, Mrs. O. L. Baker, Mrs. J. W. Sisemore, Mrs. Bob Golden and Mrs. W. A. O'Neal.

Mrs. J. W. Sisemore presided at the punch bowl. Individually iced cakes were served by Mrs. Bob Golden.

The bride's guest book was presided over by Mrs. Kidd Bennett.

If your baby seems to turn into an eel when you start to dress him, enlist the aid of his high chair. Shoes, socks and shirts should go on with squirming cut to a minimum.

PATIO PARTY—Mrs. E. R. Whitaker entertained at a patio barbecue Wednesday honoring her houseguest, Mrs. H. M. Chisholm of Vista, Calif., at Shangri-La, the Whitaker's patio and dock on Bayou DeSiard. Sterling silver ashtrays with an engraving of "Shangri-La" were presented as favors. Enjoying the occasion, (left to right) are Mrs. Earl Compton of Dermott, Ark.; Mrs. W. E. Kramer; Mrs. Whitaker, the hostess; Mrs. H. M. Chisholm, the honoree; Mrs. Ruth Hundley; Mrs. J. D. DeVine of Fort Campbell, Ky.; Mrs. Robert Archibald; Mrs. Everett Burgoyne; Mrs. Jack Gaines. In the background are Mr. H. M. Chisholm and Mr. E. R. Whitaker who barbecued for the party. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

The Durhams Will Celebrate 60th Anniversary

"Grow old along with me; the best is yet to be," so said the poet. And so it has been with Dr. and Mrs. George William Durham of Rayville, who, on October 18, will celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of their wedded life. When they were mere youngsters of 18 and 19 years, down at Montgomery they began this long life together, and they are still together, both fairly active, both able to retain that self - sufficiency, which, they admit, is an ever - increasing desire the older one becomes.

Their six children will be on hand to help celebrate the occasion of this anniversary, which comes to few couples; so will many of their fifteen grandchildren, and perhaps some of the six great-grandchildren, although they are all widely scattered throughout the country. Some of the sons and daughters are known in this section, as they are: Clyde G. Durham and George W. Durham Jr., both of Monroe; Mrs. R. S. Diamond of Rayville; Mrs. I. T. Robinson of Winnsboro; Mrs. J. O. Pinkston of Lake Providence, and foster son, Eddie Williams of Kansas City.

Mrs. Durham has been called the educator in the family, as she recounts how she not only helped to send their sons and daughters through college but also stayed at home with the three oldest children while their father completed medical school at what was then called Memphis Medical College. Both Dr. Durham and five of the children have been school teachers, also, with three of them still in that profession.

The religious life of this entire family has been in the Baptist Church, with all, "even unto the third generation," affiliated with that denomination. Since early years this couple has been loyal to a deep - seated faith, and since his retirement from active medical practice some few years ago, Dr. Durham can be found spending many hours in the reading and re-reading of his Bible. In fact, both of them are avid readers, keeping abreast of the times and the world happenings through their papers, books, radio and television.

Although the elderly doctor has retired, he states that he continues each year to renew his license to practice and keeps up his membership in the American Medical Association for sentiment's sake.

Many interesting stories can he recall of his early experiences with medical cases, and some of these he has recorded in his memoirs, which are in the possession of a daughter. And the tales which Mrs. Durham can tell of those early days, both of her childhood and of those as a young bride and mother, sound much like the truly pioneer times of our land. Despite hardships, back - breaking work, and long years of ups and downs, these two manage to remain young and alert in spirit, and the silver in their hair, the lines in the face, cannot erase nor dim the charm and grace, as well as spiritual sincerity of two who have come a long, long road together, to journey, still together, down that hill with "John Anderson, My Jo."

MARRIED IN HONOLULU — Mr. and Mrs. James H. Harper Jr. were married early in September in Honolulu. The marriage took place in the Barbers Point Chapel at 7 o'clock in the evening with Chaplain T. C. Hermann reading the vows. Mrs. Harper is the former Betty Flexmin of Monroe, and is the daughter of Mrs. Carrie Flexmin. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harper Sr. of Lubbock Texas are the parents of the bridegroom.

Purely Personal

Friends are welcoming Mr. and Mrs. Branton Kellogg and sons Branton Jr. and Bill to Monroe where they will make their home in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg are with their parents Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick on Park Avenue until they can have occupancy of their new home at 2019 Valencia. Mr. Kellogg will be associated with his father in business.

Quota Club Fellowship Is Awarded

Word has just been received by the Monroe-West Monroe Quota Club that Quota International's annual $1,000 Fellowship Award has been given to a 22-year-old woman student from Futamigun, Hiroshima Province, Japan.

Miss Sachiko Sugawa, the recipient, has arrived in this country, and has taken an orientation course at the University of Washington in Seattle, prior to entering the University of Kansas, where she will study English and American literature.

Miss Sugawa, who has a B. A. degree from Doshisha University in Kyoto, plans to return to Japan at the end of the current school xear, to teach in the Doshisha High School and Women's College.

Miss Sugawa is the tenth student of foreign birth to receive the Quota Club Fellowship which is awarded annually to a woman student from a non-Communist dominated country. Applications are carefully screened by the Institute of International Education and Quota Club International makes its selection on the basis of the applicant's scholarship record and field of interest.

"Quota is particularly interested in helping students who are seeking higher education in a field that will be beneficial to the women in their native countries," Mrs. D. L. Agnew, president of the local club, said today; "for example, our fellowship student last year took graduate work in public health nursing, in order to be able to help raise the health standards of women and children in India."

African Violets Studied At Club

MER ROUGE — African violets and gloxinnias were the topic for discussion by the Mer Rouge Garden Club at the October meeting on Tuesday evening. Mrs. H. C. Windsor assisted by Miss Ellen Faris showed a film entitled "How to Grow African Violets." Mrs. Windsor, an ardent violet enthusiast, gave helpful hints as to their cultivation.

Following the film, Mrs. F. M. Durham showed slides of beautiful tropical plants from the Fantastic Gardens in Florida. Mrs. M. W. Philips identified the plants as they were shown. Miss Mary Leslie Clark gave a most interesting talk on her trip to Baton Rouge for Girls State. The regular business was dispensed with. The president appointed Mrs. E. T. Davidson and Mrs. Leslie Clark as a committee to make the coffee table arrangement for the Morehouse Flower Show, Oct. 21. An exchange of potted plants were made. The hostesses, Mrs. Jessie Graves, Mrs. Erle Andrews, and Mrs. Albert Eubanks served delicious refreshments to the twenty seven members present.

Lovely Farmerville Party Honors Mrs. Johnny Atkins

Mrs. Johnny Atkins, who before her recent marriage, was Miss Johnny Nell Kilpatrick, was honored with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. N. B. James, on Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Guests were received in the reception hall by the honoree, Mrs. E. N. Kilpatrick, mother of the bride, Mrs. Winfred Reeves, mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. N. B. James and the co-hostesses, Mrs. Metz R. Tugwell, Mrs. J. A. Roan, Mrs. E. L. Mitchell and Mrs. L. B. Odom.

Miss Fannie Smith presided over the guest register throughout the afternoon. The guests were invited into the spacious living room which was decorated with picturesque arrangements of fall shades of chrysanthemums, fruit and autumn leaves. The numerous bridal gifts were attractively displayed on low tables overlaid with gold and brown cascaded with ribbon in varigated shades of lovely fall hues. Cornucopias, overflowing with fruit, nuts and flowers of the season were placed at vantage points depicting the harvest season.

In the dining room the table decoration centered around a floral "Wedding Ball" of yellow chrysanthemums suspended from the chandelier. Satin ribbon streamers trailed gracefully from the ball over the sides and front of the table where they were decked with yellow chrysanthemums.

The table was overlaid with an imported ecru cutwork cloth over brown. The cornucopias filled with fruits interspersed with yellow chrysanthemums and bronze mums formed the centerpiece. Mrs. T. E. Sturgeon and Miss Leta Tugwell alternated at the silver punch service during the afternoon.

On the buffet was an artistic arrangement of chrysanthemums and cattails flanked by candelabra holding yellow tapers.

Many friends of the family called during the appointed hours. Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. K. D. Kilpatrick, Ruston; Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll, Monroe; Mrs. J. E. Roark, Mrs. C. W. Sehon, Mrs. J. O. Smith, Mrs. F. H. Maroney, Mrs. Willie P. Smith, Mrs. Henry Smith and Mrs. Pat Stone, Marion; Mrs. Starling Tabor, Mrs. Floyd McCarver, Mrs. G. E. Lindsey, Mrs. J. Y. Green, Mrs. L. H. Pratt, Miss Leita Heard, Mrs. G. C. Hicks, Mrs. L. T. Porter and Mrs. Clyde C. Colvin, Bernice.

Roamin' In The Rural Fair

In spite of the exciting fire, the Ouachita Valley Fair was a great success. Each home demonstration club member put her whole heart into making it such. Before the smoke cleared out of the building, the group determined that the show must go on and exhibits were quickly replaced. It was truly a demonstration of the cooperation of club members.

Pantries

The five pantries exhibited at the fair represented the food preservation work done in five rural homes. The total records of these five homemakers showed the following food conserved either by canning, freezing, or curing: 258 quarts tomatoes, 360 pints of green leafy and yellow vegetables, 903 pints of other vegetables, 725 quarts of fruit, 2,605 pounds of meats, 363 pints of sweets (preserves, jelly, etc.) and 294 pints of pickles.

There were a number of women who did not have their pantries quite as completely filled. These had exhibits in other pantry divisions at the fair. The Monroe Kiwanis Club sponsors this pantry work, which the Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration agent, Euna D. Spielman, and the club members appreciate very much.

Home Demonstration Concession

The home demonstration women were distressed over the loss of the concession building at the fair. Many friends of the home demonstration work have come to their aid immediately. It's during stress we learn who are our friends, isn't it? We appreciate each and every effort made to help get it back in operation. Thanks from us.

The concession has been run as a business by the Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council and club members to raise funds needed to carry on their programs during the year. It is their ambition to make this project self-supporting and profitable. It is only when such an unforeseen accident occurs that help is needed. So thanks again to friends of home demonstration work.

Fire Prevention Week

October 4-10 was fire prevention week. When we were asked to check and remove fire hazards. During this dry weather we should be especially conscious of the danger of fire. Check again and see if you have left anything undone you could do to prevent fires.

Don't let dry leaves and straw drift against the foundation of the house. Be more careful than ever with the match and cigarett stubs.

Green Lawn

Have you noticed that beautiful lawn as you drove out West Monroe on highway 80 toward Ruston in the 3700 block? It is really refreshing to look at, this dry hot weather. The owner knows how to feed and care for a lawn, doesn't he?

Will see you next Sunday.

Pamper Oily Skin Daily

If you have oily skin, your problem is more difficult than that of the girl with dry skin, but it can be just as effectively treated.

Before you start putting things on your face, you must help your skin from within. That means, as you probably know, eliminating rich, highly seasoned and greasy foods and pastries from your diet.

Oily skin is also due to poor circulation of the blood. Splashing ice-cold water on the face is the best way to stimulate the flow of blood. Astringents are also an aid but should not be relied upon entirely to counteract the oiliness.

DESK AND DERRICK CLUB

The Desk and Derrick Club, one of Monroe's youngest organizations chartered here in November of 1952, joined in the celebration of "Oil Progress Week" by sponsoring a dance on the roof of the Virginia Hotel Saturday night.

The first Desk and Derrick Club was originated in New Orleans in 1949. A short time later Jackson, Miss., and Los Angeles, Calif., followed with charters. Soon the association of Desk and Derrick Clubs was skyrocketing. Records from the national convention in Denver, Colo., this year showed there were seventy-nine clubs with a membership of between eight and nine thousand throughout the country. Irene Stimson Cox of San Antonio, Tex., was elected president of the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America at the second annual convention.

Members of the club have found it educational and believe through greater knowledge of the industry, they can give better service. At the general meetings each month a spokesman for the industry talks on some phase of the gas and oil business and often films are shown explaining a particular operation. Mrs. Louise Caldwell, employed by Southwest Gas Producing Company, was instrumental in starting the Monroe club. Mrs. Bertha Patterson is now serving as president of the local Desk and Derrick. She points out that any girl employed in the gas, oil or allied industries is eligible for membership in the club.

Conversing before the Desk and Derrick Club meeting at the Frances Hotel Wednesday night were Miss Hazel Switzer, left, who is in charge of reservations for the club and Mrs. Paula Tooke, a board member.

Girl Scout News

Today's the day for open house at Pine Wood. How about driving out with the family during the afternoon to see for yourself the improvements being made.

The big event is, of course, presentation of the new cabin built by the Business and Professional Women's Club. The brief ceremony will be at 3:00, but people may come at any time.

The fence has been moved and more land put under fence, including the pretty pine grove and a number of beautiful large pines and oaks. Some grading is to be done, we hear, after that long - looked-for rain. Then after winter rains soak the ground, perhaps the trees the girls plant next spring will live and grow.

Every week end finds happy campers enjoying the site. Last week it was Troop 31 with their leaders, Mrs. Harry Martin and Mrs. Leo Ragland. Some of these girls are getting to be quite experienced campers, while for several in the troop it was their first chance to spend a night at camp.

The morning hike along the river, playing barefoot in the sand, swinging on the grapevine swing, gathering shells on the sandy beach seem to have been highlights of the trip. On their way back to camp they stopped at the fisherman's to watch him at work. He gave the girls a big fish to cook for their dinner.

Whoever the cooks were for Saturday's midday meal, our executive, Annis Klie, says they were super duper. She was invited to eat with the group and enjoyed not only eating the meal but seeing the efficient ways in which the girl did the kapers.

Climax to their meal was a luscious cherry cobbler, cooked on a reflector oven in front of the fire. It's almost like magic, the girls say, to see the crust rise and brown in front of the fire—it's reflected heat that does it, they learned.

The following girls participated in the eventful week end: Stevie Menuet, Ann Ragland, Nancy Martin, Mary Jean Martin, Karen Brady, Sue Norris, Jocelyn Brady, Horton Laws, Nell Laws, Pinkie St. Cyr, Harriet Hays, Shirley Jolissaint, Carolyn Danna, Anne McCarty.

Next Sunday begins Girl Scout week, the seven service days which the Scouts set aside to tell the public about what Girl Scouting is like.

Watch for your Girl Scouts friend at church in uniform, on television, and in the community doing innumerable good deeds.

If you have a window with an unpleasant view, screen it with floor - length curtains of a fabric that is translucent but not transparent. They will admit only the light.

In preparing new wood for staining, fine steel wool should be used and the dust wiped off. Denatured alcohol must be used to wipe wood that has been varnished, shellacked or waxed.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE—Miss Ophelia Francis was recently elected second vice-president of the Louisiana Association of Accredited Cosmetologists, Inc., in New Orleans. She leaves today to attend the All American Beauty Culture School Association and the National Hairdressers Cosmetologists Association meeting in Miami Beach, Fla.

Garden Club Sees Slides Of Holland Flower Festival

WATERPROOF—The Waterproof Garden Club held its October meeting in the study hall of the Waterproof High School at 3:15 p. m. with a spendid attendance. Many attractive arrangements of dahlias were shown in addition to several Halloween arrangements.

Mrs. Clyde Guthrie called the meeting to order and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. William Kimmel. Mrs. S. Crosby read the budget for the year. The club voted to be assessed $2 per member.

In her horticultural hints, Mrs. R. C. Lancaster suggested the planting of annuals at this time for early spring blossoms.

An invitation was extended from the Pilgrimage Garden Club in Natchez to enter an exhibit at the flower show to be held at Stanton Hall, Nov. 8. A committee was appointed to plan the entry.

Two new members Mrs. A. D. Hedrick and Mrs. Edgar Martien were welcomed into the club. In the garden of the month contest, first place was won by Mrs. R. C. Lancaster, 2nd Mrs. J. U. Duke, and 3rd Mrs. Jack Plaisance.

Hostesses appointed for November were Mrs. G. C. Goldman Jr., Mrs. L. S. Gates, and Mrs. W. F. Long. Judges are Mrs. Santo Forte Mrs. H. T. Goldman, Jr., and Miss Lydia Marie Testa.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. D. F. Miller Jr. and Miss Miriam Watson, who showed some beautiful slides sent by Major Miller, now stationed in Germany. The scenes were made when Major Miller attended the flower festival in Holland recently. During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Levi Thompson, Mrs. J. U. Duke, Mrs. H. T. Goldman Jr. and Mrs. Jack Plaisance. At the conclusion of the meeting the Dutch Iris, daffodils and hyacinth bulbs which had been ordered earlier from Holland were distributed.

B&PW District Plans Announced

Plans for the fall meeting of District 3, Louisiana Federation Business & Professional Women's Clubs, are announced today by Mrs. Louise Massey, district director.

The meeting will be held in Springhill Sunday, October 25. "Membership Unlimited" will be the program theme presented.

A coffee hour from 9:00 a. m. until 10:00 a.m. will be held in the Community Center.

At 10:00 o'clock the group will convene for a business session and the program. Miss Verda Baker, first vice-president of the Louisiana Federation will participate on the program.

At noon there will be a luncheon in the Lumberjack Dining Room. Guest speaker for the luncheon will be Miss Lillian Jeffers, director in the division of public health nurses of the state of Louisiana.

Clubs of northeast Louisiana comprising District 3 are Bastrop, Monroe, Ruston, pringhill, Shreveport, Minden, Natchitoches, and Logansport.

A warm setting should be used for rayon ties.

Church Ceremony Unites Winnfield Couple

DODSON—Friday evening October 2, a beautiful wedding ceremony was celebrated at the Methodist church, when Miss Nedra Shaw, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. L. G. Shaw of Winnfield became the bride of Joe Bob McConathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McConathy of Winnfield.

The bride was gowned in white taffeta with an embroidered overskirt of nylon, the bodice was lined with taffeta, and had long sleeves extending to a point over her hands and a sweetheart neckline. She wore a string of pearls as her only ornament. The bride carried a white Bible with a white carnation bouquet with white streamers. For something old she had her shoulder length veil edged with seed pearls and seed cap studded with seed pearls, pinned on with a pearl handled pin, her veil was also studded with seed pearls.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and the Rev. L. L. Booth pastor of the Winnfield Methodist Church officiated at the lovely double ring service.

The maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Lettie Keiffer of Winnfield, who wore a lovely gown of blue taffeta, with net overskirt. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

For his best man, the groom chose Billy Maxwell of Winnfield.

Prenuptial music was rendered by Miss Edna Jean Finney of Winnfield who played "Always," "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Love's Old Sweet Song" and during the ceremony "A Dream of a Bride." During the processional and recessional the traditional wedding marches were rendered.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue nylon with white carnation corsage. The grooms mother was dressed in blue nylon with white carnation corsage.

The church was decorated with white standard baskets placed at vantage points with white rosebuds, white carnations and greenery. The pulpit was draped in ivy.

Mrs. McConathy is a graduate of Atlanta High School and Elliott Business College of Shreveport.

MRS. JOE BOB McCONATHY

Mr. McConathy graduated from Winnfield High and Northeastern State College where he received his B. S. degree and was a member of the Agriculture Club.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor.

The table was overlaid with a lace cloth over pink. The centerpiece was a large bowl of white carnations with a ring of greenery and rose of Montana which was also used under the punch bowl placed at one of the table. The bride's cake was placed opposite the punch bowl. The cake was three - tiered and topped by a bride and groom with delicate white and pink roses. Miss Lettie Keiffer and Miss Jeanne May Berry of Winnfield served the cake. Miss Edna Jean Finney poured the punch. Both Miss Keiffer and Miss Berry were gowned in evening dresses of pink satin and blue taffeta with net overskirts. Miss Sue Austin of Winnfield presided at the bride's book. The table was decorated with a bride's doll and a lovely white carnation corsage.

In the receiving line were the bride's mother, Mrs. Shaw, Miss Keiffer, and Mr. and Mrs. McConathy.

The bride chose for traveling a suit of blue with white accessories and her wedding bouquet as a corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. McConathy will be at home with her parents at 209 N. Grove St., in Winnfield.

MISS CLYDIE LEOLA COX'S Engagement to Mr. Marx Lafayette Coats is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Asberry Cox, of this city. The wedding will take place October 29 at the College Place Baptist Church at 5:30 o'clock.

News From The Public Library

For the past few weeks, this column has been devoted to the recent books of fiction, which have been added to the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Today I want to describe some of the factual books which are also new acquisitions. Many people do not realize that the library is a vast storehouse of information and that books on almost every subject are available here. New books are being added every week and some of these titles should appeal to each reader of this article.

We are very proud of our collection of cook - books and try to add new books to this group which will fill a gap. One of the latest ones is "Complete Chicken Cookery" by Marian Tracy. The recipes are absolutely fascinating and I personally cannot wait to try some of them. There are recipes for chicken and rice dishes, for using chicken livers and for all sorts of up-to-date subjects such as rotisseries, pressure cookers and deep-fryers.

Religious books are always popular with our patrons and we have a number of new titles in this field. One of the most valuable books is the "Yearbook of American Churches, 1953." This book answers many questions in regard to the number of churches in each denomination, the number of members, the general organization. It will be invaluable as a reference tool and can be found in the Louis Lock room at the Monroe branch of the library. Another interesting book is "The American Church of the Protestant Heritage," which discusses in detail the history and beliefs of the various protestant bodies of our country. "Preaching on Controversial Issues" by Harold A. Bosley is an excellent book of sermons, written by an outstanding Methodist minister.

Another religious book of great merit is "The Kingdom of God" by John Bright. In this book readers will realize afresh the significance and unity of the whole Bible. "Inter-Communion" edited by Donald Baillie and John Marsh has been hailed as one of the most important books of the year. It makes a strong plea for inter-communion among all Christian churches and is one that every church leader should read. "A Treasury of Jewish Holidays" by Hyman E. Goldin is a beautiful book which explains the origin and significance of the holidays in the Jewish religion.

Books of poetry are always popular with the library patrons and there are several new titles worthy of mention. "A Little Treasury of Love Poems" edited by John Holmes contains the best love poetry in the English language. "An Anthology of Famous English and American Poetry" edited by William Rose Benet is a wonderful collection of verse. "Elizabethan Lyrics" edited by Normal Ault contains a great many lyrics of that wonderful period which are not to be found elsewhere. "A Comprehensive Anthology of American Poetry" compiled by Conrad Aiken contains a great many poems that are beautiful to read. How long has it been since you sat down to read a book of poetry? It is a most rewarding experience. Poetry lifts the spirit and adds beauty to the things of everyday life. Why not pick up a volume the next time you are in the library?

Probably the most discussed play of this year is "Picnic" by William Inge. It was the winner of the New York drama critics circle award and the Pulitzer prize for drama. If you like to read plays, and many people do, you will surely want to read "Picnic." For pure enjoyment there is not a more delightful new book to be found than "Period Piece" by Gwen Raverat. This is a first person memoir of a Victorian childhood written by the granddaughter of Charles Darwin. A new biography which fills a long felt need is "Captain John Smith" written by Bradford Smith. This is the first biography of Captain John Smith to appear in 25 years. The author has combed hitherto unused sources to substantiate Smith's own story. He has made a thorough search of English archives, Hungarian, Latin, Italian and German records. The evidence indicates that historians have underestimated Captain John Smith. In this exciting story of a unique individual and a critical era in American history, he emerges not as an idealized hero, but rather a historical figure of great importance in the history of our country.

"The Silent World" by Captain J. Y. Cousteau is an exciting story of underwater adventure at great depth. It will appeal to those who love nature, as well as adventure. "Your Arthritis" by Alfred E. Phelps will be welcomed by those who suffer from arthritis and will find the information most helpful. Realizing the need for up to date information in television servicing, we have just purchased a highly technical handbook called "Television Fundamentals," which should be interesting to all dealers who sell and service television receiving sets. Your library attempts to give the best possible service to the people of the community, call on it when you have a need for any information.

YWCA Activities

PLANNING COMMITTEE FOR THE ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. E. P. Cudd, chairman of the committee, called a meeting with the following present: Mrs. Elliott Thompson, Mrs. Warren Breard, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Mrs. Carl Davis representing the Y-ves' Club, Ella Pearl Sutton representing the B. & P. Club, Ernestine Hickingbottom representing the Y Residence Girls, Ann Hebert representing the Y-Teens, Miss Sharp, and Mrs. Hundley to make the plans for the YWCA Annual meeting. The Annual Meeting will be held on Thursday, October 29th, from 7:30 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. All YWCA members and friends are urged to come to this meeting. The following names will appear on the ballot for members on the Board of Directors: Mrs. Ed Ellison, Mrs. L. N. Copes, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. C. L. Taylor, and Mrs. A. T. White (all for re-election) and the following for the first time: Mrs. J. Metris Bell, Mrs. D. X. Ellett, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, and Mrs. J. E. Walsworth.

B. & P. Club

Reverend Lea Joyner, pastor of the Southside Methodist Church, gave a very impressive and inspiring message to the members of the B. & P. Club at their meeting. She used the club theme for the year: "Our Formula For Living" as the basis of her talk, stressing the importance of being the best and doing the best wherever you are and "we may not know our future but we can know the One who holds our future."

Three visitors were welcomed: Mrs. Jeff McConnell, Miss Dorothy Taryien, and Miss Carolyn Leggett. Jenioe Westbrook gave a report on the program which the club will have at the Conference in Hot Springs on October 18th. A report on "Kits For Korea" was given by Bobbye Beach, clairman of the Service Committee: two kits were sent to the YWCA in Korea. A gift was presented to Jenibe Westbrook who served as president for 1952-53 in recognition of her faithful and outstanding leadership and service to the club.

Y-ves' Club

On Wednesday morning the devotional: Friendship" was given by Mrs. Lee Dollard. Hostesses for the meeting were: Mrs. LaVania Woodburn and Mrs. Mildred Edwards. Three guests: Mrs. Blanche Parisey, Mrs. Lora Carson, and Miss Janice Stringfellow were welcomed to the club. Mrs. Lillian Smith gave a report on the Nominating Committee slate for the new officers of the club and the following were elected: President: Mrs. Cay McWilliams, 1st vice president: Mrs. Margaret Johnson, 2nd vice president: Mrs. Edna Bishop, 3rd vice president: Mrs. Rena Troeltzch, secretary: Mrs. Nancy Pace, and treasurer Mrs. LaVaughn Weger. The club voted to sponsor a project of redecorating the kitchen at the YWCA Building. The program was a talk by Miss Bess Sharp on "A Trip To Mexico." Members present were: Mrs. Marian Acree, Mrs. Edna Bishop, Mrs. Lee Dollard, Mrs. LaRue Davis, Mrs. Esther Dupuy, Mrs. Mildred Edwards, Mrs. Dora Lee Kilpatrirk, Mrs. Cay McWilliams, Mrs. Mildred O'Brien, Mrs. Nancy Pace, Mrs. Jean Patterson, Mrs. Dorothy Perkins, Mrs. Lillian Smith, Mrs. Rena Troeltzsch, Mrs. Margaret Van Fossen, Mrs. LaVaughn Weger, Mrs. Katie Whitehead, Mrs. LaVania Woodburn, Mrs. Kay Hood, and Mrs. Kathaleen Eason.

Y-Teens

The Y-Teens as one of their community service projects are folding the seals which will be distributed at the Christras Season by the TB Association of this parish. On Tuesday afternoon the Jolly Y Janes' Club was priviledged to have as their guest speaker: Reverend H. L. John of the First Methodist Church Reverend Johns used the Y-Teens theme for the year: "For This We Live,' stressing the importance of our religion as the basis of our living, that the Ten Commandments are a code that will be a good one to follow with Jesus' teaching: of our love for God and for our neighbors. Since the president: Edna Jean Berry Ferguson resigned, Emma Jean Hall was elected as president and Ada Mae Hicks was elected as vice president. A five point program will carry out this theme of "For This WE Live:" For God, for our church, for our school, for our community, for our nation" was the central thought of the talk the Reverend Earl Monzingo gave at the meeting of the Blue Sharps' Club at Lenwil School. Living the "Golden Rule" will help us carry out our ideals and make for real Christian living.

Reverend C. Roger Johnson, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, was the guest speaker for the Really Y's Club of Y-Teens at their meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Reverend Johnson used Psalms 1 as the basis of his talk: The Godly Man.' One of the lines of the Y-Teen song is "If we can grow both tall and straight as trees grow to the sky" was brought out more impressively, too, by Reverend Johnson's reading of the first Psalm: "And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season, his leaf also shall not wither and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper." Mary Pearl Coates, president of the club, presided at the meeting which was opened with the singing of the Y-Teens Song which was accompanied by Donna Rhea Welch at the piano. JoAnn Nubles and Penny Nowell were welcomed as new members. The meeting was closed with the Y-Teen motto.

The following members were organized into a Y-Teen Club at Crosley School in West Monroe: Linda Adkins, Yvonne Allen, Dale Anding, Barbara Arant, Fay Bagwell, Jane Becton, Sue Brown, Mary Alice Butler, Barbara Cloyd, Mary Lou Dycus, Joyce Frazier, Charlotte Guillory, Helen Hanley, Carolyn Harris, Marie Hartley, Wanda Head, Linda Ingram, Ruth Kincade, Louise Lester, Nina Faye Martin, Joanna Massey, Lavena McDonnell, Linda McCormick; Judy Price, Mary Roberts, Mary Bell Rogers, Jo Ann Thompson, Peggy Venable, Virginia Watson Charlotte Whittingdon, Elizabeth Wooten, and Sue Weems. The Adviser for the group will be Mrs. Gertie Mitchell. The girls elected Peggy Venable to serve as president and Virginia Watson as vice president. At their next meeting on Thursday the club will elect the other officers for their group and select the name for their club.

Farmerville Garden Club Holds Meeting

FARMERVILLE — The Farmerville Garden Club held its October meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Stein Baughman, with Mrs. E. L. Mitchell, Mrs. Frank Goss and Mrs. W. C. McMurrian as cohostesses.

Mrs. Allie Luzader, president, presided over the meeting and welcomed the guest. Mrs. Green.

Reports were made by all committees and new ones were appointed to enlarge on the Christmas lighting. Mrs. L. C. Allen gave an interesting talk on her visit to the Monroe Garden Center and Mrs. P. L. Read gave a short talk on bulb planting.

Lawns Need Repair And Fall Is Best Time For It

The care of the lawn, whether on the farm or suburban lot, is just as necessary, if one is to have a good lawn, as proper preparation of soil, fertilizing, and mowing at time of establishment.

There are few localities in which local conditions are such that the routine following of maintenance measures will keep a lawn permanently in good condition.

At some time each year or alternate year it is usually necessary or desirable to do some renovating. Ordinarily the best time is in the fall. Conditions in the spring are not usually favorable. By the time one can get on to the ground to undertake suitable soil treatments preparatory to resowing, it may be too near summer for seedling grasses to become established.

In such cases it is usually better to adopt some temporary expedient such as sowing an annual grass, or applying a summer treatment in preparation for a real renovation at the most favorable time in the fall.

Renovation becomes a "must" when the turf is wholly undesirable and when replanting to the same or to a different grass is contemplated.

It is essential first to determine the reason for the unsatisfactory turf and to plan a program that will correct the previous deficiencies. Unless all the factors for satisfactory plant growth are favorable, the turf will become unsatisfactory again in a year or so.

Destruction of all unwanted growth usually is the first step. To accomplish this it is best to mow closely and remove coarse clippings. The use of strong chemicals to kill weeds is justified in a renovation program.

Preparation of a seedbed is essential to a successful job of replanting the area. Apply about 20 or 25 pounds of complete fertilizer per 1000 square feet such as 5-10-5 or equivalent. In the cool humid regions, applications should be made in early fall and very early spring. In warm humid regions applications should be made in spring and early summer when the grass is growing actively.

How to Renovate Established Lawn

(1) Mow old stand of grass closely,
(2) Apply weed control methods and materials if necessary,
(3) Rake severely or cultivate with a hand disk or spiker to loosen surface soil,
(4) Apply fertilizer and lime as needed,
(5) Sow seed of the right kind and best quality or plant sod or sprigs,
(6) Roll the surface,
(7) If ground is bare on slopes, apply mulch or fabric to protect from erosion,
(8) Water adequately, and
(9) Mow as soon as growth requires it, but not too short.

The need for lime should be determined by soil test. Most soils in the eastern United States require lime. Ground limestone is the cheapest form. It can be applied at any season—late fall or early spring.

Because of the great variety of conditions under which lawns are prepared and maintained, even in the same locality, if one is not well-informed on lawn care, he should consult his seed supplier, county agent, or other person qualified to give expert advice on lawns before undertaking a renovation job.

The results from renovation will be in accordance with the thoroughness of the application of correct principles, suitable weather, and a follow-up with proper maintenance measures.

Southern Gardener

The fall-blooming camellias are in almost everybody's yard now. A few years back, they were not too well known, but the idea of having camellias in bloom in the Fall took on in a hurry, and people went to the nurseries and got little plants and started them. One nice thing about camellias and azaleas is that you can get small plants right when they are in bloom and bring them home and set them out, and they will not miss a season from then on with their annual crop of blossoms. Some of the early blooming varieties of Camellia japonica beat the sasanquas into bloom. Your columnist has recently had a visit from Camilla Bradley from New Orleans who reports that the early japonica varieties like Arejishi bloomed as early as August 23rd in New Orleans this year. She says that the variety, September Morn bloomed for its owners on July 24th and then had several more blooms before the month was out.

Along about this time of the year, the beautiful big full blossoms of Daikagura begin to open several at a time on a good sized bush. Of course, they frequently start earlier than this with one here and one there. If, by chance, you have never seen this camellia, by all means look it up in the catalogues or camellia books with color plates. The flowers are seldom any two just alike. They come in several shades of rose variegated with white in the blossoms. Catalogues now list several variations that are fixed and insure your getting still more variation than if you have just one bush of this variety. Then there is the variety, Joshua E. Youtz that is still listed in some catalogues under the name "White Daikagura." This is the sasanqua-camellia season now. The bushes are more willowy, finer leaved and more twiggy than the japonica camellias are. They make fine hedges, screen backgrounds or features in a fall garden. Since they come late in the season, people in the cooler sections plant them where they will be as protected as possible from the early frosts. The plants are hardy, of course, but the blossoms are fragile. Even in the warmer sections of the South, one notices that these flowers last best where they have pine trees above them to break the pounding fall rains. The great abundance of single and semi-double blossoms produced on each bush of the sasanquas makes them highly desirable as flowering shrubs. The ground underneath each bush is constantly covered with the shed of blossoms. With most shrubs, this is a nuisance and looks bad, but at this time of the year the cool weather allows the dead flowers to remain in good condition for a while before they disappear.

Sasanquas will get to be tremendous plants at maturity if they are not pruned back. This is a fact that we should take note of if we wish to grow them in small areas. An old bush at Duke University was a huge thing at least ten feet high and almost as much through the last time your columnist saw it. It must be really a giant by now. Sasanquas take kindly to pruning. The branches and foliage are so beautiful that we suggest that the annual pruning be done during the Winter when they can be used as decoration for the house or for Christmas. They are usually through with their blooming by Christmas.

The sudden popularity of sasanqua camellias has stimulated the nurseries and plant breeders to develop new varieties. There is really no telling how many new varieties of sasanquas there are in nurseries today.

You can get into this contest if you like because sasanquas set seed easily, and the seeds will come up and grow into flowering plants in just a few seasons. Look over the lists of these fine camellias and order some of the very finest varieties. A small bush planted now will become a gorgeous thing in a relatively short time. With the early japonica types, the sasanquas, the fragrant ginger-lilies and other fall blooming plants like acidanthera from Kenya and the many fall crocuses one can have a marvelously scented garden way into November and December in the South. Right now, the acidantheras, the pink spider-lily like South African Nerine Bowdeni and many kinds of fall crocuses are blooming in gardens where people have been wise enough to get them and plant them. Fortune's olive and the smaller leaved holly olive are in full bloom and scenting up the air for yards around them. The different kinds of elaeagnus are in bloom, too and driving the bees crazy. In the cool October air, all these scented plants make a veritable heaven out of the out-of-doors and a wonderful background for the chrysanthemum and the dahlia season.

There are a lot of evergreen plants in our gardens which can provide cheerful green all winter if they are planted with the idea of getting them placed all over the garden so that their foliage can perform this function. Besides the ordinary ground covers like the periwinkles and ivy and the different kinds of creeping euonymous, the green tufts of leaves on some bulbs like red spider-lilies, sternbergias, liriope and ophiopogons really make a big show and brighten up a garden with different shapes and shades of green down right on the ground.

Notes From The Garden Center

Arrangements in the Garden Center this week were made by the Iris Garden Club of Delhi. Mrs. V. O. Smith won first place with a composition of magnolia leaves and castor bean pods. Mrs. R. E. Coulter placed second with a crescent using ivy and zinnias in a complimentary color harmony. Mrs. J. K. Sehon took third place, by using a sweet gum foliage in beautiful autumn colors arranged in a wooden bowl finished in natural color. The horticultural specimens were, dahlias and zinnias entered by Mrs. Tommy Hall whose bronze dahlia won first place, Mrs. A. L. Barnes, a collection of zinnias, second place and third place in small pompom dahlias.

, Mrs. Lamont Wright and Mrs. Frank Parrish of Ruston judges the arrangements this week and the exhibitors were pleased that the judges wrote helpful comments for each composition.

The Home Shift With Mildred Swift

It's mighty fine news that a drive is on for a municipal auditorium. We've long needed one. The civic clubs of the Twin Cities are sponsoring this project so let's all give them our cooperation.

Around the Garden

The yard of the month selected by the Monroe Garden Club is Mrs. W. N. Reynold's, 1007 Trenton, West Monroe. This is the place I called to your attention last summer when Mrs. Reynolds changed the color of the house to gray. She's using lots of pink and pastels to go with this grey and the effect is dainty and lovely.

The Rudbeckias (pink daisies) are putting on buds for their last show of the season. I notice these plants are listed in the catalogue at 85 cents (.85) per plant and to think Caroline Miller gave them by the hundreds to Twin City gardeners. The purple salvia, cleome and princess feathers have stayed by us during this heat and drouth, giving the yard color. The seed of all of those plants need to be sowed in the spring. I'll remind you then.

Mrs. Willye Lawhead gave me a beautiful double white hibiscus bloom Sunday. She says, "It turns deep pink by night," and it did. It was interesting watching the white go from delicate pink to deep rose. Mrs. Lawhead says her plant came from the Gulf Coast and is called "Love for a Day." Mrs. Bagwell says another name is "Confederate Rose." It's a later bloomer in case you want to add this to your collection next year.

European Gardens

The Monroe Garden Club enjoyed Miss Emmy Lou Biedenharn's talk on gardens she visited in Europe. "Enjoyed" is a mild word. We sat spell - bound and lived every minute with her. I want to pass a few of the highlights of the lecture on to you. In England the speaker felt the gardens are planned for the mode of living; playgrounds for children or large spaces for entertaining, whatever the family needs. There is a feeling of balanced proportion, repose and perfection in the finished gardens. The English people know their gardens and plant material. Even the royalty who have gardeners, do not leave watering of fine plants to this help but they do this work themselves.

There was a peach arbor that Miss Biedenharn throught particularly lovely. The trees were trained in an arch. Training trees in unusual growth patterns was found to be a feature of these English gardens. There were Magnolias (Grandiflora) planted about three feet from the castles. The tree covered the wall with the back limbs and opening for windows and doors kept pruned. Their clipping is done only once a year and they are careful never to cut a leaf into. The pruner goes back to the twig to make the cut.

The lecturer felt the charm of the English kitchen gardens. They were walled in with fruit trees espallered against the walls, with beds of vegetables, berries and herbs.

The English specialize in blooming borders, very wide ones. The speaker stated she was amazed because their perennials never seemed to fall over and become unsightly. On examination she found that strong twigs were put in the ground around the daisies etc. These twigs supported the plants and kept them from falling. That's something we can use in our beds. In London, window boxes on outside of government buildings and hotels were a blaze of color.

Since my space is getting short I'll have to give the other countries in outline form.

Scotland — Terraces done in pansies, but design always kept in mind.

Rome — Entire terraces done in nasturtiums. Huge tubs, pots, and urns planted with fig trees, magnolia trees, grape vines and hydrangeas for use on terraces. Lots of topiary pruning, especially with yews.

France — Level farm land. 22,300 trees in boulevards of Paris. This does not include those in the parks.

Italy — Exotic gardens. White peacocks. Nothing flat, everything up hill. Many pink hydrangeas and rambler roses used together in plantings. Magnolia Grandifloras pruned round like a ball, in full bloom. Clipped camellia hedges. Immense azaleas.

I know you've enjoyed reading about these gardens, because many of their ideas we can use.

Garden Jobs

I found aphids on a crabapple tree this morning, so I'll get out the nicotine spray. I'm sure you'll find the foliage of your plants dusty. It's a good idea to give them a good hosing once in a while, since they breathe through their leaves.

In answer to questions about St. Augustine grass you can still put out sprigs if you'll keep them watered. In fact, you'll have to keep up the soaking or you'll lose shrubs and trees.

Food News

Honey is on the plentiful food list. The French use this in meringues in the place of sugar to give that extra special "zip" typical of their cooking.

There will be plenty of cranberries. When making your jelly from cranberries, cool it quickly to keep the bright red color.

Baby foods are being studied by the scientists to improve the flavor, color, texture and consistency. Strained egg yolk has been added to the list of foods too. The little fellow is already the best-fed member of the household, with all the new pureed foods that save mother so much time.

Home Making Program

I'll see you each Tuesday at 2:45 on KNOE-TV. We'll build a compost pile this Tuesday. On Wednesday at 3:30 on KFAZ I'll have a specialist from Louisiana State University as my guest. He will give 30 minutes on pruning. We invite you to tune in on both programs. Please write or call me if there's anything about the house or yard you want to see demonstrated on television.

See you next Sunday.

GROWING PAINS

By ALBERT S. FULLING

One of these frosty mornings you may gaze pensively about your outdoor domain and decide your garden looks drab and dreary.

Something is needed to brighten up the grounds for winter, you may muse. Then comes the quick thought: evergreens.

And there, brother, is the place to make a quick stop to think.

When you plant evergreens, you can make some big mistakes — some as big as 60 feet tall and 25 feet wide- That's a whopper in any man's garden.

Many a homeowner has bought or been presented with a young fir, and then found as the years go by that he planted a big problem right in front of his wife's favorite south window.

A white fir is a fine specimen tree for a large lawn — but not for foundation planting.

The upright juniper, with an ultimate height of 30 feet and a spread of up to 10 feet, also is charmingly deceptive as a baby. It makes a fine corner planting for a two-story house, or imposing adornment flanking the entrance to a large garden. But it does not belong to foundation planting.

Before you buy, study the habits and rate of growth of your evergreen. Most gardening books go into this quite extensively.

Just drive around your community to see some of the enormous mistakes in evergreen planting. Not too far from us, a charming, colonial house was built about 20 years ago. Now it's concealed in crowded, gloomy seclusion behind a half - dozen 40 - feet weeping spruce on a small front yard.

Another home nearby has disappeared years ago behind the owner's one - time enthusiasm for blue spruce. Occasionally, he goes out and hacks open the path to his front door, or lops off a branch before it invades the living room.

One of these days, he confides, he's going to have to chop them down and start landscaping all over — after he's removed the formidable tree stumps.

After you choose evergreens for your foundation planting, don't yield to the temptation to plant too close to the foundation. The minimum distance is 30 inches. Four feet is better. Space at least four feet apart to allow root growth and air circulation. If there are gaps between newly planted evergreens, a ground cover of ivy, pachysandra or winter creeper will do fine while it's needed.

When you dig the hole, give the plant plenty of room. Make the hole about 12 inches wider than the diameter of the ball of soil on the shrub. Ease the shrub into the hole. Don't drop it. Save the top soil from the digging, and place it around the bottom of the ball. Water well. Place an upright screen of burlap attached to four stakes around the evergreen to protect it against winds and sun burn. Water heavily before the ground freezes.

Some evergreens to consider are the versatile yew, the adaptable and useful euonymus, and the graceful hemlock.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q—Is there a low - cost edging plant which closely approximates the appearance of dwarf boxbush?

A—Yes. Germander, listed botanically as Teucrium chamaedrys, an evergreen perennial with small oval leaves. It can be kept down to a height and breadth of six to eight inches. Untrimmed, it grows to a height of a foot; bears rosy-purple flowers.

OCTOBER IS -RESTAURANT- HOSPITALITY MONTH

Keep This Section On Hand

As A Guide To Good Eating

When Your Family Dines Out

"RELAX—enjoy dinner out tonight with your family" s the invitation issued by Monroe-West Monroe restaurants n October as they join with the National Restaurant Assocition in celebrating Restaurant Hospitality Month.

Every eating place in town will be putting its best foot orward to give better food, better value and more sincere ospitality.

Restaurants, coffee shops, fountain lunches, hotel ining rooms, night clubs, drive-ins, cafeterias, variety, and rug stores will participate.

Patrons will find, in addition to the new emphasis on ood food and hospitality, that today's restaurant has pacious and spotless kitchens with labor saving devices for ood preparation, upkeep and cleaning that make it possile for diners in all income groups to enjoy the highest tandards of efficiency and cleanliness the world has ever nown.

During this "eating out" month housewives will meet for shopping-trip lunches, office workers will stop in at coffee shops and lunch counters, businessmen will "clinch deals" ver the lunch table and professional men will join their daily roundtables at favorite dining rooms.

The slogan you will hear constantly during this month s "A Restaurant Meal—A Wonderful Change." Many of the oods which take laborious hours in the kitchen will make heir appearance on restaurant tables—to bring patrons that wonderful change" which makes for more relaxed, more leasant living.

When the family eats out, a definite contribution to family welfare is made. It is convenient, for it frees mother from the chore of preparing a meal; it is fun, for it encourages a more congenial feeling with the "small fry" and in many, many instances is of great interest to dad from the standpoint of the family budget.

Eating out can be a gala event, whether it be in the simplest type of eating establishment or the most elaborate. The essence of enjoyment is the degree of hospitality which each eating establishment offers.

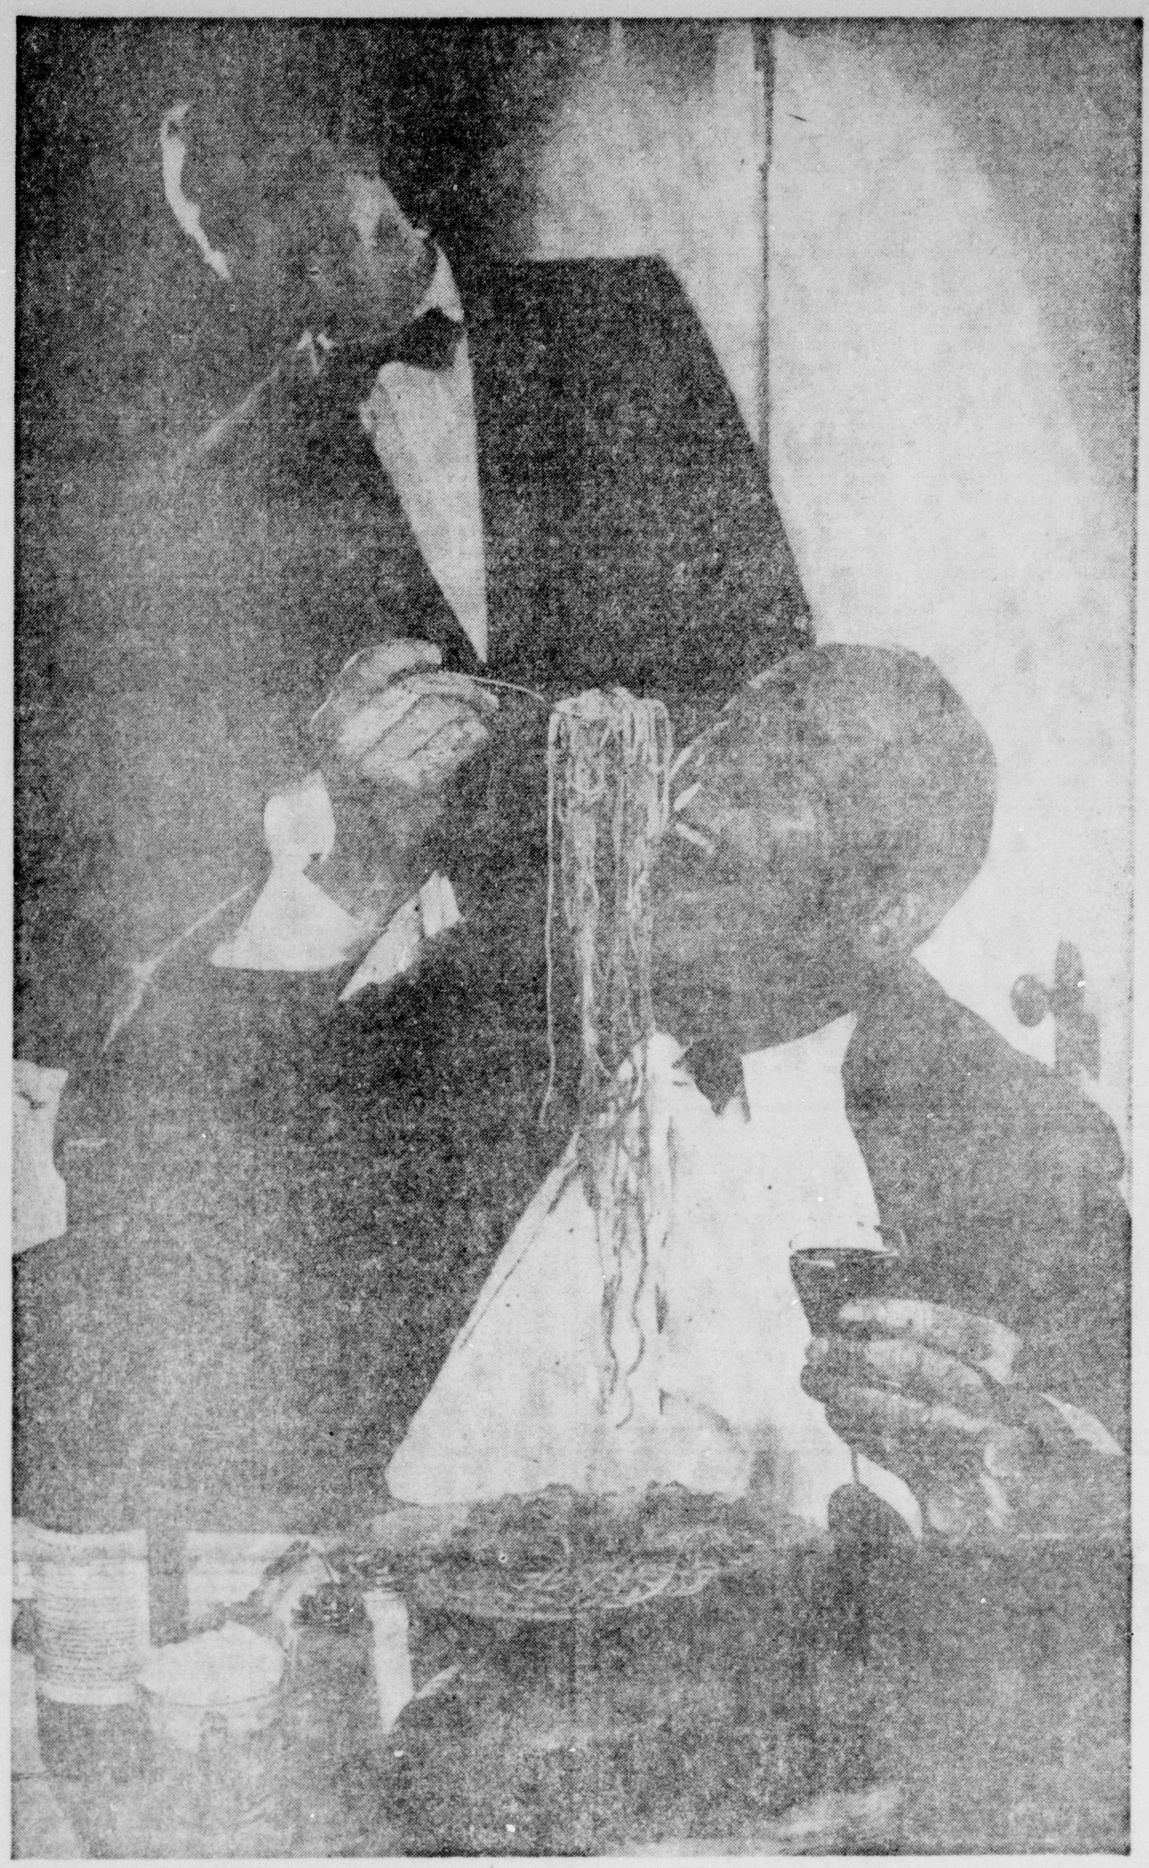
Today, America has become known throughout the world for its varied eating places, offering the foods of every land and people, just as it has always offered a haven for the peoples of these lands. The choice European and Oriental dishes are yours for the asking—and, even more, the dishes which have established America as the best-fed nation in the world.

And remember this: Family type eating houses predominate the Monroe-West Monroe restaurant picture, with enough specialty houses to satisfy those who desire that particular Italian dish or that delightful seafood specialty.

Your choice may depend on the condition of your purse. But the choice is always there.

It may be safely stated that the full meaning of the word "hospitality" will be the watchword, as it has been in the past, but especially so during this Hospitality Month of October.

Dining out tonight?



If the "proof of the pudding" is needed to show the fun of dining out, one need only glance at the wholehearted relish with which Milton Werschkul, of Portland, Oregon, tackles spaghetti in real "wind-up" style. (Photo by Allan J. DeLay, Portland Oregonion)

Movies, Dining Out Still America's Most Popular Entertainment Delights

Not matter how you look at it, Movies and Dining Out are still America's greatest entertainment values. Many forms of "home entertainment" are being offered the public, but there is something about "going out for the evening" whic' has always captured the fancy of Americans. And "going out" nine times out of ten means dining at a favorite restaurant and t.king in a movie at a favorite theater.

SIDELIGHT

Did you know that the first "businessmen's l u n c h" was created by Segius Locates, a Roman innkeeper in 40 B. C. who devised the feature for ship brokers too busy to go home?

Movie-makers, recognizing this family desire, 'ast year adopted the campaign, "Movies Are Better Than Ever," and have s i n c e placed into production movies to bear out that slogan. With more maturity and insight, today's Hollywood products are the most solid entertainment values in America. And theater-owners are conscious of the increasing demand for first-rate theaters. In Monroe, for example, the Tem was recently remodeled, and the Paramount is now undergoing extensive up-to-date remodeling in an effort to bring every comfort and luxury to theater-goe.s.

As for the restaurants, public feeding is big—and still growing. More than 13 billion dollars was spent in the country's food service operation in 1950.—More than was spent on all automobiles, and more than the petroleum, gas, electricity, water, fuel and ice industries combined. Twenty-five per cent of all food consumed in this country is eaten in public feeding establishments. Just twenty years ago only 10 per cent was consumed away from home.

An estimated 500,000 public feeding establishments grace this nation, 200,000 of which serve more than 6000 meals a month. In agregate, this industry serves nearly 100 million meals every day. The third largest retail industry in the United States, public feeding employes one of every six workers in retail trade, a total of more than two million.

At the present time, 70 million meals are served every day in the public eating places of this country. In metropolitan areas, millions of persons depend every day upon restaurant service for their meals.

The restaurant industry has been responsible for the establishment of many educational courses at high school, grade school and university levels for people who want to enter the restaurant industry. Schools of cookery for waiter and waitress training are becoming increasingly popular as more and more young people find the restaurant field a good paying and interesting vocation to follow. These people, well trained to begin with and with actual experience, are the restaurant operators of tomorrow.

Modern restaurant kitchens are spacious and spotless, with time and labor saving devices for food preparation and c l e a n i n g that Mother never dreamed of.

Science and mechanization have made it possible for today's restaurants to meet the highest standards of efficiency and cleanliness the world has ever known. The average investment in a modern restaurant is approximately $500 per seat.

Is this a familiar story? The harassed, bedraggled wife, working over a hot stove, greeted her husband with:

"Why don't you call up sometime and say you're not coming home for dinner, the way other men do?"

Or, better still, dinner in town with the wife could be the key to the doghouse. It used to be a rare treat when father said to the family, "Let's eat out tonight." Today, it's still a treat, but no longer rare, for "eating out has become part of our pattern of living. Housewives meet for 'shopping lunches;" businessmen find prospects easier to handle o er a good meal; and m.ny families enjoy eating out just for the fun of it.

Since its remodeling, the Trianon not only boasts a large dining area, but the beautiful Orchid Room for special luncheons, dinners, etc. At 3223 Louisville.

History Of Restaurants

Restaurants were first introduced, as such, in 1765 in Paris, when a man named Boulanger opened an establishment exclusively for the serving of refreshments and meals.

He was followed by imitators, mostly chefs and stewards who had left their employers, who opened similar places.

Following the revolution, restaurants grew rapidly when the aristocracy could no longer afford massive dining habits.

Some authorities claim the "medieval" history of the restaurant industry began during the revolution (French) when aristocrats in hiding were fed secretly by their servants. These rendezvous became known to other aristocrats who were willing to pay a small charge for well-cooked meals. After government was established their reputation continued as they became known as public restaurants.

Predecessors to Boulanger's Parisian place were Englands coffee houses and taverns with their serving daily "ordinaries," midday dinners family style. Reference to the ordinary goes back as far as 1577.

Earliest eating place on record in the United States is the Blue Anchor tavern in Philadelphia, which served food in 1683.

Throughout this country's early colonial days, wayside taverns and inns—much like those in England—were the only eating places. Many, such as Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg, Wayside Inn in South Sudbury and others in New England, still exist.

The first real restaurant in this country appears to have been Delmonico's which opened in New York in 1827. Many others quickly followed as the population centers along the eastern seaboard spread, creating a demand for food service beyond the scope of homes and taverns.

The word "restaurant" has its own origin in the Latin root word, "restaurare," meaning "to restore."

Here's an easy sandwich fillin to make for school - going lunch es. Combine ½ pound smal cur country style cottage cheese wit ¼ cup each chopped walnuts an chopped raisins. Tests Show Preferences

Patrons usually have a pretty good idea of what a restaurant is like before they go in, according to a survey by the Opinion Reserch Corporation.

Previous experience and recommendation of friends takes dinners-out to restaurants that have proved their popularity that comes only from good service, cleanliness and good food.

That "a satisfied customer is the best advertisement" has long been r.cognized by successful restaurateurs.

Reputation is built on five basic points, according to the survey.

Good food heads the list of customer demands, with a variety of choice and adequate portions that are appetizing, wholesome and tastefully served.

Pleasant atmosphere is ranked high, restau.ant owners have learned. Eating places that are relaxing, quiet, attractive and comfortable stand a good chance of attracting diners.

Good service, another important item, includes friendly, efficient and promp treatment. Cleanliness of place, appointments and personnel also rank at the top.

Location has become an important factor, particularly for busy city dwellers with brief noon hours.

Canned cling peach slices may be used on so many occasions they have practically become a staple household item, and one that fits into modest budgets, too. This time of year we like to combine the peach slices with unpeeled cubed apple, crisp halved Tokay grapes. Arrange the fruit on lettuce-garnished salad plates. Thin mayonnaise with some of the peach syrup and a bit of sour cream, and you have one of the very best fruit salads.

"Chili Powder Gives Deviled Eggs Exotic New Flavor and Eye-Appeal"

If you have marveled at the popularity of deviled eggs at picnics and informal buffet suppers, as the old saying goes, "You ain't seen nothing yet." Wait till your guests try these deviled eggs perked up with unique flavor of chili powder made from genuine ancho chili peppers from the land of sunshine South of the Border.

The trick is as simple as it is miraculous, too, because all you need do is add one teaspoon Gebhardt's Chili Powder to the yellows of six eggs in addition to the ingredients you ordinarily use in your deviled egg recipe. The bright red chili powder gives these deviled eggs extra eye-appeal, too, making the centers a rich orange as bright and sunshiny as a spring sunrise.

For added flavor and color, garnish the tops of your deviled eggs with strips of pimento.

If you have been under the impression that chili powder is only for making chili and other highly seasoned Mexican-style dishes, you've a wonderful surprise in store when you start using this seasoning to add extra flavor to soups, salads, stews, gravies, and an almost endless number of casseroles. If you are the type that likes to experiment with new dishes, you'll welcome a bottle of Gebhardt's Chili Powder on your pantry shelf. You will find it the most versatile seasoning in your kitchen and your entire family will enjoy the extra eating enjoyment that comes out of this tiny bottle.

Combine Pecans, Pumpkin For A Delicious Holiday Pie

BY GAYNOR MODOX
NEA Food And Markets Editor

From Illinois cooks comes this recipe for one of the creamiest pumpkin pies we've ever eaten at our house. The pecan halves that encircle it give a pleasant consistency contrast and a welcome extra flavor.

Pumpkin Pie
(6 to 8 servings)

One teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup boiling water, 2 eggs, 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups canned pumpkin, 1 cup evaporated milk, 3 tablespoons orange juice, 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell, pecan halves.

Blend spices and water. Beat eggs slightly in top of double boiler. Add sugar, salt, pumpkin and spice mixture. Blend thoroughly, then stir in milk. Heat over boiling water to scalding point, about 3 minutes. Blend in orange juice. Pour immediately into unbaked pastry shell.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes, then turn off heat and let pie remain in oven until filling is set, about 15 to 20 minutes longer. The heat retained in the oven will be sufficient to finish baking the filling. When ready to serve, place a circle of pecan halves around edge of filling. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

Thanksgiving dinner: Grapefruit halves with maraschino cherries, celery and olives, roast turkey, celery stuffing, giblet gravy, raw cranberry and orange relish, surprise baked potatoes, corn fritters, green beans with sauteed almonds, heated rolls, butter or margarine, lettuce, onion and beet salad, French dressing, pumpkin pie with pecans, Cheddar cheese, coffee, milk.

Neat Trick For Taming Tricksters

It's almost time for spooks and witches to haunt your neighborhood again, so better be ready with treats for all the Halloween spirits that ring your doorbell next Saturday. Want to put smiles on the little faces behind those weird and fearsome mas'-s? Treat your trick-happy visitors to some chewing gum. Sticks or packages of gum win youngsters' thanks instead of pranks. The cost is small and the treats are ready-wrapped for quick and easy handling. What's more, your parental neighbors will be thankful your treat was chewing gum because it's healthful, wholesome and won't overload goblins' tummies. A stop at your friendly merchant's display of chewing gum will prepare you for treating 'em right. That's the spirit!

Our household is never without a few packages of raisins on the shelf. We use them on countless occasions. The children like raisins mixed with peanut butter as a sandwich spread. They like to eat them just as they come from the package, too. We oldsters especially enjoy them in two ageless desserts — rice pudding and bread pudding.

Make your next party cake this way. Prepare and bake a 2-layer white or chocolate cake according to packaged cake mix directions. Meanwhile, combine ½ pint whipping cream with 2 tablespoons cocoa, 1-3 cup granulated sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla extract. Chill in refrigerator 2 hours or longer. Then beat until mixture will hold its shape and stand in peaks. Frost top, sides and between layers of cake with frosting and sprinkle generously with roasted slivered almonds and shavings of semi-sweet chocolate. Rich and wonderful!

Ingredients: 4 slices bread, 1½ cups finely chopped cooked veal or lamb or beef, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, one 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, 2 egg whites.

Method: Toast bread on one side, then place on cookie sheet, toasted side up. Put meat in a bowl; add mayonnaise, mustard, parsley, salt and pepper. Mix well; taste and add more seasoning if necessary. Drain mushrooms, reserving broth for other use. Add drained mushrooms to meat mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and gently fold into meat and mushroom mixture. Pile lightly on toasted sides of bread, spreading gently toward edges. Bake in moderate (375F) oven just until thoroughly hot, about 15 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Ingredients: 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons olive oil, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 small onions, 4 thick (1 to 1½ inches) loin lamb chops, paprika.

Method: Squeeze juice from lemon (there should be 2 to 2½ tablespoons); pour into shallow dish big enough to hold lamb chops. Add olive oil and salt; stir. Peel onions and quarter; cut into thin strips and add to marinade. Place lamb chops in marinade; spoon some of the liquid and onion strips over top of chops. Cover and refrigerate 1 to 2 hours, turning once so both sides of chops get benefit of marinade. Remove onion strips from chops and place chops on broiler rack. Drain onions and place on a piece of aluminum foil. Broil chops on one side; turn; now place onions on foil on boiler rack. Finish broiling chops along with onions. Don't worry if onion tips are a little charred; they taste good this way. Pile onions on chops and sprinkle with a dash of paprika. Serve at once. Makes 2 servings.

Loflin Family Has Reunion

EROS—The annual reunion of the Loflin family was held at Salem Church last Sunday with more than a hundred persons attending.

The members of this gathering were grandchildren, nieces, nephews, great grandchildren and children of two brothers, Jack and Henry Loflin and their sisters, Vina Loflin Griffith and Lee Loflin Burson, now deceased. They came to Louisiana from Alabama more than half a century ago. One sister went to South Arkansas to live and the others made their homes in Louisiana. Some of the visitors Sunday came from Texas, others came from Arkansas.

A business session was held and officers were elected. They were Rudolph Griffin, of Chatham, president; Mrs. Pearl Chatham, Chatham, vice president; Roy N. Hearne, Eros, secretary-treasurer.

There were talks by different persons present. Rev. Tommy Harper, Lecompte, great great grandson of Henry Loflin, former deacon of Salem Church delivered a sermon. Rev. Harper was formerly pastor of Salem.

Salem Church was selected as the place for reunions in the future. The family plans to present the church with a memorial in honor of Mr. Henry Loflin.

Black is back, as usual, but if it does not become you don't wear it. Midnight blue or dark gray might be good substitutes. Or, you might wear the black with color relief about the face.

The short, or dress, length is the one most in demand now for negligees and robes. Women of all ages, from teeners to grandmothers, like this length and wear it.

P.-T. A. Council To Have School Of Instruction

To render a great service to each Parent - Teacher Association Unit in the Twin Cities and the outlying areas, each year the Twin City Council of P.-T. A. is conducting a school of instruction.

This year the guest speaker on the program will be Dr. Henry Sasager, professor of psychology at Northeast State College.

This school is for all officers and chairmen of various standing committees. There will be an experienced instructor on hand to teach various classes, outlining in detail the duties of each officer or chairman. The school is most helpful especially to newcomers accepting office for the first time.

Registration will start promptly at 9:00 a. m. in the educational building of the First Baptist Church in Monroe Wednesday, October 21, 1953.

Girdle Guides Hose Length Stove-To-Table

Stocking advertisements are constantly heralding manufacturing advances. Yet no matter what lengths the stocking people go to, some girls are forever on the run.

The trouble often is a failure to coordinate stockings with girdles. When stockings are too short for the girdle, they not only develop runs quickly, but also pull and are uncomfortable when one is sitting or bending.

Just being sure you get your stockings "plenty long" will not end your grooming worries. For the hose will wrinkle and bag at the knee, ankle and heel if too long. Besides, seams will not stay straight.

There should be no problem in coordinating these items since girdles, like stockings, come in several lengths.

The time to check the lengths is when you are selecting a girdle. Fasten the garter at the point where they fall when the foundation is adjusted to your figure, and always fasten the back garters first.

The garters should take hold right in the middle of the double welt of the stocking top.

P.-T. A. Plans Halloween Party Oct. 22

The Central Grammar School P.-T. A.'s annual Halloween carnival is well under way with members working in order to make this their biggest carnival in a number of years.

At the executive meeting last month, Mrs. Ray Brandin was appointed chairman of the carnival with Mrs. Joe Hundley as co-chairman. Both are arranging for the different booths.

Hot dogs will be a feature of the carnival with chocolate milk and other drinks for the kiddies. Ice cream, home made candy and cold drinks will also be sold. The fish pond and darts will prove to be as big an attraction this year as it has in the past.

The coffee shop will feature home made cakes and a place to sit and rest while waiting for the kiddies to see everything and play games. Another added attraction will be the real live ponies for the children to ride.

The big night is Thursday, October 22 at Central Grammar school, from 6:00 to 9:30.

CSC Dedication Plans Completed

Housewives, take notice!

If you have a husband, son or brother working at Commercial Solvents Corporation's Sterlington plant, you may find him turning into the best home maker's helper you ever had.

Not that we want to get in trouble with the men who make chemicals there by telling you how tidy they're getting, but the fact of the matter is this:

Monday, October 19, 1953 is the big day for dedicating the new $20 million plant expansion which has just been completed. Top CSC directors and officials headed by J. Albert Woods, president, leading officials and businessmen from the Monroe area, and key business leaders from various parts of the country are coming to Monroe to attend the big goings-on and hear U. S. Senator Allen J. Ellender, Sr., deliver the main address.

So all your CSC menfolks are giving their ponderous 2,500 horsepower compressors, massive reactors and convertors a polishing and manicuring, the likes of which your best piece of furniture would do well to have.

According to Eck. Wheeler, manager of CSC's Dixie Production Division and head man at the Sterlington plant, the new facilities have doubled the quantitites of ammonia and methanol made there. All of the new facilities were built by folks from this area, with the construction job handled by Ford, Bacon and Davis, Construction Co.

Starting Monday, the Sterlington Commercial Solvents plant will become one of the world's largest producers of methanol, a basic industrial chemical which is used in making such necessities as rubber, paint, plastics, automotive antifreeze and, indirectly, plywood, to mention a few.

And from the CSC ammonia and solid ammonium nitrate plants will come enough nitrogen bearing materials for agriculture to make a substantial dent in the world-wide shortage of this important plant food.

That's why all the to-do, all the visitors and all the elbow polish.

The observances get under way Sunday afternoon at 5:30 p. m., when KNOE-TV will present a sneak preview of the new plant. The audience will see for the first time a unique new plant, the only one of its kind in the world for making ammonium nitrate fertilizer just as it starts to produce. The program, entitled "And So We Grow," is the story of the remarkable growth of Monroe and CSC, and has been two months in the making.

Distinguished out-of-towners will be welcomed at a special reception Sunday evening at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

After a get-together breakfast at the Hotel Frances Monday morning, the visitors will be taken to the Sterlington plant for tours of the new facilities and a barbecue luncheon at which Senator Ellender and CSC President Woods will speak. All plant employees except those required to keep the plants functioning have been invited by Mr. Woods to attend. The barbecue will be held on the shore of Pace Lake which is on the plant grounds.

Today and tomorrow, last minute touches are being added to assure that the entire dedication event goes off smoothly. Tour guides are rehearsing their lines and trying to think of all the questions they might be asked — and the right answers that go with them. Bits of dust are being whisked out of hard-to-get-at corners. Machinery in the new plants —always a little bit temperamental at first — is getting last-minute adjustments to make sure it runs properly.

So, if there's a CSC man in your family, ask him if he'll use his new-found talents to give you a hand with the fall housecleaning.

But don't tell him we told you!

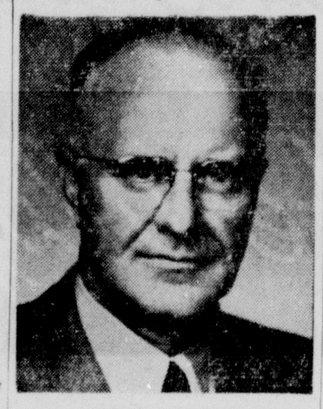
It is situated about three miles from the Sterlington, Louisiana plant which supplies anhydrous ammonia, one of the two basic raw materials. Nitric acid, the other raw material, is made in a new unit shown at the lower left. The only plant of its kind in the world, an entirely new process is used to make solid ammonium nitrate. Developed by L. A. Stengel of CSC's Research Division, the process is protected by a patent. It does not require the conventional prilling towers, coolers and dryers.

Local Plant To Meet Nitrogen Shortage

Thirty one years ago a young man from Wisconsin picked his way through a cottonfield in what was to him a strange flat wilderness. His name was Clark Boardman. Although he didn't know it, he was standing on what was to be the site of one of the world's largest plants for making two of the most important products used in agriculture and industry, ammonia and methanol.



CLARK BOARDMAN

Young Boardman's job, along with others who lived in or had just moved to Monroe, was to help clear a piece of ground for a plant to make carbon from natural gas via a relatively new process.

This was the winter in 1922 and work was beginning on the Thermatomic Carbon Company, now a landmark with its spectacular but harmless flashes of flame against the Louisiana sky.

"We pulled cotton stalks that day," Mr. Boardman, now vice-president of Thermatomic Carbon, will tell you. "And some of the old-timers still with us worked alongside me that day doing the same thing—Jack Usrey, Matt Parker, Hugh Matkins and Jeff Carr."

Today, more than 31 years after Thermatomic produced its first batch of carbon, a mighty chemical city stretches almost as far as the eye can see to the north, east and south of the carbon company. Thermatomic itself is part of this industrial community—the Sterlington plant of the Commercial Solvents Corporation — even though it still operates as a separate affiliated company.

Nine years after Thermatomic first fired its carbon making furnaces, Commercial Solvents took over its management. And five years later, in 1936, CSC acquired

Nitrate Fertilizer To Help Farmers

A new form of high nitrogen content fertilizer — 75,000 tons of it a year — is being produced at a unique, new plant erected by Commercial Solvents Corporation three miles east of its Sterlington, La., plant.

The output of the new plant will help meet the national and world-wide shortage of nitrogen for agriculture, according to J. E. "Eck" Wheeler, manager of Commerical Solvents, Dixie Production Division of which the Sterlington plant is a part.

The new product, CSC solid ammonium nitrate has a nitrogen content of 33.5 per cent nitrogen, which is about as high a nitrogen content as is found useful in solid form for direct application, Mr. Wheeler said.

J. E. "ECK" WHEELER

The output of the Sterlington plant will be distributed largely in Louisiana, with the full production going to the southeastern states from Texas to the Atlantic coast.

Unlike existing forms of solid ammonium nitrate fertilizer, which is made in the form of round prills, the new material made at Sterlington is irregularly shaped and lends itself particularly to easy handling by the farmer. The process for making this fertilizer was developed by Leonard A. Stengel of CSC's Research Division.

A unique aspect of the new plant is the absence of customary costly facilities and processes found in the manufacture of ammonium nitrate fertilizer. There are no coolers, driers or prilling towers, Mr. Stengel said.

The process consists of pouring molten ammonium nitrate onto four stainless steel moving belts. By the time the product reaches chopping machines at the end of the belts it has solidified sufficiently to be passed through a series of grading processes. In turn it emerges as rice - sized coated particles packed in distinctive red, green and white bags.

Research Key To CSC Expansion

Research has brought Commercial Solvents Corporation from a fledgling force in American industry to its present international position. The key to this successful growth which has led to diversification of products and expanded activities, has stemmed from a basic research program.

Born of intensive World War I research in solvents, CSC earned distinction as the pioneer producer of acetone and butanol. British scientist Chaim Weizmann proved that acetone, a basic material sorely needed by the Allies at that time, could be produced in great quantities by bacterial fermentation.

This was the beginning of Commercial Solvents. A plant established at Terre Haute, Ind., for this purpose was bought from the government in 1919 and became CSC's first production unit.

By 1920 CSC had expanded this biochemical production to three chemicals for use in two leading industries. Today, however, products of CSC's biochemical and petrochemical processes number in the hundreds and serve most major American industries.

According to the company's most recent annual report, an increasing proportion of its total sales and profits are being derived from products developed in recent years.

CSC 335N Ammonium Nitrate

NEW Crystalline FORM

Free-Flowing Fertilizer

NITROGEN

The use of nitrogen for increasing crop yields and profits is well recognized and practiced today. Of special and particular importance is the farmer's selection of the most suitable fertilizer to meet his needs.

One of the best types of nitrogen fertilizer is ammonium nitrate — containing 33.5% nitrogen —in crystalline form. To meet the increasing need for ammonium nitrate, Commercial Solvents Corporation began a long range development program in 1946. As a producer of anhydrous ammonia and nitric acid, the basic raw materials for ammonium nitrate, it was only necessary to determine the best and most economical manufacturing process for making a product having the qualities of lowest possible moisture content with free-flowing properties.

Several years of investigation by CSC's Research Department led to the development of an entirely new process. Invented by L. A. Stengel, and protected by Patent U. S. No. 2,568,901, the process was put into pilot plant operation at Sterlington, Louisiana. Ammonium nitrate fertilizer from this unit was carefully tested and proved in the field by both scientists and farmers under a wide range of weather conditions and with various types of spreading equipment.

Based upon these results a large commercial unit was erected near Sterlington, Louisiana and is now producing the "new crystalline form" of CSC Ammonium Nitrate Fertilizer.

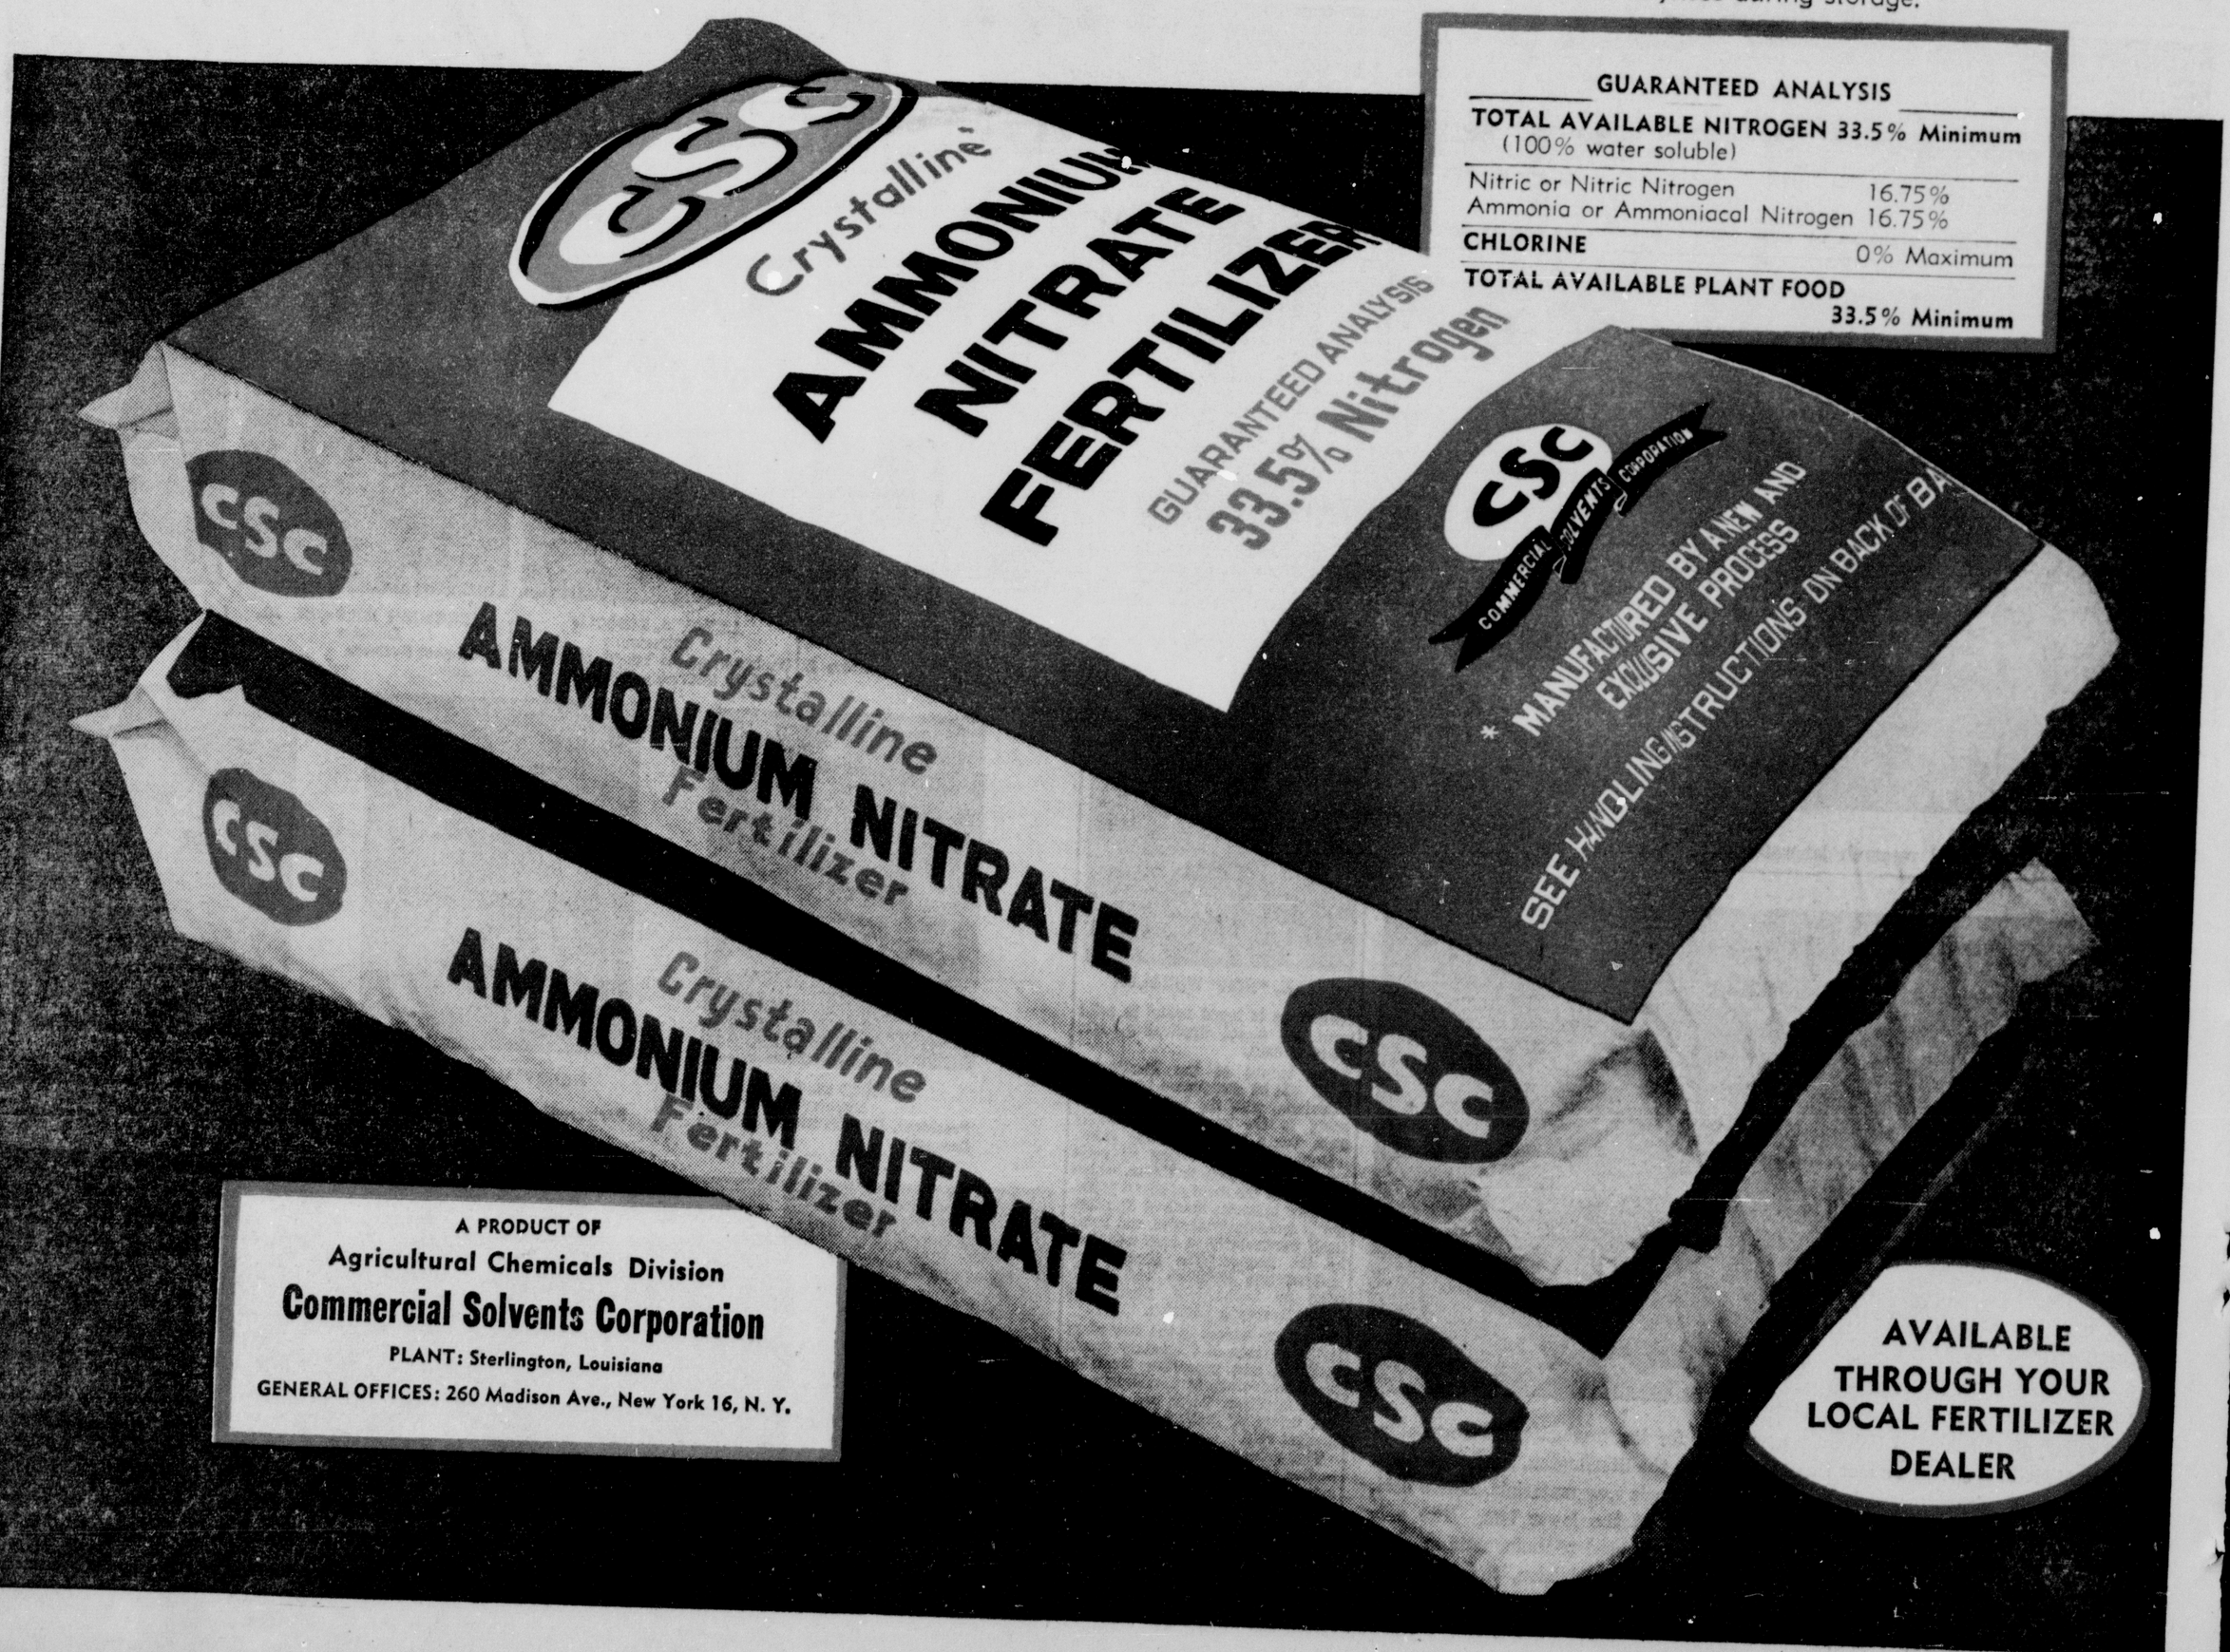
FREE-FLOWING

Spreading tests show that Commercial Solvents crystalline ammonium nitrate is free-flowing and actually gives a more controllable flow than conventional material As the larger particles go past the spreader openings, they create a scouring action around the rotary breaker and distributor outlet, thus reducing tendency of material to stick and clog. Regardless of conditions, CSC Ammonium Nitrate Fertilizer applies readily.

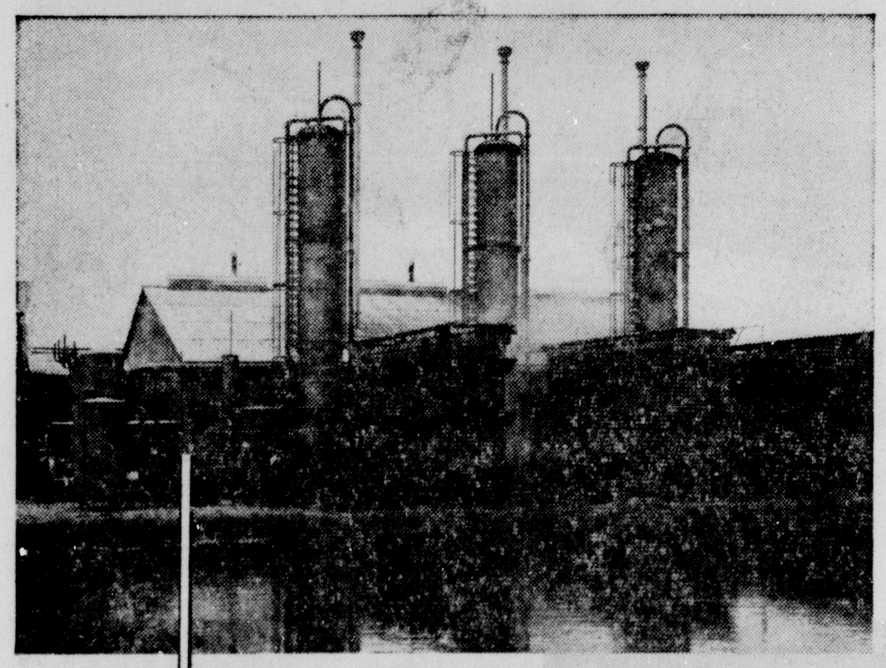
LOW MOISTURE

The exclusive CSC process insures low moisture material, which is necessary to reduce caking in storage. Coating of particles is equally important in order to keep material dry, and further reduce the tendency of ammonium nitrate to pick up moisture.

Every precaution is taken to prevent moisture absorption. CSC Ammonium Nitrate is packed in 6-ply bags, taped at both ends, which assures continued dryness during storage.



How CSC Makes Ammonium Nitrate



NEW PLANT AND PROCESS

NOW IN OPERATION is the new plant of Commercial Solvents Corporation for the production of ammonium nitrate fertilizer. It is located at Pace Lake about three miles from the Sterlington unit.

This development has attracted wide attention because it utilizes an entirely new process for making ammonium nitrate, invented by L. A. Stengel of the CSC Research Division. Advantages of this exclusive process over conventional processes now being used are as follows: (1) lower capital investment; (2) shorter time to build the plant due to simplification of construction and process; (3) reduced operating costs.

The basic materials for making ammonium nitrate fertilizer are anhydrous ammonia and nitric acid. Ammonia is made at the Sterlington unit (right) and transported three miles by pipe line to the fertilizer plant. Nitric acid is produced in a new unit (left) at the Pace Lake site. These two raw materials go to charge tanks, shown below.

New York Rabbi Seeks Atom Raid Civic Study

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (Special)—The Rev. Dr. William F. Rosenblum, rabbi of Temple Israel, called yesterday for a commission of "responsible and qualified citizens appointed by the mayor to "look into" the matter of the possibility of a Russian atomic attack and "tell us the truth."

"When the President of the United States tells us one thing and his lieutenants tell us another, the man on the street is not only dumfounded, he is confounded," Dr. Rosenblum said. "Let's get down to cases here. Who is telling the truth? Those who say that Russia is bound to attack us and that it has the potentiality now, or those who insist that the Soviet is behind schedule? Is it three years more, or is it later than we think?"

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Zeitlin, rabbi of Riverside Synagogue, 310 W. 103d St., said that "considerable progress has already been made in the direction of peace through the instrumentality of the United Nations Charter."

Dr. Zeitlin said that "the task before us is demanding and painstaking," and that "the efforts of the peace-loving nations of the world to establish peace cannot be founded upon some magic device or formula."

Rabbi Zev Zahavy, of Congregation Zichron Ephraim, 163 E. 67th St., preached on "The Fundamentals of Traditional Judaism," saying that "the tradition of observing the dietary laws in Judaism is as important as the observance of the Ten Commandments. Negate the one and you invalidate the very basic sentiment wherewith you recognize the traditional importance of the other."

The Rev. Dr. Israel Goldstein, of Congregation B'nai Jeshurun, 88th St. and Broadway, speaking on "Ancient Skyscrapers and Modern Babels," said "the best brains and the noblest spirits of the human race must be mobilized to save mankind of dying of "improvements". He called for a conference of "twelve outstanding intellectual and moral leaders" in a "neutral" country to achieve this end.

Memorial Church Men Get Charter For Organization

A new organization of Methodist Men in Memorial Methodist Church 401 Sherrouse Avenue, Monroe, has been chartered by Methodism's General Board of Lay Activities in Chicago.

President of the local organization is Arnold R. Kilpatrick; William K. Harris and Woodrow W. Hathorn are vice president and secretary. The Rev. Ralph Cain is pastor.

The local group is one of 6,000 Methodist Men organizations out of a total goal of 10,000 clubs which the board plans to charter by 1956.

It is estimated that 2,000,000 men in the Methodist Church are prospective members of Methodist Men clubs.

Robert G. Mayfield, executive secretary of the board states that, "We seek to mobilize through Methodist Men the tremendous power and enthusiasm of the men of the church. Our purpose is to give strength to the program of Christ and His Church through consecrated service of men in every local church of Methodism."

Presbyterians To Hear Pastor In Book Review

The last of the book reviews for the month of October, presented by Reverend W. H. McFadden, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will be given on Sunday night, October 18, in the church sanctuary at 7:30 p. m.

The book to be reviewed at that time will be the historical novel "Salome" by Henry Denker. Mr. Denker is co-author and director of the radio program "The Greatest Story Ever Told." This novel portrays the customs of the people during the time of the life of Christ and is based on certain passages from the Bible. It reveals how the Christian faith can help solve the problems growing out of the greed, selfishness and lust of the human race.

A picture by the same name has been made by one of the leading film companies and has already been shown extensively throughout the United States.

On last Sunday night, Mr. McFadden reviewed the book "A Man Called Peter" to a large and attentive audience.

Further reviews are being planned for the month of November, of which due announcement will be made.

People of all faiths are cordially invited to attend this and all other reviews.

Temple Baptists Have Increasing Congregation

Temple Baptist Church had a wonderful Sunday 11 October 1953, had 242 in Sunday School and set a new all time record of 123 in Training Union.

All members and visitors at Temple Baptist Church are urged to attend Training Union each Sunday night beginning promptly at 6:30. During months of October, November and December a short film on "The Living Bible" is shown at general assembly. Only two of the scheduled fourteen shows have been presented, so make your plans and come out each Sunday evening at 6:30 p. m. and see this entire series.

Film for tonight is "First Disciples" — Jesus on returning to Galilee meets John the Baptist who is teaching his followers. John is moved deepiy, as is Andrew, and they follow him home. As they talk with Jesus, they know He is the promised Messiah. Andrew goes to his brother Simon and brings him to Jesus, whereupon Jesus names him Peter which means "rock". While Jesus and his first three Disciples are walking, Peter sees Phillip and he joins the group. Phillip then sees Nathaniel and he too joins the group.

Film for Sunday 25 October 1953 will be "Woman at the Well." Let's all come out Sunday and work toward having 200 out each Sunday.

organisms, continued to be an important field of active research. Many of its well - known products like riboflavin, penicillin, bacitracin, and Expandex—CSC's plasma volume expander made from dextran, have come from research efforts in this field.

Petrochemistry, the manufacture of industrial and agricultural products from natural gas such as those produced at Sterlington, is receiving greater emphasis by the CSC Research Division. While this division of the company has its headquarters in a multimillion dollar reserach center at Terre Haute, its work is also carried on at plants similar to Sterlington, through smaller laboratories and pilot plants. In this way CSC's research activities are kept in constant gear with chemical production under actual operating conditions.

The company carries on research efforts outside the confines of its own research department. Grants-in-aid are made to selected universities and agricultural experiment stations. In the way, the scope of CSC's research organization is broadened by work with a group of specialized consultants in various parts of the country.

Research at CSC is not only planned ventures into the unknown. It consists also of step by step procedures to improve and find new uses for existing products. Much of this work is directed in support of the short term needs of the company, such as finding new and better ways for making its products. In this work, CSC research people maintain a close working relationship with people in its engineering, production and sales divisions.

Products of Commercial Solvents, many of which are the result of its continuous research program, include agricultural chemicals, industrial chemicals, potable spirits, pharmaceuticals, animal nutrients, and automotive chemicals.

Those faraway pastures actually are greener to the eye. This is because the atmosphere filters out the yellow light, leaving an impression of deep green.

Bible Words to Live by

ROMANS 8:32 — He who spared not His own Son, but gave Him up for us all, will He not with Him freely give us all things?

In this beautiful word we are brought face to face with the eternal love of God the Father. That love breaks upon us like a heavenly deluge. He loved so much that His own Son was not held back when the moment of supreme sacrifice came. His most precious possession was given to prove His love. In the light of this gift to guarantee my salvation, how glorious it is to rejoice that all my other needs will be supplied from this same generous hand. No want of mine can possibly be too great for One who has triumphantly demonstrated His love for me. He loves me now. He will freely give now. He will always be the divine Lover who will delight to give. What sublime assurance! Hallelujah! What a Saviour!

New Memorial Church Established In So. End

Rev. C. E. M'Call, minister of the Williams Memorial Church of the Nazarene, announced excellent progress of this new organization, named for the former general superintendent of the church now deceased.

This church was organized six months ago by Rev. E. T. Harris, a former Monroe pastor, and it has been making progress ever since. While meeting temporarily in the Plum street school, a site for the church has been purchased at 1513 South Third street, corner of Magnolia and foundation of the building is now ready for a structure of solid masonry 40 by 70 feet in dimensions.

Reverend M'Call has been entertaining Rev. C. E. Bordelon, minister of the downtown Church of the Nazarene in New Orleans, who stated while here that the outlook for the new Monroe church is highly promising.

The Sunday services are well attended. At the Sunday school hour, 9:45 a.m. the attendance has been 125 or more. Preaching is at 11 a.m. with young people's meeting at 7 p.m. and evangelistic service at 7:30 p.m. During the week there is a Wednesday night prayer meeting at 7:30 p.m. All services being at this time in the Plum street school building.

a majority interest in the carbon company.

Then came World War Two. The Armed Forces needed explosives to power America's weapons of war. So, alongside the Thermatomic Carbon plant, Commercial Solvents built and operated the Dixie Ordnance Works for the government. The two plants concentrated on making materials of war; carbon to give rubber goods like boots and tires their resiliency, strength and wearing abilities and anhydrous ammonia for explosives.

When hostilities came to an official end in 1946, both plants returned to peacetime production. Now, nitrogen-bearing anhydrous ammonia for explosives.

When hostilities came to an official end in 1946, both plants returned to peacetime production. Now, nitrogen - bearing anhydrous ammonia, a petrochemistry product of our great reservoirs of natural gas was prepared for use by farmers as a crop fertilizer, and for use by industry for a wide variety of end products.

Meanwhile, another petrochemical, methanol, came into increased demand as an automotive antifreeze and as a factor in the production of plastics, plywood, paint, resins and many other vital materials used in industry, the home and on the farm. So, in 1948, Commercial Solvents began construction of a new methanol plant at Sterlington with an annual production capacity of 14 million gallons, some of which goes into its popular "Nor'way" anti-freeze.

When J. Albert Woods became the president of Commercial Solvents in 1950, he brought with him the benefit of years of experience in the agricultural chemicals business. He was well aware of the great world wide shortage of agricultural nitrogen, one of the three basic plant foods.

Immediately, he began making plans to double the size of the Sterlington plant and help meet the world wide nitrogen shortage. At the same time, plans were made to double the methanol output and to utilize a unique new process developed by CSC for the production of solid ammonium nitrate fertilizer.

These plans, which were just visions three years ago, are today realities. Within 24 hours, these new facilities will begin full scale operation as they are dedicated by Mr. Woods and U. S. Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana.

From a relatively humble beginning in a cotton field at Sterlington thirty one years ago, there has arisen a far flung source of vitally needed chemicals. Today Commercial Solvents' Sterlington plant is capable of producing 30 million gallons of methanol, enough to fill 4,000 railroad tank cars annually. It will make more than tons of nitrogen solutions and solid ammonium nitrate fertilizer for farmers crops from Texas to the Atlantic seaboard.

If you should ask the top executives of Commercial Solvents about future expansion at Sterlington, they'll just smile and say they'll cross that bridge when they come to it. But no one will say that the limit has been reached.

Rev. Lea Joyner Revival Is Set In Home Town

Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor of South side Methodist Church and the Methodist Church in Fairbanks will be the evangelist for a revival meeting that will be held at he home church located in Grayson La. The meeting will begin on Sunday night Oct. 18, and will close on Saturday night, Oct. 24. Services will be held at 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. A special children's service will be held each evening a 6:30 p.m.

Miss Joyner was converted and accepted the call to the ministry in the Grayson Methodist Church. She has been a member of the Louisiana conference for 15 years.

The people of Grayson and surrounding territory are proud of the outstanding record that Miss Joyner has made as a minister and they are looking forward to hearing her. Many in Caldwell Parish remember her as the first pastor of Columbia Heights Methodist Church, located less than a mile from the town of Columbia. The church was organized in 1941. Under her leadership a new church was erected and many members were received into it. Since that time Miss Joyner served as assistant pastor to Dr. Serex in First Church, Monroe, and in 1952 was appointed to Monroe Mission Charge where a new church has been organized and now has 25 members.

All are invited to hear Miss Joyner and participate in these services.

W. C. T. U. To Have Convention

The 63rd annual convention of Woman's Christian Temperance Union will convene in Monroe at the First Baptist Church on October 26-28, with the Monroe and West Monroe organizations hosts. Mrs. Jack Lucas and Mrs. W. J. Stockstill, presidents respectively.

A world-wide organization with union in 154 countries, this is the fourth time the convention has been held in the Twin Cities.

Mrs. Harvey A. Hall, president Louisiana's Union, of Baton Rouge will report on the World's W. C. T. U. in Vancouver, B. C., which she attended recently.

Dr. Earl W. Hotalen, director of the Louisiana Moral and Civic Association, will address the convention on Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Judge Chris Barnette, juvenile officer of Caddo Parish, will be the speaker on Tuesday night at 7:30.

All sessions promise to be of interest, and the general public is invited to attend, it is announced.

Homecoming In Old Antioch Is Set For Sunday

Time honored Antioch church, whose history dates back nearly or quite a hundred years, located off the Jonesboro road will hold its annual homecoming on Sunday when large crowds are expected.

Former members and attendants at this church are cordially invited to be present and renew old friendships.

The pastor, Reverend Cornely, will bring an inspiring message and at noon a dinner on the ground is to be served.

Two hundred scheduled air liners cross the North Atlantic every seven days, an average of 10 flights in each direction each week.

Quarterly Meeting Of Parish W. M. U. Slated

The quarterly meeting of Ouachita Parish W. M. U. will be held at Calvary Baptist Church, Wednesday beginning at ten o'clock, for consideration of the theme, "First Things First." Mrs. R. E. Wilson, associational superintendent, will be in charge of the meeting.

The worship period from 10:00 to 10:15, will begin with the hymn "Christ tor the Whole Wide World." The prayer will be that women of the association put first things first in the new year that is upon them. Mrs. Harvey Houston will read the Scriptures for the session. The new W. M. U. Watchword, "Declare His glory among all nations, His marvelous works among all peoples," will be presented by members of Sterlington W. M. S.

Mrs. C. L. Dillingham will present the new hymn, and will be followed by items of business when minutes of the previous meeting will be read; roll of churches called and committees appointed.

The Standard of Excellence will be displayed in order that points reached during the past year may be determined.

Acting A Career

HOLLYWOOD, October 17—Acting is a rewarding profession.

As we used to say back in my native Oklahoma, "The pay's right smart, the living's mighty good."

But more important than the financial aspects — and important they are—is the recognition of accomplishment from your fellowman that comes with success.

To sum it up, acting offers money for the purse and food for the soul to those who reach the pinnacle.

Most radio, TV, stage and screen stars try to discourage youngsters from attempting to reach stardom in the acting profession. I know that these stars do this to try and save the youngsters from heartbreak and disappointment. I look at it differently.

If a youngster has been bitten by the acting bug, I tell him—or her, to give it the old college try. They may get their hearts bruised a little but I doubt if they'll receive any permanent injuries from a few disappointments and setbacks. To a well-adjusted person, these disappointments will only bring them up off the floor more determined than ever, or, they'll turn from it once and for all.

Today a youngster starting out in the acting field has a greater chance of reaching stardom than ever before. The constantly growing field of TV has opened up new opportunities for fresh talent. As to advice to the youngsters who would try, I can only offer conclusions that I have reached as a result of having attained film stardom the hard way. It was on my 10th trip to Hollywood, after nine miserable failures, that I made "good."

First, and most important, is that the girl, or boy, who has decided to make acting a career should be sure he, or she, is ready for their big break when it does come.

By being ready, I do not mean that they should attend some costly school of drama, or spend sums of money they can ill-afford for training from a drama coach. Although many stars will disagree with me on this, I have the feeling that many potentially fine actors and actresses are lost because they put themselves into the hands of a drama coach who works overtime trying to fit the student into a pattern. I feel that each individual is a very definite personality, unlike the person next to him or her. I feel they have a better chance of success if they hold onto their own personalities and don't permit themselves to be fitted to a mold.

I would also advise a youngster from pulling up stakes in their respective hometowns until they are ready. If they have the talent and work at it in their own locale, whether on radio, TV or little theater, sooner, or later, they'll be discovered and sought out for bigger things whether it's a trek to Broadway or a trip to Hollywood.

Another danger to a newcomer is publicity. Publicity can be the making of a star if properly handled, but publicity can also backfire as many promising newcomers have learned to their dismay. Most products of publicity alone fall by the wayside.

It is my advice to make haste slowly when it comes to publicity. once a youngster has a chance to appear in a play, on TV, or in a motion picture, they should concentrate on their performance and forget the publicity. If the performance scores, the publicity will follow.

In the year before my appearance in RKO's 3-D, Technicolor film, "Son of Sinbad," with Sally Forrest, Lili St. Cyr, Vincent Price and Mari Blanchard, I was called on to do 117 fan magazine interviews — none of which I sought. Film goers had written to the editors requesting the information about me.

As I said in the beginning, acting is a rewarding profession but one should never forget that anything which offers above average rewards also calls for above average perfirmance.

Telemeter Try May Spark Boom

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Paramount's TV world premiere in Palm Springs next month of Ginger Rogers' new film, "Forever Female," via coin-in-the-slot Telemeter, is a BIG milestone for Hollywood and TV. Samuel Goldwyn's plan also includes showing 13 of his old films on home screens on a sponsored basis.

Stars, directors and writers have been stampeding into the TV corral this year, but Paramount's Telemeter experiment and Goldwyn's about-face is more concrete evidence that there may be a change in the hands-off TV policy of major studios.

Phonevision's test of pay-as-you-see movies in Chicago was impressive despite the use of films already seen in theaters. Even old films that have died in theaters have made money on TV.

But now it's NEW, big-time movies for the Telemeter tests and for free, such high-quality Goldwyn films as Walter Huston's "Dodsworth," Ronald Coleman's "Cynara," Eddie Cantor's "Kid Millions" and Gary Cooper's "Adventures of Marco Polo" (with Lana Turner playing a maid.)

If the coins burst the Telemeter machines, and if the Goldwyn films earn the $1,000,000 he believes they will, there's a good chance Hollywood's major studios will start grabbing the gold rings on the TV merry-go-round.

Hard Fight, Mom

Dennis Day, who won the fight to put his show on film, is saying, "I don't know how I did it" about his singing on a TV live show for two seasons.

Dennis has a comfortable margin of time now in which to film three songs for each show, but he says:

"It wasn't like this before. I couldn't do my best as a singer. I'd rehearse five times on the day of the show, but by show time I'd be sung out. I'd do a strenuous comedy routine, then race across the stage to start my song. There was hardly a time when I wasn't out of breath."

It's 52 years in show business for Donald MacBride, who plays Marie Wilson's boss on "My Friend Irma." One chapter of his career sounds like a movie plot.

Instead of putting him in uniform when he enlisted in World War I, the Army let him complete a year's road tour as a stage star. Between performances he looked for draft dodgers as an Army secret-service operator.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Your lovable little dog may be "that yapping hound" as far as the neighbors are concerned.

Household Annoyances Should Be Eliminated

Not long ago I wrote a column about barking dogs and what unhappiness and damage they can give the neighbors. It is a well known fact that interrupted sleep, or the inability to get to sleep at hours which are normal for the individual, are real health hazards.

Besides that, noise is a great source of fatigue. Irritation is another, and some people simply cannot help being irritated by the constant yapping or howling of a dog.

I received many letters saying "Amen," and no brickbats, and therefore feel that my column must have divulged the fact that I myself am fond of dogs. I am going to quote from one letter today because the writer hit upon such a clever scheme which quickly corrected a situation which was unpleasant for many people.

She says: "I am the secretary and general manager of a very high grade cooperative apartment enterprise. We had a yapping dog in an adjacent yard. He was left there night and day and yapped his head off, nearly. His noise was unheard by his owners.

"On our house bulletin board we urged everyone who was disturbed by the dog to telephone the owners, night or day. The police had warned them at our request. The first call from our building resulted in having someone take the dog in quickly. Just six telephone calls solved our problem."

I bring up the question of the barking dog (sounds like a murder mystery) because this is only one source of fatigue which can be remedied. There are many others. There is no possible way to know what a large amount of energy we lose in small ways.

Any irritating or tiring situation which can be changed, should be changed for this reason. If you think over your daily lives you will discover many.

I remedied one in my own home recently. For some reason Gremlins take the telephone directories away from the phone. When you wish to use the upstairs telephone the directories are always downstairs, and vise versa. When you want to use one in the kitchen they are in the front hall and vise versa. I cannot imagine how much energy has gone into racing about looking for them. This sort of thing is harrowing, especially if you lead a busy life and there is no need for it. The telephone directories are now chained to the spot like the old bibles used to be.

Lack of household organization often leads to this brand of fatigue. When things are not kept in place and the household work has no plan you are always looking for things, or in some sort of a jam, making three trips to the grocery where one should have done, dashing out at the last minute for a birthday gift, taking unnecessary steps about the house — and generally frazzled.

Keep Lists

Two grocery lists are an aid, one for general supplies which are getting low, and another for the daily menus or items necessary for several days if you plan the menus for more than one day at a time. It is also helpful to keep a shopping list for those little items you need, such as needles or thread, a screw driver or stamps and so forth. Then when you go to shop you will not forget what you need.

These little inconveniences and hecticnesses do actually count up into big total of lost energy; energy which you could spend so much more pleasantly in other ways.

If you would like to have my leaflet "The Married Woman" No. 62 which deals with household organization, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of the Morning World.

Tomorrow: "Young Girls—Scrub Faces, Stand Erect and Be Natural."

COUTURE PATTERN BY STARR... ALLURING, SHORT EVENING DRESS

PATTERN A879
A FRANK STARR ORIGINAL

PROMINENT DESIGNER—Oh, what a figure-maker this is! Let the gentlemen beware—Frank Starr has revived the romantic, graceful, feminine look for the season's gala parties. Pattern A879 is part of the fabulous collection by American designer Peg Endersby for the house of Starr. Note the neckline—dipped low in back, curved in front to set your shoulders off dramatically. Note the beautiful shaping of the bodice above that whirling, waltzing skirt. A girdled effect through the midriff, created by folds of fabric, makes a point of narrowing the waist. In taffeta, faille, crepe, or satin, we predict this will be the most breathtaking dress on the dance floor. Whether you make it yourself or have it made, you'll own an expensive, exclusive Original by one of America's greatest design houses.

Pattern A879 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Please see your pattern for yardages.

Send FIFTY CENTS (in coins) for Pattern A879 to Morning World Pattern Department, P.O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 19, N. Y. Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

VIRGINIA MAYO IN 3-D—Marked for death by their outlaw enemies, Virginia Mayo and Dale Robertson vow to shoot it out together in a scene from RKO Radio's Technicolor thrill drama, "Devil's Canyon." Stephen McNally and Arthur Hunnitcutt also star in the Howard Hughes presentation starting today at the Jim.

Devil's Canyon' Thrilling Movie

It might be said that it was for rills such as are pictured in Devil's Canyon" at the Jim Theer that 3-D was made.

For here is an outdoor drama which the emotional power and unch of its climactic scenes are reatly heightened by presentation the 3-Dimension medium.

Presented by Howard Hughes, his Edmund Grainger production o-stars Virginia Mayo, Dale Robertson, Stephen McNally and Arthur Hunnicutt. For Miss Mayo, Devil's Canyon" is a particularly ortunate choice. Not only doees 3- enhance her voluptuous beauty ut the role of a woman outlaw, aged up with 500 desperate men in struggle against relentless heat, avage nights and the six-shooter law which prevailed in Arizona Territory at the time of the story, uncovers new and interesting dramatic aspects to her talents.

As a former U. S. Marshal, who falls in love with her, Dale Robertson is ruggedly handsome and believable. Stephen McNally, as a killer-crazy outlaw and her former sweetheart, brings tense excitement to the unusual triangle with another of his vivid characterizations. Arthur Hunnicutt lightens the proceedings with one of his better portrayals and the balance of the cast is first rate. Deserving special mention are Robert Keith, Jay C. Flippen, George J. Lewis and Whit Bissell.

Alfred Werker directed "Devil's Canyon" from a screenplay by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan. It offers further proof that Howard Hughes has an excellent understanding of audience values in the 3-D medium.

Baseball Or Music

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Robert Russell Bennett is a fine musician, but he'd much rather talk about baseball or horse racing than music. I wanted to discuss "Victory at Sea," the Richard Rodgers orchestral suite which Bennett arranged and conducted.

"It's hard to catalog the piece," Bennett said. "I've been hating the Brooklyn Dodgers for 48 years and I'm not going to stop now."

The music was originally 1½ hours long, as it was written to accompany NBC-TV's film history of the Navy in World War II.

"It wasn't too hard to cut it down to 45 minutes," Bennett said. "After all these years, I've got three systems for beating the races."

We talked about the main theme that runs through the work.

"It's used like Wagner's leitmotif theme," he said. "I think the biggest thrill in baseball is the inside-the-park homer. The foul line should run along the top of the fense should be foul."

Would he say that "Victory at Sea" is symphonic?

"It's more rhapsodic than symphonic," he said. "The only Dodger I like is Pee-Wee Reese. The first time I saw Furillo I disliked him."

Bennett is the man who suggested that Rodgers write a tango, to background the chapter on naval action in the South Atlantic

"The Charge At Feather River" Showing In 3D

Now that some of the smoke is clearing on the subject of three-dimension films by reason of the eager response of the American public for films in the new medium, Warner Bros., the company which produced "House of Wax," and reportedly broke all attendance records throughout the country, has released a second feature in Natural Vision three dimension, "The Charge At Feather River," also filmed in WarnerColor is now showing at the Paramount Theatre.

The new feature, an historical outdoor adventure starring Guy Madison and Frank Lovejoy was filmed in the new process, not as an experiment, studio spokesmen stated, but as an example of artistry in entertainment. The use of depth photography in an outdoor film they assert, is a prime example of utilizing the three-dimensional camera to its maximum effect.

Cinematographer Peverell Marley, ASC, explained the benefits achieved from the use of 3-D in terms of human sight. "When we stand on a mountain top," Marley stated, "and look toward the horizon, we see the line formed by the heaven and the earth, and we also see everything else between that line and our eyes. We see everything clearly and in perspective. We see the trees, the hills, the valleys, each in their own plane. The 3-D camera does the same thing. Each plane is clearly defined in true relation to the others until infinity of sight is reached. Only a 3-D camera can do this.

"In filming outdoor scenes, such as the panoramic views in "The Charge At Feather River," beauty of the landscape is not sacrificed in photographing the detail of the plot and action. In a closeup shot of an actor, he is seen in relation to his surrounding, and the background serves to enhance the mood of the scene rather than becoming a meaningless blue behind the actor. Whatever the camera sees, the audience enjoys. That basically is the strength of the new film technique.'

The Popular Side: A 15-minute radio program, to be used next February for the Heart Fund, has been taped by Robert Merrill and Rise Stevens. It's based on their "Cavalcade of Musical Comedy" album...After one year and seven records, MGM's Joni James has 5,000,000 records sold—already... Pittsburgh, Philadelphia tnd St. Louis are looked on as the "hit-maker" cities—if a song goes well there, it's a hit.

On The Classics: Silken is the word for an hour of delightful selections just recorded by Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra for Columbia. It features Debussy, Rossini, Ravel, VillaLobos and Strauss, among others. Our favorite was the "Little Train" number by the Brazilian, Villa-Lobos, perhaps because we'd once seen the train in Brazil, huffing and puffing through its towering smokestack, all nickel and brass.

In 1940, Korea was the world's fourth largest rice producer.

ON YOUR $20,000,000.00 EXPANSION PROGRAM

The Southland is on the march. Large industries as well as small are coming south. The nation sees us no longer only as an agrarian giant but as a growing giant of industry also. There will be increasing development of our barely-tapped resources...water, petroleum, natural gas, minerals, forests and abundant labor with resultant progress in chemicals, hydro-electric energy, metals and manufactured goods.

We salute the Commercial Solvents. We're proud to have you as a part of our community and commend you on the magnificent job you are doing.

UGH-HIK! AHCHOO!

OUR PAL HERE CAN'T TALK. HE FELL IN TH' FOUNTAIN AND LOST HIS VOICE.

WELL, IF HIS OLD LADY CATCHES HIM COMIN' IN AT THIS HOUR, HE WON'T NEED A VOICE.

HOP INTO THAT TUB OF HOT WATER AND THAW OUT WHILE I TAKE YER CLOTHES DOWN TO TH' FURNACE ROOM TO DRY.

HEY! WHO'S IN THERE?

BAM! BAM! BAM!

WILLYAM! TH' WATER'S RUNNIN' IN TH' BATHROOM, TH' DOOR'S LOCKED AND NOBODY ANSWERS WHEN I KNOCK- FETCH ME TH' AX!

CLICK!

OW!

HERE'S YOUR AX, HONEY. SAY, WOT TH'-?

AHH-CHOO!

ULP!

OOP!

LADY PLUSHBOTTOM, SOMETHING TERRIBLE HAS HAPPENED TO HIS LORDSHIP AND ALREADY HE IS HAUNTING THE HOUSE.

AW, YOU'RE NUTTY, UNCLE WILLIE. WAIT TILL I EXPLAIN WHAT HAPPENED TO HIM.

IF THAT OLD NIGHT OWL WAS MY HUSBAND, ID—

EMMY SAID FOR YOU TO LOOK IN TH' MEDICINE CHEST AND GIVE ME SOMETHING FOR LORD PLUSHBOTTOM'S THROAT.

WELL, WHAT IN THE WORLD?

A OLD-FASHIONED RAZOR.

Only Snowdrift gives you this proof of good taste...

"IT'S THE WESSON OIL SHORTENING"

This is a real test of shortening quality:

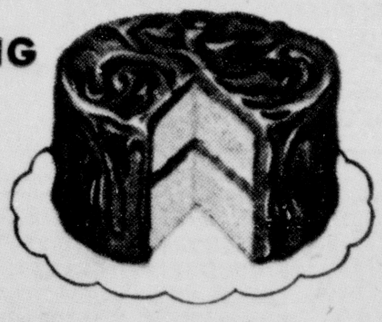
CREAMY CHOCOLATE ICING

(Quick, no cooking, never fails)



Sift 1 lb. confectioners' sugar. Blend with ½ cup Snowdrift and ½ teaspoon salt, until smooth. Stir in 1½ teaspoons vanilla, 4 to 5 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk and 3 squares melted unsweetened chocolate. Enough for large 2-layer cake.

We say, "Taste Snowdrift icing by itself." See how all the rich chocolaty flavor is yours to enjoy. The light, delicate magic you get in Snowdrift comes from the skill of its makers—the Wesson Oil People, who give you shortening as fine and delicate as Wesson Oil itself. That's why you are sure of good taste in all foods you bake and fry with Snowdrift.

What's more — Snowdrift's creaminess makes the icing ideal for decorating, because it keeps spreadable for days.

THROTTLE CLEAR BACK... ROLL "NOSE-UP" KNOB 'TIL PLANE IS GLIDING LEVEL...NOW WAIT FOR TH' STALL OUT!

THEN, AFTER THE AUTOPILOT FLEW THE PLANE TO CHEYENNE, WOUNDED BRASSNUCKS LITERALLY TALKED ZIRCON DOWN!

ZIRCON, WE MADE IT...AND ALL IN ONE PIECE!

A LIGHT PLANE AUTO-PILOT ISN'T RECOMMENDED FOR LANDINGS, BUT IT SURE DID TH' JOB IN THIS EMERGENCY!

NOW, SEND ME TO A HOSPITAL... AND GET AID TO JACK AND PEDRO, FAST!

BAM

MINUTES LATER—

WILL THE CIVIL AIR PATROL FLY ME AND A POSSE UP INTO TH' MOUNTAINS TO SAVE MY FRIENDS?

CERTAINLY, MA'AM! I'LL CALL THE SHERIFF ON MY C.A.P. SHORT WAVE RADIO, PRONTO!

MEAN-WHILE:

WARHEAD, EVEN THOUGH WE SUBDUED JACK AND PEDRO, WE'RE IN TROUBLE!

ONE OF OUR MUGS TRAILED BRASSNUCKS AND SHOT AT HIM... BUT HE GOT AWAY IN A PLANE!

BRASSNUCKS WILL SOON HAVE TH' LAW AFTER US! WE'VE GOTTA GET RID OF JACK AND PEDRO... AND SCRAM!

WE WON'T NEED TH' LODGE ANY MORE... WE'LL LEAVE JACK AND PEDRO TIED UP IN HERE...

...AND SET TH' JOINT ON FIRE...

TIM TYLER'S LUCK

BY LYMAN YOUNG and TOM MASSEY

IT'S ROCKY FORSHAW'S MONK, TIM! HE'S COMING AFTER US! I-I'M GOING TO SHOOT—

DON'T, SPUD! HE'S ACTING FRIENDLY-LIKE....

I-I THINK HE'S COMING FOR THE "ANCIENT" PISTOL HE LOST WHEN WE LAST ENCOUNTERED HIM, SPUD!

HERE, MONK— TAKE IT AND SCRAM—

I'LL FOLLOW HIM A SHORT DISTANCE— HE MAY LEAD US TO FORSHAW'S HIDEOUT! I'LL MEET YOU HERE AGAIN IN THIRTY MINUTES....

OKAY, TIM—I'LL GO BACK TO OUR HORSES AND FETCH US SOME MORE AMMUNITION!

WE'LL MAKE A COMPLETE SEARCH OF THE CAVE AREA...I'LL HIDE AT THE SOUTH CAVE ENTRANCE— PINHEAD, YOU CIRCLE RIGHT AND, PUDGY, GO LEFT...

ONE OF US'LL FIND 'EM AND GIVE THE SIGNAL, ROCKY!

GEE—THE MONK SLIPPED THROUGH THAT CREVICE IN THE CLIFF!... I WONDER IF IT LEADS TO THE SAME CAVE AS THE ENTRANCE ON THE SOUTH SIDE DOES?

I'VE GOT ENOUGH BULLETS NOW FOR TIM AND ME TO USE, IF NECESSARY, FOR A LONG-LASTING BATTLE WITH—

MEANTIME...

SOON WE'LL SEARCH THE CAVE OF THE ANCIENT PISTOLS AND IT'LL BRING US MUCH WEALTH—EH, KASHNA?

Palmolive Soap Is 100% Mild

TO HELP YOU GUARD THAT Schoolgirl Complexion Look!

Betty Kreuscher, Pasadena City College. Betty says: "A mild soap is a 'must'—and Palmolive is 100% mild!"

Mariette Schemmer, Univ. City H.S., St. Louis, says: "Palmolive's 100% mild, fragrant lather feels so good!"

Marilyn King of Sargent College says: "Palmolive gives me everything I need for gentle beauty care."

Ann Allen of S.M.U. says: "I love the way my skin feels after using Palmolive . . . so much fresher and softer."

Palmolive's Beauty Plan Is Far Better For Your Skin Than "Just Average Care" With Any Leading Toilet Soap!

Yes, Softer, Smoother Skin—that Schoolgirl Complexion Look—most women can have it within 14 days. 36 doctors proved it in tests on 1285 women. These doctors found that Palmolive's Beauty Plan is unquestionably better for your skin than "just average care" with any leading toilet soap.

So don't lose another day! Change to Palmolive's Beauty Plan—massage Palmolive's 100% mild, pure lather onto your skin for 60 seconds, 3 times a day. Rinse and pat dry. In 14 days or less, you, too, can have softer, smoother, brighter skin . . . because Palmolive brings out beauty while it cleans your skin!
